FIRE FROM THE SKY.

Hot Ball Hits Corral de Tierra.

Monterey County's Series of Quakes and Storms Is Alarmingly Varied.

Huge Fiery Globe Is Seen to Come from a Hill Crest and Explode.

Ex-Sheriff Watson's Ranch the Scene and He the Seer. Remains Smoke.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SALINAS, May 11. — [Exclusive Dispatch.] Monterey county has been the scene of queer occurrences for several weeks past, and the residents thereof are wondering what will come next. They would not be in the least surprised if a cyclone struck them.

Phenomenon after phenomenon has been added to the long list, the last being the fall of an immense meteor in the peaceful Corral de Tierra Valley, far up in the Santa Lucia range of mountains, some fourteen miles from Salinas.

LANDSLIDE AND STREAM.

Beginning April 18, the corral was badly shaken, and, because of a landslide, was for a period cut off from communication with Salinas. A few days later, a spring was found to have started on one of the driest hillsides, near what is known as the Old Pear Tree Ranch. The spring has formed quite a stream and still flows.

QUAKES AND STORM.

Then a series of minor quakes, five to six daily, since the big one, has kept the nerves of the residents of that section unstrung.

Yesterday afternoon, when a fierce electrical storm of hail, rain, thunder and lightning swept in fury over the mountains, some were convinced that the end of the world was near and that a terrible death awaited them.

With the clearing away of the storm and the coming of what promised to be a pleasant night, people's spirits rose, but this feeling of security was soon banished. About 7 o'clock, the cattle seemed to have become wild. The valley became as light as though it were high noon, instead of night.

IMMENSE FIERY BALL.

The light grew steadier and stronger, and seemed to come from the crest of a hill which rises some 1200 feet above the valley. Above this crest and in the center of this light shone a body of some more luminous material, which had the appearance of an immense ball of solid fire.

It came rushing downward with terrific speed and force which is described as wonderful by those who witnessed it.

EXPLOSION.

When about a hundred feet from the base of the hill, and apparently just as it was about to strike, it exploded with a noise resembling the simultaneous discharge of several sparks of artillery.

Fire and portions of the body of the material flew in every direction.

EX-SHERIFF'S DESCRIPTION.

Thomas Watson, ex-Sheriff of Monterey county, on whose ranch home, fourteen miles from Salinas, almost in the center of the Corral de Tierra, the meteor, for such it appeared to be, struck, was one of the eyewitnesses to its descent. He describes its appearance in mid-air as a huge globe of fire, and says that it traveled not a zigzag or erratic course, but in a well-defined path as if following the laws of gravitation.

The fireball seemed to shoot from distant space, and came so rapidly that the time between its first appearance and that of its striking was not over one minute.

The luminosity from the meteor continued until daylight.

SALINAS AROUSED.

Soon after the arrival of the unexpected visitor from the skies, Salinas was apprised of the fact over the telephone. It was stated by W. Nason, who lives above the Watson place, that the huge mass could be seen from his house; that it appeared to be of monstrous size, and to weigh many tons. It appeared to have struck about a mile below his residence.

IS STILL HOT.

This morning, the meteor, for such it is, is very hot.

The hillside, which the main body struck, has been rent asunder, and wherever the smaller portions, thrown off by the explosion, fell, dents appear in the earth. The shape of the meteor is said to be irregular rhomboidal, and it appears to be magnetic.

The fall of the meteor, with the preceding electrical storm, the recent quakes and other phenomena has stirred up great excitement in the hills in the neighborhood of the Corral de Tierra, and the residents are wondering "what next."

An investigation as to the meteor, its course, fall, material and source will be made tomorrow.

Because of Hamburg Strike, Kaiserin Auguste Victoria Carries a Crew of Many Nationalities—Epithets on the Race Question Produce a Fight—One Killed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] On the arrival of the new Hamburg-American liner Kaiserin Auguste Victoria at Dover, today, on her maiden voyage to New York, details of a desperate affray which occurred among the crew, just prior to sailing from Hamburg yesterday, were obtained from an eye-witness of the affair.

There were quite a hundred of the liner's crew engaged in the melee, which, the eye-witness said, was almost like a pitched battle, and resulted in one man being killed, while nine of the most seriously injured men had to be landed and taken to a hospital.

In consequence of the seamen's strike at Hamburg, the crew of nearly six hundred men is of a very mixed composition. The trouble appears to have arisen through some strong words on the question of the strike. From this the men went ou to use disparaging epithets concerning the different nationalities. Knives were drawn by some of the foreign sailors, and almost at once the men were a surging, shrieking mob.

Not Having Their Money's Worth, Circus Employés Attack Them With Sticks—Afterward Derail Train, When Fight With Knives and Guns Ensues.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLUMBIA (Mo.) May 11.—A State University student named Dole was shot and perhaps fatally wounded and several others were injured in a fight with employés of a circus, late last night. Dole received a bullet in the back of the head and he is reported dying.

The wounded students were taken to a hospital here, fifteen receiving medical attendance. Many others were turned away, as their injuries were too slight to require immediate treatment.

When it became known that many students had been injured, a general riot was threatened. The Mayor addressed the students, pleading with them to avoid further trouble. The Mayor also offered his services as a nurse, assisting the doctors to care for the injured.

The authorities are investigating. At least one of the showmen were shot. A number of other combatants on both sides were stabbed and clubbed. The three following students are known to have been seriously injured:

Maynard Dole of Creagh, Mo., student in the academy, shot in the head; condition critical.

Leonard Waddell of Kansas City, Mo., shot in arm.

Walter E. Bailey of Carthage, Mo. An unknown showman was shot in the back.

The students refused to vacate the tent when the performance had ended last night and the circus employés attacked them with tent sticks.

The students left the circus grounds and greased the railroad track. A car of the circus train was derailed, when another fight ensued, during which shots were fired and knives and clubs were used.

Charles Easly of Santa Fé, N. M., was severely beaten by a crowd of showmen in an effort to induce him to tell the whereabouts of two circus chariots that were taken by the students.

HOPPE SETS NEW MARK.

CHICAGO, May 11.—The world's high run, 18-inch balk, 2 inches, was broken tonight by Willie Hoppe, who set the new mark at 307. The former record was held by Louis Cure, 255. Hoppe made the record in his game with Jacob Schaefer, whom he defeated in eight innings.

The photographs and articles will be furnished without charge to reliable newspapers and magazines throughout the country.

PASTORS IN OIL.

Who Is Safe from the Standard?

Interstate Commerce Commissioners in Possession of Startling Facts.

Former Agent Maxon Allowed Garfield to Copy Trust's Letters.

Unconditional Surrender of General Paper Company to Government.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A temporary stop was put to the seemingly endless disclosures of the methods of the Standard Oil Company and its subsidiary companies being made before the Interstate Commerce Commission when Attorney John S. Miller, counsel for the trust, interposed an objection, claiming that "muck rake" testimony relating to methods employed by the Standard agents to gain business and stifle competition in local markets had no bearing on the relations of the oil company and the railroads, the question at issue, and could not be construed as interstate acts. Decision was reserved until tomorrow.

NOT BIBLICAL OIL.

Upon the decision of the commissioners will depend the introduction of testimony relating to the methods employed by Standard Oil agents in Ohio, where nearly the entire ministerial force of Youngstown is said to have been gained to the side of the Standard Oil Company by certain gifts, the amounts ranging according to the importance of the minister and the substance these "divines" were able to render in the fight on independent dealers.

This testimony was to have been disclosed just before the adjournment, which was taken after the objection of Attorney Miller.

WILLIAM T. LANE'S SECRETS.

William T. Lane, who, until 1902, was agent for the Standard Oil Company at Youngstown, is the witness the government is depending upon in this direction. Lane was in secret conference last night with Attorneys Monnett and Marchand when the facts regarding the bribery of ministers were brought out.

"It was an easy matter to make arrangements with the ministers," Lane is understood to have said. "In their calls upon the parishioners and the members of their churches, it was easy for them to bring up the subject of oils, and in this way learn where oil in the house was purchased.

"I would get regular reports from them, and whenever I received the name of any who bought oil from a competitor, I sent a man to call on them and endeavor to get them back to the Standard. It usually worked, and in this way we maintained an almost complete control of the Youngstown market."

RAILROADS SHOW UP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, May 11.—Nearly every railroad running north, south and west from Chicago was represented today before the Interstate Commerce Commission, when the investigation into the relations of the Standard Oil Company with the railroads was resumed.

Attorney Laforge, representing the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky, opened the proceedings by a cross-examination of Haywood Maxon of Illinois, who was the last witness at the hearing yesterday. The attorney read a number of letters written by Maxon, in which he threatened to make trouble for the Standard Oil Company because he had been refused a year's leave of absence.

HAS THEIR LETTERS.

"Is it not true that you have about 1000 letters and documents in your possession belonging to the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky?" asked Laforge.

"I have a large number of letters and papers addressed to officers of the company and letters written by them to their agents," the witness replied.

"How did you get them?"

"In the same way that for years I got information for the Standard Oil Company."

LET GARFIELD COPY.

Attorney Laforge then read a letter written by Maxon to C. M. Pratt, an officer of the Standard Oil Company of New York, in which he said that he had obtained 600 letters from one of the company's agents in Ohio, and had allowed Commissioner Garfield to copy them for use in prosecuting the company.

ALSO HAS PASSES.

In answer to questions of the attorney regarding passes, Maxon said that he had passes on nearly every railroad in his territory, and used them in traveling on the company's business. He obtained the passes, he said, from Treasurer Holmes and other officials of the Standard Oil Company.

'FRISCO PRESIDENT.

A. J. Davidson, president of the St. Louis and San Francisco Railroad, followed Maxon on the stand. He said that there are no pipe lines on the right of way of his company for any considerable distance, and that the road has no contract to install a pipe line. He said that the Cudahy Refining Company had made application to install a pipe line from the Kansas oil fields to St. Louis, and that the proposition was declined by the executive committee of the railroad. The witness said that he does not believe that the Cudahy company is affiliated with the Standard in this.

"Do you know of any reason why the Cudahy people should not be given the right to construct a pipe line and the Standard should be given such a right?" asked Commissioner Prouty.

"I can think of no reason," said Davidson.

CHARGES OF COLLUSION.

Direct charges of collusion between the Standard Oil Company and the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad were made during today's hearing.

"HOLLER" ABOUT "MUCK."

The last witness of the day was S. L. Hibbs of Peoria, Ill., who gave evidence regarding the methods of crushing independent dealers, similar to that given by previous witnesses. During his testimony, Attorney Miller, representing the Standard Oil Company, objected to the evidence, claiming that it had no bearing upon the relations of the company with the railroads, and saying that it simply was a "lot of 'muck raking.'"

"Well," replied Commissioner Clements, "if the Standard Oil Company is in the 'muck,' I see no reason why a 'rake' should not be used."

The hearing will be continued tomorrow.

"INSPECTION IN OHIO."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TOLEDO (O.) May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] When the Interstate Commerce Commission meets in Cleveland to investigate the Standard Oil Company and its alleged abuses of corporation laws, it will probably be shown that the Ohio State Inspector's Department is a political machine, controlled by the Standard, to assist in killing the independents.

The charge will probably be made by a former manager of the Standard in Northwestern Ohio that deputies in the Oil Inspector's department gave to agents of the Standard bunches of certificates of inspection. These certificates, it is alleged, were placed on oil cases by the Standard people, without the inspectors ever having seen the product.

PAPER TRUST SURRENDERS.

DECREE FOR UNCLE SAM.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

ST. PAUL (Minn.) May 11.—The United States government today secured an unconditional surrender in the United States Circuit Court before Judge Sanborn in the suit which the Attorney-General began December 27, 1904, to dissolve a combination between the General Paper Company and twenty-three other defendants, on the ground that an agreement had been entered into by the defendants in restraint of interstate commerce.

Attorney Kellogg, for the government, and Attorney Flanders, for the defendants, appeared before Judge Sanborn, sitting as a circuit judge, and Kellogg moved that the mandate from the United States Supreme Court affirming the order that the witnesses must testify be filed. Judge Sanborn ordered the mandate filed.

WITHDRAW WITNESSES.

The witnesses then appeared before the United States examiner and offered to testify. The defendants then withdrew their answers. Kellogg announced that the government did not care to examine the witnesses, and moved for a decree in favor of the government.

Judge Sanborn ordered that the decree be entered for the government for the relief prayed for, and that the decree should be settled June 16. The proceedings were adjourned.

WITNESSES PAY FINES.

The three witnesses who refused to testify, namely, C. I. McNair of the Northwestern Paper Company; A. C. Bossard of the Itasca Paper Company and B. F. Nelson of the Hennepin Paper Company paid into court the $100 fine assessed against each for contempt of the court for refusing to answer the questions put to them at a former hearing.

POINTS OF THE SUIT.

Suit was brought by Frank B. Kellogg and James Beck, special assistant Attorney-General of the United States, on behalf of the United States against the General Paper Company and twenty-three paper manufacturing corporations in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan, a little over a year ago. The complaint alleged that the defendants, in violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, entered into a conspiracy and agreement with each other to restrain trade and commerce among the several States and to control, regulate and monopolize said commerce, and that this was accomplished by organizing the General Paper Company of Chicago, with a capital stock of $100,000, divided into 1000 shares of $100 each, which stock was divided among the paper manufacturing corporations in the proportion of their average daily output of paper, that each of the corporations thereupon entered into a contract making the General Paper Company its exclusive selling agent.

The defendants filed answers, and testimony was taken for several months, most of the facts showing a combination were elicited from the officers of the various companies. Finally the defendants refused to furnish any further testimony or to answer any questions, on the ground that the testi-

DISASTROUS FOREST FIRE.

Sparks from Locomotive Set Woods Aflame Near San Point, Idaho, and Ranchers Are Busy.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

BUTTE (Mont.) May 11.—Sand Idaho, advices state that a disastrous forest fire is burning within a few miles of that place. Sparks from the engines of a Great Northern train started the fire, which has now burned beyond all control, and the ranchers of this vicinity are making efforts only to save their movable property. Several sawmills and many thousands of feet of poles and posts have already been destroyed.

HEARSE DRIVERS ON A STRIKE.

OVER ONE HUNDRED CORPSES AWAITING BURIAL.

Undertaking Business in New York Tied Up While Mourners Are Kept Waiting in the Homes—Non-union Hackmen Attacked in the Streets. Increase of $2 a Week Demanded.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 11.—The strike of 1500 funeral drivers, ordered last night, tied up the undertaking business in New York City today so completely that about one hundred and ten bodies remain unburied.

Hearses and carriages were driven away from churches; mourners were kept waiting all day in homes of the dead, and in several instances non-union drivers of hearses and carriages were attacked in the street, and police protection had to be called.

In many cases undertakers appealed to the Board of Health for permits to postpone burial, while others asked for permission to convey bodies to the cemetery on trucks or street cars, for funeral vehicles were denied, but in cases where death had occurred from contagious diseases, and immediate burial was required, undertakers were forced to make use of the coffin wagons, or such vehicles as they were able to procure with drivers.

The strikers declared tonight that their fight for $14 a week instead of $12 is on in earnest. Their employers, the Coach Owners' Association, decided not to grant the increase.

PICKETING THE CHURCHES.

LABORITES TACKLE METHODISTS

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Union labor is planning to surround with pickets all buildings wherein Bishop McCabe and other Methodists propose to hold their "world-wide religious revivals."

"Unfair" notices will be handed out, and timid women may have personal experiences with the professional slugger. Trouble arises over the dispute between labor and the Western Methodist Book Concern, and a general boycott of the revival has been ordered.

The Federation of Labor will attempt to make the boycott national, and even international. Immediately after the plan for a monster revival was announced the Federation began its campaign to defeat the purposes of the church to secure new members. All union men, it is said, have been notified that if they attend or encourage the revival in any way, they will be heavily fined, or suffer expulsion.

Methodist preachers in districts where the unions are strong are already under heavy pressure.

PURSUIT OF MARENGO.

Germans Chase African Rebel Onto British Soil "To Finish the Job," and Protest Follows.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CAPE TOWN (South Africa) May 11.—It is authoritatively stated that in a fight, May 4, the Germans pursued the rebel chief, Marengo, four miles over the eastern border of German Southwest Africa into British territory. The Cape police protested against this violation of the frontier, but the German commanders refused to retire, saying that they intended "to finish the job."

Marengo, who lost twenty-seven men in the engagement, it is believed is hiding near the border.

The Cape government, through the German Consul, has formally protested against the violation of the frontier.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The Committee on Special Session of the Legislature today adopted a resolution introduced by J. B. Reinstein, which had for its preamble a statement that the earthquake and fire had wiped out all differences, personal, business and political, and that all public-spirited persons would stand together for the rebuilding of the city.

For this reason, Reinstein asked that the committee call upon the Superior judges to make all possible efforts looking to the compromise of pending litigation, in so far as they could go in keeping with the dignity of their office.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The commercial savings banks will reopen for business May 21, instead of June 1, the date they have been announcing. The latter date was given out for the reason that there was doubt as to the ability of all of the institutions to open before that time.

A canvass of the situation, however, shows that every commercial concern in the city will be prepared to reopen its doors ten days hence, and, in private, an agreement to this effect has been reached.

GREAT SMELTER.

The Guggenheims are to invest $5,000,000 in a great smelting plant at San Francisco. Work will be commenced within a few weeks, the plant to be located on the outskirts of San Bruno, just beyond the city limits. The works will give employment to more than 1000 men, and will handle ore from the Pacific Coast States, Alaska and Mexico.

CHANGES IN FAIRMONT.

Herbert E. Law announces that in the rebuilding of the Fairmont many changes will be made. Little wood will be used and the structure will be made more nearly fireproof. The damage to the Fairmont is estimated at $800,000, with insurance of $225,000.

LOSSES ON DYNAMITED.

Thomas C. Grant, general agent for the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company of London and Edinburgh, has received instructions to pay losses on all buildings destroyed by dynamite, and also to donate $5000 for the relief of fire sufferers. The company's losses here total $3,000,000.

BIG BAG BUSINESS.

The Bemis Brothers Bag Company, the largest manufacturer of bags in the world, has purchased two lots on Sansome street, on which a temporary building will be erected at once, to be replaced later with a modern structure. The price paid was upward of a quarter of a million dollars.

FIRST OFFICE BUILDING.

The first office building permit granted since the fire has gone to Thomas Magee & Sons. The building will adjoin the Mutual Savings Bank on Market street, near Geary, and will cost $750,000. It will be a twelve-story structure, and the architects have agreed to have it ready for occupancy in twelve months.

LOS ANGELES CAPITAL.

Articles of incorporation were filed with the County Clerk today by the Loss-Leonhardt-Deneen Company, the $10,000,000 corporation, embracing New York, San Francisco and Los Angeles capital. The company intends to engage in building operations on an immense scale, and its heavy capitalization is due to the fact that it is making extensive contracts for material with which to carry on its operations. Special arrangements have been made for taking over the entire output of several eastern steel companies. The company will confine itself exclusively to the erection of buildings of all kinds.

STUBBORN CHINESE.

Chinatown will be rebuilt on the old site or it will not be rebuilt at all. This is the ultimatum of the property owners, Chinese and others, who have holdings in the district. One-third of the land in the destroyed Chinatown district is owned by Chinese merchants or other Chinese holders. Nearly all of the remaining two-thirds is in non-resident ownerships.

Chinese merchants suffered very heavily from the fire. They insist that they will not tolerate any movement to isolate them at Hunter's Point, or under the slopes of Telegraph Hill. The merchants say they must keep in touch with the Caucasian trade, and must be within easy reach of the center of business. So insistent are the Chinese merchants in their position that they do not hesitate to announce their stand as a definite and decided one. While they do not openly declare the alternative, it is boldly asserated by many of them in private conversation that the city will lose its entire trade with the Chinese, locally as well as with outside points, unless the restoration of Chinatown on its old site is permitted.

RECORD FOR RESUMPTION.

A record-breaking resumption of business was made by the Continental Building and Loan Association, whose building was destroyed during the destruction of San Francisco by earthquake and fire. When the flames first started, the officials of the bank immediately took the contents from the vaults, and as much of the office supplies as possible, to the home of their secretary, William Corbin, situated several miles from the scene of the conflagration. Within two days the Continental had leased a large suite of ground floor offices at the corner of Market and Church streets, and on the third day it was doing business as if nothing had occurred. Out of the forty or more banks in San Francisco the Continental was the only one that saved all of its records and supplies.

THERE WAS NO "RUN."

It was predicted that this institution, by resuming business within such a short period after the destruction of the city, would be subjected to a "run," but such was not the case. Corbin said that while it had paid out considerable money to needy depositors there had been no indication of the expected "run," and the amount of the deposits was about equal to the withdrawals. The action of the Continental in permitting withdrawals at once enabled many of the unfortunate refugees to keep out of the bread line. The temporary offices will remain at Market and Church streets until a new building is erected on the site of the former location at the junction of Market, Sansome and Sutter streets.

'FRISCO "SKELETONS."

Primarily, the destruction of San Francisco was due to graft. This is the view expressed by eastern insurance men and architects after an inspection of the ruins. The hand of the grafter is apparent everywhere—in flimsily-constructed municipal buildings, and in structures owned by private citizens; in sewer pipes and water mains; in the utter collapse of theaters and other public meeting places pronounced safe by the city's inspectors.

THE "WHITE ELEPHANT."

Foremost among the toppling monuments to San Francisco's subserviency to the evils of political bossism is the remnant of the $7,000,000 City Hall, a structure that fell like a toyhouse at the first shock of the temblor. Its shattered walls are mute evidences of the greed that foisted upon the taxpayers a municipal building less substantial than ancient Mission Dolores, hand-built by Indians a century and a quarter ago.

RUINS OF PLAYHOUSES.

The scene of horror that would have attended the collapse of the Majestic Theater and the Grand operahouse while these playhouses were crowded at night can well be imagined. These buildings were ruined utterly, even the floors of the Majestic falling, while the walls of the operahouse crashed inward. Yet even since the Iroquois catastrophe of Chicago, several years ago, the Grand and the Majestic had been passed upon and given a certificate of safety by the city authorities.

Before the fire swept through the earthquake damaged blocks, one could almost pick out the buildings erected by this or that contractor. Here a house had been shaken apart and sent crashing from its foundations, while the building occupying the next lot escaped practically unscathed; there a brick block, showing never a crack, towered above some structure regarded as more substantial before the rocking of the earth revealed the criminality of its constructor.

It is said of one contractor who built scores of dwellings in the south-of-Market-street residence district that he has more lives to answer for than the years of his life number.

HONEST STEEL.

This lesson has been taught by the earthquake; that a modern steel building, honestly constructed, will withstand a shock more terrific than any that has yet been experienced on this continent, and that a well-built frame structure is as safe as steel and stone. Wooden buildings that were not hastily thrown together were scarcely marked by the quake. Here and there a chimney fell, but walls and roofs were not affected by the rocking of the earth, and the occupants of these buildings were as safe from harm as though they slept in a treeless meadow.

WILD WITH INDIGNATION.

Among the fire sufferers who are wild with indignation over a species of "confidence game" revealed by the flames are the former occupants of the Merchants Exchange Building. Knowing that their papers and valuables were stored in the great vaults of this building, they awaited in fancied security the time when these vaults could be opened and their property restored to them. When they learned that the supposed fireproof depositories consisted merely of brick and plaster rooms, disguised with steel doors, their rage and consternation knew no bounds. All that was saved from the Merchants' Exchange Building were the contents of several small private safes.

ESPEE LOSES RECORDS.

One of the heaviest losers through the deception practiced either in the construction of this block or in the leasing of its floors was the Southern Pacific Company, which lost the records of all departments and documents of incalculable value, which had been in process of accumulation ever since the first transcontinental railroad entered San Francisco.

In the vaults of Chief Engineer Hood's office were stored all of the official surveys taken from the time of the building of the Central Pacific Railroad at a cost of millions of dollars. Treasurer N. T. Smith of the Southern Pacific was the only official to save his papers and funds. These he had in his own portable steel safes on the eighth floor, and they were found to be undamaged when the safes were opened.

RUEF AND SEAT OF CITY GOVERNMENT.

Schoolrooms of Jewish Temple Become Superior Courtrooms and Attorneys and Officials Colonize Near by.

BY HARRY C. CARR.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The queerest-looking place in the New San Francisco is the new "Temple Bar" where the lawyers' offices congregate.

The Superior courts being camped out in the schoolrooms of the big Jewish temple, the attorneys have naturally collected in that neighborhood. In that part of Sutter street, the houses are old-fashioned and quaint-looking, in the style of years gone by. Some of them have tottered over against their neighbors from the shake-up.

Almost every one of them is now tenanted from cellar to garret with well-known San Francisco lawyers. In funny old parlor windows, young lady stenographers are to be seen beating out briefs and motions in sight of the whole street.

Names of law firms known all over the Coast flap on jaded cloth signs hanging out of the windows.

"WHAT'S IN A NAME?"

On a house on Pine street is the most significant although modest sign in the entire city—"A. Ruef—Law Office."

As every one is minding every one else's business these days, here is a suggestion to Abe. He ought to change his familiar name to one that would better suit the conditions. It ought not to be "A. Ruef." It ought to be "The Ruef."

In making his appointments, Brother Schmitz made Abie head of the Committee on Municipal Legislation "and the Location of Chinatown," where he could do the most "good." It is amusing to note that Schmitz shunted his ancient enemy, Phelan, onto the important matter of "beautifying public parks" or "fixing the price of dog licenses," or something of about equal solemnity.

OTHER OFFICIALS.

In the midst of the lawyers' row is a house a little more old-fashioned than the rest; in this the Attorney-General of the State holds forth.

On the corner of the street where the Lawyers' Row begins is a big old frame house that shelters the Sheriff of the great Burned City. An aged wagon drawn by two broken-kneed horses stands by the curb, with a sign "Sheriff's wagon" dangling from the seat. He shares it with two ill-assorted neighbors. One is the County Clerk and the other is the temporary prison for the insane. In the midst of all these troubles, the Sheriff probably wanted the latter conveniently located.

One of the Superior courts which couldn't find a place among the little primary school desks of the Jewish school has had to set up quarters in one of the old-fashioned row of houses.

THE OFFICIAL "POODLEDOG."

The most convenient restaurant to the lawyers' colony and the one most used by the best of them, does business on a topsy-turvy plan. Its dining-room is in a little shack, but its kitchen is in the gutter.

Over a little stove of brick and old iron presides the chef in his most elegant cap. He has sheltered the stove from the wind with a section of board wrenched from some theatrical billboard, showing the extremities of a giddy maiden of a light opera troupe.

When you enter the shack, the waiter flies before you and obsequiously brushes the débris off the table with a grand flourish as he takes your order. Then he goes to the door and bawls out "Two turned over and burn up a bow-wow. Two shorty browns and a stomach ache in a snowstorm."

There is satisfaction in this scheme. The chef can't sit around gassing with somebody and then have the waiter tell you they are rushing the order. No sir, this chef is in the fierce glare of publicity.

ALL THE NECESSARIES.

Another establishment near the lawyers' row is a building now jointly occupied by a barber shop, one of San Francisco's best oculists, a horse doctor and the livery stable.

A big linotype firm has gone back to housekeeping in a former butcher shop. Every building of whatever character in this part of the city is eagerly gobbled up.

GETTING THE BEARINGS.

That part of the town very strongly suggests the Temple-street hill up from Broadway, as it used to be before they began improving the character of houses, a year or so ago. The part of San Francisco where the seat of government is now and the furious scramble of life hums and seethes is very much like Hill street from Second to Fifth—minus the new Hill-street business blocks and only considering the old ramshackle boarding houses, so fast disappearing.

You can imagine Judge Smith handing out his celebrated curtain lectures from a school teacher's desk, while the awed lawyers try to cramp themselves in childrens' seats. Fancy the City Council taking the tenancy of one of those electric-belt doctors on Hill street, the Mayor hanging out in the front room of a dancing school.

TO REBUILD RUSS HOUSE.

The Charles Newman Company has made arrangements to rebuild the old Russ House on the same ground, Montgomery street. It will have 700 rooms and twelve modern stores. Meanwhile the company will open a café in the Monadnock Building, and another in the Crystal Palace, upon which they had just closed a lease at the time of the earthquake.

FIGHTING THE RED CROSS.

"An executive session" was held in Oakland tonight, that may be a precursor of a bitter family row between the Red Cross and part at least of the citizens' committee of that place. Gen. Devine's idea of having the Red Cross Society take over all the relief work is said to be resented by some of the Oakland committee. The meeting at which he broke this news is said to have been stormy.

Many members of the Oakland committee are unwilling to adopt the suggestion, claiming that the Red Cross did not do any of the work after the disaster, and should not have the credit now.

Benjamin Ide Wheeler is behind Gen. Devine's plan, however, and a meeting was held in Berkeley tonight, looking toward the end of collecting all remaining relief funds under Red Cross auspices. The Committee of Forty in San Francisco has joined the order.

PITH OF NEWS FROM THE MIDDLE WEST.

COLLEGE FOR OLD MEN.

Chicago's latest protest against "Osierism" is to be a college where men long past youth may retrieve early educational disadvantages. The college will be financed by Hamilton White of Oak Park and a score of associates who contemplate purchasing the Delrado Hotel to house the new institution, which will be open to all old men. Courses of study will be laid out the same as in universities, being graded as graduate, undergraduate and preparatory, and authority will be asked from the State to grant degrees to the old men who complete specified courses, the degrees A.B., M. A., and Ph.D. being regulated the same way as in any organized college.

ARCHITECT BURNHAM STARTS.

Architect D. H Burnham left tonight for San Francisco to consult with the authorities on the plans for rebuilding the city, in accordance with his scheme presented two years ago.

BLEW DOWN FERRIS WHEEL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After two heavy explosions of dynamite, the Ferris Wheel was brought down today, and only a tangled mass of iron now remains of the master wheel which has carried thousands and thousands of passengers at the Chicago and St. Louis World's fairs. Instead of falling on one side, as was expected, the massive wheel, which weighs 4200 tons, crumpled up and sank to earth in almost the same space that the framework occupied.

FUNNY, BUT FATAL.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] While listening to the story of a stout woman who was asked to leave a skating rink, as her frequent falls were a menace to the building, Mrs. Polly Ann Jackson gave way to laughter, which became hysterics, and caused her death in a few minutes. Mrs. Jackson had been an invalid for some time.

RAISE $200,000 FOR FAMISHED.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Acting Secretary of State has received a letter from Editor Klopsch of the Christian Herald, dated New York, inclosing a certified check for $25,000. This, says Mr. Klopsch, "is the final contribution of our readers for the famine sufferers in the northern provinces of Japan. This makes a round $200,000 sent through the State Department by the Christian Herald. In addition, we cabled direct to the Famine Central Committee $55,000."

CAN HE CHEW GUM?

Dr. Beeman, With $67,000 a Year Wants Increase of Pension Because He Cannot Labor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CLEVELAND, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. Beeman, whose benign and bald countenance smiles from each package of chewing gum bearing his name, is endeavoring to have his pension increased from $8 to $12 a month, because of "total incapacity for manual labor."

Dr. Beeman sold out his business to the chewing gum trust, and receives $67,000 a year from that source. His residence is at the swell Century Club, and his manual labor consists almost entirely of clipping coupons and signing checks.

In Ohio, Dr. Beeman is as well known as is Tom L. Johnson. His rotund and rubicund countenance, sans any suspicion of hair, has looked down upon people from every billboard, theater programme, bare wall and newspaper column for years. He is proud of the fact that he ran a hot race with J. L. Douglas, the Massachusetts shoe man, as to which should have his picture more prominently displayed all over the country.

BAY STATE SOLONS SUMMONED.

BOSTON, May 11.—One hundred members of the Massachusetts Legislature appeared at the office of Dist. Atty. John B. Moran in response to summonses issued by the District Attorney, who has placed before the grand jury evidence in connection with alleged bribery which was a feature of the defeat of the anti-bucket-shop bill. Only twenty-five Senators and Representatives were detailed for examination before the grand jury. Several were examined yesterday. A delay in the grand jury proceedings and the interruption of legislative sessions one time threatened to cause a serious clash of jurisdiction between the House of Representatives and the grand jury. The difficulty was disposed of by an agreement between Attorney Cole and Mr. Moran to have the members go to the Courthouse one at a time.

NO REHEARING FOR SANTA FE.

Decision Need Not Return Lands Taken on Property.

Water Rights Unchallenged, Litigation Ends.

Frost Does Some Damage to Crops and Fruit.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—News was received this afternoon that the Supreme Court has denied the application for a rehearing in the Santa Fé case from the City of Stockton to recover the amount of taxes paid on property sold to the San Francisco and San Joaquin Valley Railroad Company by the trustees of land in the village of Stockton and considerable property near the company's railroad.

The work was commenced before the case took the valley road, but was continued it. Judgment was rendered by the lower court in favor of the city. The matter then went to the Supreme Court which also gave judgment for the city. Application for a rehearing was then made, and in this the Supreme Court has refused to grant it and the litigation and the title to the city lots stand unchallenged. Santa Fé has a suit against the city involving similar points.

FROST DOES SOME DAMAGE TO RAISIN CROP.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FRESNO, May 11.—A half-inch of rain fell here last night and this morning did considerable damage to the fruit and barley crops. There is a very heavy crop of these cereals and the downpour has broken many heads of the grain. Hay in the fields was also damaged. The bloom on many of the grape vines and the setting of the raisin grapes is ruined.

WHEN NO DAMAGE.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FRESNO, May 11.—The heavy rain of this locality yesterday and last night did no damage to the fruit, but was of great benefit to crops. The precipitation was .24 of an inch, making for the season, against 21.78 inches last year. The storm was general throughout the Sacramento Valley and the foothills.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

To Meet at Napa, June Sixteenth.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—The Counties Committee of the California Promotion Committee, representing the one hundred and fifty-six commercial organizations of California, will hold its semi-annual meeting at Napa, Saturday, June 16, 1906.

Price of Logs Increased.

PORTLAND, May 11.—The Evening Telegram announces an increase in the price of logs on the Columbia River. The paper says: "Taking advantage of the enormous demand for lumber in California and in foreign countries, some of the leading logging firms on the Columbia River have raised the price of logs from $8 to $10 a thousand feet."

Indians Die of Florida Water.

ROSETHORN (Sasekahwan) May 11.—Two more Indians are dead and six are in a serious condition on the Duck Lake reservation as the result of drinking Florida water, which resulted in three deaths Thursday. The wildest excitement prevails. A government inspector will search the Indian shacks and Duck Lake stores for the fluid and confiscate all found.

Youthful Inventor's Death.

OAKLAND, May 11.—Francis J. McCarthy, the 18-year-old inventor of a wireless telephone, died today as the result of injuries received May 8. He was thrown from a buggy while driving to the foot of Broadway, to go to San Francisco on a boat and received injuries which rendered him unconscious, in which condition he remained until 24 hours before his death.

First of Nome Fleet Goes North.

SEATTLE, May 11.—The steamer Corwin went north yesterday, heavily loaded with freight and crowded with passengers. The Corwin carried a great amount of fresh provisions, anticipating a possible delay if the ice has not yet broken when she gets into Alaskan waters. This is the first of the big Nome fleet. Freight rates on the steamer were $40 per ton, and space hard to get at that. Ten tons of mail, the accumulation of many weeks, went north.

Killed While Seeking Work.

SAN JOSE, May 11.—Mrs. William Hansen of San Francisco, today identified the body of William Hansen, who was killed in the railroad wreck at Edenvale, Wednesday, as that of her husband. He was a native of Honolulu, aged twenty-three, and for three years had worked at his trade of candy maker in San Francisco. He resided at 1522 Sanchez street, and he leaves three small children. He was thrown out of employment by the fire, and had gone to Gilroy in search of work, and was returning when killed.

Drowned With His Fiancee.

SAN JOSE, May 11.—A special to the Mercury from Santa Cruz says: "The body of Lee Chapman, who Tuesday last left this city with Miss Irene McKay, his fiancée, on a fishing expedition along the San Lorenzo River, was found yesterday afternoon in a deep portion of the pond, half a mile distant from the point where Miss McKay's body was discovered Wednesday. The theory is that Miss McKay fell into the river and Chapman jumped in to save her. Chapman was an Australian, aged twenty-two, and Miss McKay was twenty years old, born in Santa Cruz. The couple were both students of the State University, and were to be married in a few weeks."

"SOUTH OF THE TEHACHEPI."

NEWS SUMMARY OF THE SOUTHERN COUNTIES.

The Executive Committee of the Prohibition party of Orange county has decided to make nominations for the coming fall election. In order not to conflict with "dry" candidates on the Democratic and Republican tickets, blanks will be left on the Prohibition ticket.

Alhambra's school census shows 566 children of school age, an increase of more than 200 over last year's figures.

The late-blooming varieties of apples in the San Bernardino Mountains are reported not damaged by the winter's cold snaps.

Nearly 1000 acres about Northam, Orange county, have been purchased by a club of 130 families, and have been subdivided into small acreage tracts.

Pasadena politicians are much interested in the question as to whom the Mayor will appoint to the vacant police judgeship.

A. Montijs, a pioneer of San Bernardino, is suffering from a severe case of hiccoughs, which, it is feared, will prove fatal. The trouble has been going on for a week.

RAIN BENEFITS CROPS.

Bakersfield Is Visited by a Downpour That Brings Cheer to the Farmers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] This morning rain began falling and when it had ceased measurements indicated a precipitation of .12 of an inch. The surrounding country received a general wetting, the moisture being distributed all over the county.

Tonight another fall of rain began. The indications point to a heavy rain, which will greatly benefit the farmers who have not cut their hay.

The fall for the season is 5.98, as against 9.29 for the same time last year.

Kern River is very high and running swiftly.

LOOKS INTO BROTHER'S DEATH.

Charles Partridge Arrives in Bakersfield and Starts an Investigation.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

BAKERSFIELD, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Charles Partridge, another brother of Henry Partridge, whose body was found in the Calloway Canal Tuesday evening, has arrived from San Francisco to investigate the conditions surrounding the death of his brother, and to assume charge of the property and papers taken from the body of the deceased.

Mr. Partridge says his brother left an estate valued at nearly $100,000. It is composed of property left by the late P. M. Partridge of Menlo Park, and money now in the California Bank and in the vaults of the Mercantile Trust Company.

Litigation is pending over the distribution of the elder Partridge's estate.

SALOONS TO STAY CLOSED.

San Francisco Drought Will Last Indefinitely.

San Jose and Santa Rosa After Special Session.

Legislature Must Also Give the Schools Relief.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 11.—That the authorities here have no intention of loosening the tight grip on the reins which have held the liquor dealers in check since the city suffered its great disaster was made plain today by the emphatic declarations of Mayor Schmitz. When asked as to the likelihood of the saloons being allowed to open in the near future the Mayor not only denied there was a possibility of such action being taken, but added that he had decided that all drinking places should be closed for an indefinite period. He attributed the remarkable absence of crime and the exceptional order which has prevailed in the city since the conflagration to the fact that the edict against the selling of liquor had been rigidly enforced.

This stand of the Mayor was emphasized this afternoon, when the Board of Police Commissioners met and unanimously indorsed a suggestion made by the Mayor that all saloon licenses now in existence be revoked. San Francisco is today a city without saloons. In discussing this sweeping order the commissioners were a unit in voicing the sentiment that the future welfare of the city would be enhanced by a fewer number of drinking places. A number of saloon proprietors have in the course of construction temporary buildings in which they hope soon to be permitted to dispense liquors. To these the commissioners issued a warning advising them that the number of saloon licenses to be issued in the future would be greatly curtailed and that it was premature for them to incur any expense in the way of temporary building operations.

In San Mateo county, just over the border the Supervisors recently allowed the saloon men to open their places of business. The result was disastrous. Thousands of men and women flocked over the border and indulged in drunken orgies. It produced the nearest approach to riotous conditions that has existed in the city since the great catastrophe. Chief of Police Dinan appealed to Sheriff Mansfield of San Mateo county, begging him to see that all grogshops within his jurisdiction be closed. Today, Sheriff Mansfield made answer that he would close all drinking places, despite the action of the Supervisors of the county, even if it was necessary for him to go to the extent of calling upon the militia to aid him in the work.

JOSE AND SANTA ROSA.

San José and Santa Rosa met San Francisco today in the preparation of the call for a special legislative session. From San Jose came J. O. Hayes, John E. Richards and Prof. M. E. Dailey of the Normal School; from Santa Rosa, Mayor Overton and Ex-Congressman Thomas J. Geary. These men were asked by Chairman Tirey L. Ford to state definitely and later to draft specific measures to cover the damage wrought by the earthquake in their respective cities.

Mr. Richards said that San José, being a chartered city, was interested first in the proposed constitutional amendment allowing cities to change their charters, and put the changes into effect without waiting for a regular session of the Legislature. He said also that public buildings in San José and in Santa Clara county had been greatly damaged by the recent disaster. Mr. Hayes stated that the estimate for the repair of the asylum at Agnews called for the expenditure of $250,000, and Prof. Dailey reported that architects had placed the cost of restoring the Normal School at $60,000. For Santa Rosa, Mayor Overton stated that the people were most deeply interested in raising money for rebuilding the business portion of that city. The committees will report in writing not later than next Monday.

At today's meeting Atty.-Gen. Webb submitted a scheme to make up the deficiency in State moneys caused by the decreased values of assessable property in San Francisco, San José and Santa Rosa. This decrease has been estimated by Assessor Dodge to amount to $200,000,000 in this city, and by the assessors of the other damaged cities to be $1,500,000 in Santa Rosa and about $2,000,000 in San José. The Attorney-General purposes to have the Legislature at its coming special session amend the inheritance tax law and the corporation act, materially increasing the tax rate on inheritances and the filing charge for incorporation.

RELIEF OF SCHOOLS.

Judge Graham and R. H. Countryman reported to the committee on special session of the Legislature this morning on the laws that must be passed for the relief of the schools. Most important of these is that to provide for the enumeration of the children in San Francisco. The census this year could not be taken and unless some provision is made for determining the school population the city stands to lose $300,000, its share of the State school fund. Graham and Countryman proposed that the Legislature allow San Francisco to figure her present school population on the enumerations of the past ten years, allowing for an increase of 2½ per cent. over last year's census. Another important matter is an appropriation that must be made to buy text-books for destitute children. It was suggested that the Legislature be asked to set aside $50,000 for this purpose. These proposed measures will be considered Monday.

SOLDIERS IN DISGRACE.

Terry McCormick, John Berry, Almon Bresse, Lyle Lester and John Murphy, members of Company I, Sixth Regiment, N.G.C., were arrested last night on a charge of burglary. The men entered the grocery store of J. H. Schroeder, 2400 Washington street, and stole a quantity of liquor, it is alleged. They were captured in the place and taken to the Park Police Station. Today, they were stripped of their uniforms and sent home in disgrace. The Chief of Police considered this sufficient punishment and it was due to his intercession that the men were not held on a charge of burglary.

WHO OWNS RARE COINS?

Captain of Detectives Burnett is seeking a claimant for 156 twenty-five cent gold pieces and $29.50 in silver coin that passed through the fire and is slightly discolored, and 48 foreign coins found in the possession of Fred G. Hammill, now in custody at the Stanyan Police Station. Hammill was arrested in Oakland. He claims that a saloon man, whose place of business was at Merchant and Montgomery streets, allowed him to take the coins from a safe. He was disposing of his plunder when arrested.

NEW SMELTER AND TOWNSITE

California Gold and Copper Company Will Patent Claims and Lay Out New Townsite. Stock Advances to Par.

RIVERSIDE (Cal.) May 12, 1906.—Preliminary work is now under way for a large smelting plant to be installed at the mines of the California Gold and Copper Company at Von Trieger, on the Barnwell branch of the Santa Fé R.R. running from Goff's to Ivanpah.

A modern hoisting plant recently installed is now running night and day. About 4000 tons of ore are now on the dumps, much of which is premium ore, and for which fancy prices are offered by other smelters.

Application for a patent to the group of claims is now pending and when granted a townsite will be platted.

Stock is now selling at 75 cents, but will advance to par June 1st.—[Adv.

DOWIE NEARING DEATH.

His Affliction Has Extended Upward Until Within a Few Inches of the Heart.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

CHICAGO, May 11.—The condition of John Alexander Dowie is said to be nearing a critical stage. The venerable "first apostle" has taken to his bed and his strength is failing. The swelling of the extremities which is a noticeable characteristic of his affliction is said to have extended upward until within a few inches of the heart.

Dr. Blanks, who has been in constant attendance upon Dowie since his return from Mexico, said that he might, in view of his great vitality, live a week or ten days, but that a fatal termination of the disease within two or three days will not be surprising.

RACE TRACK BREEDS GAMBLING.

Widespread Evil in New York Due to Exemption in Penal Code, Reformers Declare.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

ALBANY, (N. Y.) May 11.—"Widespread gambling in New York is due to the exemption in the penal code in favor of gambling on race tracks." This declaration is part of a unanimous resolution against all forms of gambling adopted by a convention in session here of 400 delegates representing 200,000 men in Bible classes and Sunday-schools.

The convention expressed hearty appreciation of the position taken by Gov. Higgins in opposition to gambling, approved his veto of the Coggeshall bill to increase the tax on racing associations and promised to aid him in advocating a direct appropriation for the benefit of the town and county fairs, "in place of the 5-per-cent. tax on the racing associations."

The convention voted to cooperate with the Reform Bureau in its anti-gambling agitation.

SMUGGLED INTO NEW ORLEANS.

Shake-up in Inspection Service There at Instigation of Chinese Results in Transfers.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW ORLEANS, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Following Federal investigation of the recent developments in Chinese immigration, three local immigration officials have been transferred to other posts. Mr. Ridgway, the Chinese expert, recently stationed at Honolulu, has been ordered to this city to strengthen the hands of the local chief inspector, P. H. Stretton.

The campaign started by Stretton on his arrival here showed beyond doubt that many of the Celestials were smuggled into this port. Indictments have followed, stirring up the local Chinese to a point where they combined to oust Stretton and secure his successor. Recently they preferred charges against Stretton, which were sent to the Washington bureau. Stretton was exonerated.

The officers who have been transferred are Inspectors Edwin Schmuck, Hendricks and Gomaur.

G.A.R. RELIEF COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—James Tanner, commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, yesterday issued the following statement:

"To all posts of the Grand Army of the Republic:

"The San Francisco posts have appointed a Grand Army of the Republic Relief Committee of twenty-five, with full power and instructions to cooperate with the military authorities and Red Cross Society. In accordance therewith, I ask that all of your contributions be forwarded to San Francisco as follows:

"Supplies and clothing to A. D. Cutler, 1442 Turk street; money to C. H. Blinn, United States Custom House headquarters, 1120 Eddy street. Money is preferable to supplies.

"Eight hundred families of Civil War veterans are destitute."

RIO GRANDE OUT OF BANKS.

EL PASO (Tex.) May 11.—The Rio Grande River is out of its banks and ravaging farm lands north of El Paso, in the Mesilla Valley, where last year many thousands of dollars of damage resulted from floods. At Anthony, the channel is changing and endangering the Santa Fé Railroad tracks.

WASHINGTON.

BAILEY TALKS OF PRESIDENT.

Says Allison Amendment Is Executive's Work.

Lodge Secures Adoption of "Rail and Water" Idea.

House "Long" on Sulloway. Hepburn Scores Navy.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The Senate today was again made aware of opposition to the anti-pass amendment to the Rate Bill, being deluged with telegrams of protest, which came principally from railroad employés, addressed to Senators Cullom, Warner, Foraker, McCreary, Frye, Beveridge, Allison and Dick. Most of the senders of the telegrams complained of the injustice done them in depriving them of the privilege heretofore enjoyed. Most of the Senators presented from fifty to 100 telegrams, but they were not ordered printed.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Senator Bailey's non-suspension amendment applying to orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission, as covered by the Railroad Rate Bill, which has occupied so much of the attention of the Senate in connection with that bill, was today adversely disposed of by the decisive vote of 23 to 54, practically a party vote. The debate on the provision was limited to a brief political speech by its author, in which he said the President had changed his attitude on the question of maintaining the rates fixed by the commission until the courts reach a final decision.

COURT-REVIEW LINES.

An amendment offered by Senator Reyner confining the court review to constitutional questions was also voted down, but not until speeches had been made by Messrs. Rayner and Bailey in advocacy, and by Messrs. Allison, Fulton, Long and Cullom in opposition. The debate was in anticipation of the discussion that is expected to occur upon the Allison court-review provision tomorrow. Messrs. Rayner and Bailey contended that the Allison amendment authorizes the broadest possible court review, and the Maryland Senator urged that in it Senator Allison had achieved a signal victory.

FULTON'S STEAM.

Senator Fulton said that he had first suggested the language of the Allison provision.

A number of other amendments, offered, in the main, by Democrats and Senator La Follette, were rejected. The votes were generally along party lines during the entire day, but the Wisconsin Senator voted with the Democrats on all propositions, and Messrs. McEnery and Morgan, Democrats, voted with the Republicans on most of them.

ONLY THREE ACCEPTED.

The only amendments accepted during the day were those offered by Senator Allison, striking out the phrase "fairly remunerative" in the provision allowing the Interstate Commerce Commission to fix rates, limiting the operation of orders of the commission to two years, and making the Interstate Commerce Commission the defendant in suits challenging the rates fixed by it.

The anti-pass provision heretofore adopted was again discussed. It is evident that it will be modified.

HAMMERING IT IN.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

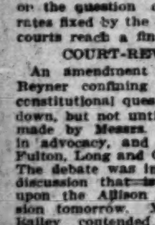
WASHINGTON, May 11.—When consideration of the Railroad Rate Bill was resumed in the Senate today, Senator Allison was prompt in presenting the first of his compromise amendments, striking out the words "fairly remunerative" from the fourth section of the bill, as descriptive of the rates which the Interstate Commerce Commission may prescribe. The amendment was adopted without debate or division.

The second amendment, limiting to two years the life of the commission's orders, was next adopted.

Senator Bailey of Texas presented his amendment prohibiting inferior United States courts from issuing temporary injunctions against the orders of the Interstate Commerce Commission. He said the so-called Allison amendment was the work of the President, and declared that the President had failed to justify the hope he had aroused.

On a roll call the Bailey amendment was lost, 23 to 54.

Senator Culberson presented an amendment requiring that injunctions should not be granted without hearings, and also imposing other conditions. The amendment was voted down, 29 to 50, a strict party vote, except that Senator La Follette voted in the affirmative with the Democrats.



Senator Bacon

Senator Bacon offered an amendment requiring hearings on injunction proceedings, and requiring also the presence of two judges, one of whom shall be a circuit judge, at such proceedings.

The amendment was rejected, 24 to 32.

Senator Tillman offered an amendment prepared by the Interstate Commerce Commission, extending the authority of the commission over joint rates and through rates, "partly by rail and partly by water."

The amendment was voted down, but when subsequently offered in modified form by Senator Lodge, was adopted.

RAYNER'S WISH.

Before Senator Allison had time to complete he presenation of his amendments, Senator Rayner took advantage of an opportunity to present his constitutional court-review amendment.

"I wish the President had not interfered in this legislation," he said, in speaking for the amendment, "but had permitted us to proceed to settle the question here as it should be settled."

He would not say in the Senate that the President had been "caught in a trap," but he would say that he was so constituted that "he could not look at a trap without fooling with the spring." He went on to say that the President had been "irreparably caught," and now his party friends and party enemies were vieing with each other as to who should be the most zealous in their advocacy.

He referred to Senator Long's limited review amendment, saying that the Kansas Senator had been first chosen by the President as his channel of communication with the Senate, but last Friday he had been succeeded as "minister plenipotentiary" by the Senator from Iowa, who had brought forth a broad review; he had been informed that the Iowa Senator had been selected without his knowledge, and at the time the selection was made the Senator was engaged in his nocturnal repose.

"But notwithstanding the provisions were deadly in conflict," said Mr. Rayner, "their authors were equally well accredited. The testimonials of Mr. Long bear the royal impress, as do those of Mr. Allison, with the addition of the cost of arms of Rhode Island. We understand all this, but the people do not. We understand that the President is no longer caressing the Senator from Kansas and the junior Senator from Iowa, (Mr. Dolliver,) but that he is now cleaping to his bosom the Senator from Rhode Island, Mr. Aldrich."

He proceeded to outline the difference between the Allison and the Long amendments, and while he was doing so, was taxed by Senator Aldrich with having changed his own position, which he denied. In conclusion, Mr. Rayner congratulated the broad-review advocates upon their signal victory.

"I also congratulate," he said, "every railroad president of the country, and their amazing array of counsel."

Senator Long made a legal presentation of the review question, without undertaking to reply to Mr. Rayner.

ALDRICH'S COMPARISON.

While Mr. Long was speaking, Senator Aldrich made the statement that Mr. Allison's amendment did not grant to the courts greater jurisdiction than Mr. Long's amendment.

Senator Allison said that his amendment was limited as to whether the commission had acted beyond its authority, or the rate fixed was just and reasonable. He disclaimed the credit given him by Mr. Rayner, and said that the President was also misrepresented. He said that Mr. Rayner's provision and his own practically accomplished the same result.

"SOLE AND LONE AUTHOR."

Senator Fulton confessed to being the "sole and lone author" of the portion of the Allison review amendment granting jurisdiction of the Circuit Courts, saying that he had made to the Iowa Senator the suggestion of the wording as used. He contended that the provision did not confer a broad review.

The Rayner amendment was disagreed to, on practically a party vote of 24 to 55. Mr. La Follette (Republican,) voted with the Democrats for the provision and Messrs. Clark of Montana, Foster, McEnery, Morgan, Pettus (Democrat,) with the Republicans against it.

HOUSE PROCEEDINGS.

MR. SULLOWAY CAUGHT.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The filibustering tactics of Representative Williams of Mississippi in the House caught Representative Sulloway of New Hampshire today. It was decided to consider private pension bills today, and Mr. Williams insisted that Mr. Sulloway, chairman of the committee, should rise and formally move the passage of each of the many pension bills.

Mr. Sulloway is 6 feet 7 inches in height, and in rising 320 times, mathematicians in the House figured that the chairman would have to travel vertically a considerable distance for the delectation of the gentleman from Mississippi. The latter, however, smilingly remarked that the exercise would add a bit more to the stature of Mr. Sulloway.

After passing 320 pension bills, the House devoted much time to considering a point of order made by Mr. Tawney against an appropriation for a new steel floating dock, provided in the Naval Appropriation Bill. The chair held the point of order well taken in a carefully-prepared opinion.

Mr. Hepburn made a vigorous attack upon the court-martial system of the navy, especially criticising the officers responsible for the accidents that have happened to ships of the navy.

A point of order against the appropriation for the naval training station at Lake Bluff, Ill., was pending when the House adjourned until Monday.

PURCHASES FOR CANAL.

AMERICAN GOODS PREFERRED.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Secretary Taft has refused to assume the responsibility for an order requiring the Canal Commission to buy only American goods, and as a result of his stand it is likely resolutions will be introduced in Congress limiting the purchase of the commission to American markets.

Senators Dick and Ankeny and a number of other prominent Republicans in the Senate have urged the commission to abandon the idea of buying in the open market, but Secretary Taft and the members of the commission have not felt that they could read any such restriction on purchases that Congress should specifically limit buying to American goods, if any such provision is desired for the protection of the interests of the American corporations.

WAITING ON STEVENS.

Demand being made by the House Committee on Appropriations for the estimates to carry on work on the Panama Canal during the next fiscal year, Secretary Taft has explained to the committee that it will be impossible to submit detailed estimates until the arrival here of Chief Engineer Stevens, who is now on his way from the isthmus. The total to be asked for is said to aggregate $26,000,000, but owing to lack of knowledge here as to the amounts to be asked for to pay skilled and unskilled labor, the figures cannot be submitted.

The committee is to include this appropriation in the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill, which is now being compiled. It is understood that the estimates will be made the subject of extended hearings before the committee, that the members may be in a position to give the House detailed information regarding the necessity for each item included. This will cause some delay in the finishing of the Sundry Civil Bill, which it had been hoped to get into the House next week.

CROMWELL AND MORGAN.

William Nelson Cromwell of New York, counsel for the Panama Railroad Company, again was before the Senate Committee on Interoceanic Canals today. Senator Morgan was the examiner and he and the witness indulged in heated arguments over the right of the committee to compel answers. The investigation will be postponed until after the passage of the Railroad Rate Bill.

VICE-PRESIDENT'S BIRTHDAY.

FAIRBANKS 18 54.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Vice-President Fairbanks was 54 years old today. He spent his time presiding over the Senate in one of the busiest days of the session. He received the congratulations of his friends in the Senate, as well as many messages from friends throughout the country.

"RIOT ACT" TO CALIFORNIANS.

New York Financiers Want no Mortgage Tax.

"Uncle Joe" Is "Agin" the Five-Per-Cent. Bill.

Shaw Opposes the Drawback. Metcalf's Request.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The "Riot Act" was read for the benefit of California at the New York conference of financiers, yesterday, according to one of the participants who arrived here today. At the conference, various methods of raising money for reconstruction purposes by mortgages, bonding and other loan schemes was discussed. It was in this connection that it was called to mind that California's Constitution and laws provide for taxing real estate mortgages, and this was denounced as "Populism run mad."

It was emphatically agreed that if California wants money at reasonable interest rates for rebuilding, etc., the Constitution would have to be amended by abolishing mortgage taxes. The opinion was expressed that it would be impossible to attract the necessary capital to the Pacific Coast any other way.

Gov. Pardee has since been advised that it is for the extra session of the Legislature to recommend the adoption of the constitutional amendment prohibiting mortgage taxes or real estate.

Speaking of the matter today, Representative Needham said: "Whether the Legislature agrees with the New York financiers or not, the question the latter propound is one demanding serious consideration."

Mr. Needham added that the California delegation here would not act on the matter at all.

SMITH AND THE SPEAKER.

Representative Smith today had a warm interview with Speaker Cannon relative to the bill giving California 5 per cent. of the net proceeds of public land sales within her border. Mr. Smith wants recognition to call the measure up, but the Speaker got wrathy immediately. He said he would not "stand for it;" that if the bill was passed, other States would present similar ones.

Mr. Smith explained that they would not, as their claims of similar character have been settled long ago. Mr. Cannon's anger began to subside, and he concluded by saying he was not disposed to recognize Mr. Smith to call up the bill. That satisfied the latter, because, he said, if the Speaker maintained tht position, he (Smith) believed he could convince "Uncle Joe" that the bill is a just measure.

The report on th measure filed today will assist conversion. In the report Mr. Smith says every other State admitted to the Union received from 5 to 26 per cent. of the net proceeds from the sale of public lands for internal improvements or school purposes. The only reason California was not treated likewise, the report says, was because provision was not made for it in the enabling act. Similar concession was expected for California also, as reference was made in the State Constitution to "such per cent. as may be granted by Congress on sale of lands in the State."

CONSTITUTION PRESENTED.

Replying to the query why the State's request was not granted, the Smith report says the answer is to be found in the fact that, less than two weeks before the President laid the California Constitution before Congress, Henry Clay submitted the Celebrated Compromise Resolutions, the first of which provided for California's admission without reference to the slavery question. Inasmuch as the first line of the State's Constitution excluded slavery, the enabling act was never taken up, but it did not open the whole Clay proposition to debate, and practically everything else was lost. Towards the last of the discussion, the report says, little attention was paid to the public lands question, and everybody was in the dark as to value of the Spanish grants, etc.

"In this state of the case," the report says, "and under pressure of more weighty questions involved, the subject was finally dismissed by an amendment to the enabling act, providing that 'nothing herein contained shall be construed as recognizing or reflecting the propositions tendered by the people of California.'"

METCALF'S APPROPRIATION.

Secretary Metcalf has asked Congress for $168,000 more to complete Angel Island immigration station, $100,000 of this was estimated some time ago, but Secretary Metcalf states the recent catastrophe caused a great rise in the price of labor and material, so the building cannot be completed within the original estimate.

SHAW AGAINST DRAWBACK.

Secretary Shaw has returned from New York and talked with Representative Needham about the proposed drawback on building materials for rebuilding San Francisco. Regarding it, the secretary said: "I am opposed to the drawback provision in principle, and believe California will be disappointed in it, if put in practice."

CALIFORNIA PRESERVES.

MAJ. BURNHAM'S ANTELOPES.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Smith today introduced a bill for protection of birds, fish and game in California forest reserves, similar to the measure introduced by Senator Perkins.

The bills have the indorsement of Forester Pinchot, who, in a letter to Senator Perkins, says its passage is desirable to assist in propagating South African antelopes which Maj. F. R. Burnham of Pasadena proposes to import for breeding purposes in reserves. Pinchot states he expects an important economy to result from the experiments.

House's Pension Record.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—Three hundred and twenty pension bills were passed by the House, today, in one hour and a half. This record has never been equaled in the disposition of pension legislation. Mr. Capron of Rhode Island, in the chair, developed "auctioneering-like qualities" of the first rank.

"Jackies" at San Francisco.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The necessity for the employment of the Pacific squadron at the water front at San Francisco having passed, Rear-Admiral Glass has embarked the blue jackets, who were ashore there, and has withdrawn his vessels to Mare Island and other points in the bay, leaving the work of patrolling solely in the hands of the army.

Prominent Clergyman Likely to Be Put on Rack for Trying to Get Revision of Westminster Confession — Proposition Was Turned Down by Last General Assembly.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 11.—The question of disciplining or of trying on heresy charges Rev. Dr. Samuel T. Carter, who several years ago became prominent in an effort to have the Westminster Confession revised, was taken up today by the Presbytery of Nassau, L. I.

The meeting was called because of a letter in which Dr. Carter declares that he does not believe the Westminster Confession the truth of God but "an idol of man's invention, as truly as any worshiped in Delhi, Peking or Africa." This letter is addressed to the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, which meets May 18 in Des Moines. The writer terms it a "protest and confession." The letter is as follows:

"Fathers and Brethren: The Presbytery of Nassau overturned the General Assembly a year ago, asking that the brief statement of doctrine be substituted for the Westminster Confession as the confession of our church. By a practically unanimous vote, the General Assembly rejected this overture and retained the Westminster Confession.

"By this action of the assembly, many ministers are compelled to declare their acceptance of a confession which they do not heartily believe and many of our best members acknowledge a creed of which they are ashamed. I appeal from this action of the assembly to the manliness and honesty of the ministry and membership of the Presbyterian Church.

"Many years ago, when I was ordained to the ministry of the gospel, I declared in the most solemn manner that I believed the Westminster Confession to be the truth of God. I now, in a very solemn manner, declare that I do not believe it to be the truth of God; that I utterly reject it as a setting forth of the character of the Heavenly Father."

NEVER SUCH A GOD.

"There never was, is not now, and never will be such a God as the Westminster Confession. It is an idol of man's invention as truly as any worshiped in Delhi, Peking or Africa. I believe that the great and true God is infinitely and exquisitely good and gracious; that the one thing that we can neither fully receive nor declare is the boundless love of God; that all the noblest exhibitions of human love are but bright and beautiful sparks from that intense and divine flame—the love that through ages and generations has been leading men by the fullest wisdom and most tender providence to heights of knowledge, love and boundless hope that far transcend all human thought. I lift up this overwhelming divine love before my fellow-men, believing that this alone will draw all men unto Him.

"I believe that the Westminster Confession darkens and denies this great love of God and should not be retained as a confession by any church today, and that our church is false to its greatest duty of being a true witness for God so long as it retains this confession.

"I send this protest and confession to the clerk of the general assembly and I invoke upon it the blessing of Almighty God and the kindly judgment of all honest men."

The letter was sent from Rome, Italy. Dr. Carter has been in the Presbyterian church for over thirty years, but is not now in charge of a church. More than a year ago his views were discussed by the Nassau presbytery.

SULTAN ATTENTIVE TO TOWER.

BERLIN, May 11.—Ambassador and Mrs. Charlemagne Tower returned here today from a vacation in Southern Europe, including Constantinople. Upon learning of their arrival at the Turkish capital, the Sultan sent for Mr. and Mrs. Tower, met them at the door, offered his arm to Mrs. Tower, escorted her to a seat and spent half an hour with them talking about American affairs, in which Mr. Tower found His Majesty to be surprisingly well informed. He conferred on Mrs. Tower the grand cross of the Shefakat, which is an order for women, meaning "devotion to duty."

ENGINEERS CLING TO PASSES.

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) May 11.—Announcement was made tonight that at an executive session of the locomotive engineers' convention a resolution had been adopted protesting against the amendment to the Railroad Rate Bill which prohibits the issuance of passes to employés of the railroads and authorizing Grand Master Stone to send a message to President Roosevelt, entering the convention's protest. A message to this effect was sent.

M'CLURE SOLE PROPRIETOR NOW.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The announcement is published today that S. S. McClure has purchased all the interest formerly held by John S. Phillips in McClure's Magazine and in the book-publishing firm of McClure, Phillips & Co. Oscar W. Brady has been elected treasurer of both companies, to succeed Mr. Phillips. Mr. McClure declined to make any statement as to the significance of the change.

PRAYERS ONLY MEDICINE, DEAD.

CHICAGO, May 11.—Mrs. Harry Cantell, wife of the general overseer of the Zion Church in England and Ireland, died today in Zion City. For several days, the elders of the church offered prayers for her recovery. She died without medical attendance and her infant child survived her but a short time. The Coroner will hold an inquest. Mrs. Cantell was an Englishwoman and her home was in London.

TERRORIZED BY A MANIAC.

CRAZY MAN BOARDS TWO CARS AND CAUSES PANIC.

Dives Through Window of Speeding Car and Escapes, Then Attempts to Exterminate Gang of Grave-Diggers in Rosedale Cemetery, but Is Captured and Bound to Tombstone.

After a series of wild adventures, Herbert B. Jackson was captured by grave-diggers yesterday afternoon in Rosedale Cemetery and tied to a tombstone until the arrival of the police. The man was wildly insane and had created a reign of terror all the way out Sixteenth street to the cemetery.

When patrolman from the University Police Station arrived the man was raving and put up a terrific fight, striking out on every side and attempting to bite the officers. He was at last handcuffed and taken to the Receiving Hospital.

Jackson ran amuck near the corner of Figueroa and Sixteenth streets and frightened a number of people in that neighborhood. He was prowling around the front yards of private residences when he sighted an Inter-Urban car, bound west, on Sixteenth street. He made a dash for the car and climbed aboard while it was going at full speed.

No sooner was he aboard than he attempted to throw the motorman off the car. The conductor ran to the aid of his co-worker and a struggle followed. Then the maniac turned his attention to the rear end of the car. At last a desire to get off struck the man and he jumped, much to the relief of the passengers and crew.

HOLDS UP CAR.

Soon a Santa Monica car came along and Jackson laid down across the tracks, placing his head on one rail and his legs across the other. Then he began shouting imprecations against the company, and when the big car was brought to a stop a few feet from him, the maniac invited the motorman to run over him. He cursed the motorman when the latter refused to do so and then scrambling to his feet, climbed aboard the car.

He again tried his former tactics of displacing the motorman, but without success, and he finally went inside of the car, where he threw the passengers into a panic. He made speeches and did whatever his fancy dictated, and all the while the car was making schedule time. When it reached Rosedale Cemetery, the maniac gave a wild yell and dived head first through one of the large glass windows in the side of the cars.

FOUND HIS FINISH.

He struck the ground in a heap, but arose uninjured, except for a few minor cuts and bruises. Seeing some grave-diggers at work, Jackson ran to them and asserted that he was about to exterminate the entire gang. The men grappled with the maniac, however, and succeeded in binding his hands to his sides. Then he was securely tied to a tombstone and the police were notified by telephone.

At the Central Police Station Jackson could give no address, and could not explain the fact that he had about twenty-five cards bearing the name "R. G. Lee" in his pocket. He held both his fists clenched tightly and refused to open his hands in the Receiving Hospital. One of the nurses, was was washing the blood and dirt from the man's hands, took a knife and gravely told the insane man that it would be necessary to cut off a finger if he would not open his hands. Jackson just as seriously replied, "Well, all right." He will probably be sent to the County Hospital for treatment today.

HYPNOTIZED BY BURGLAR.

JAP SLEEPS WHEN ORDERED TO BY BOLD ROBBER.

Exponent of Jiu-Jitsu Wakes to Find His Room Looted, Furniture Moved Out and Savings Stolen. Cannot Account for His Obeying the Command to Sleep.

All of I. Kawasaki's skill in the mystic art of jiu-jitsu was of no use to him yesterday morning when he was awakened by a burglar, who forced the door to his room. The Jap sleepily rubbed his eyes and looked around.

"Turn over and go to sleep, it's not time to get up yet," remarked the burglar calmly, and Kawasaki did.

Kawasaki lives in a Japanese rooming-house at No. 135 Vine street. He had gone to bed at his usual hour and does not know why when he heard a man in his room speak to him in English he did not get up and treat the intruder to a few experiments in jiu-jitsu, but instead he meekly obeyed and is now a "sadder but wiser man."

When he did wake up he found that his trunk and dresser had been moved out of his room, carried downstairs and into the back yard, where the burglar had picked up a handy ax and chopped both open.

The excited Jap aroused his friends in the house and when the trunk and dresser were found in the back yard broken open and their contents strewn about on all sides, a powwow was held which ended by a dozen of the little brown men hiking for the Central Police Station with their tale of woe.

Officers were immediately detailed on the case, but could discover no clew to the identity of the nervy burglar who was so free with his advice. The Jap was so excited he could not furnish the police with a full list of what he had lost, but it was gained that most of his savings, amounting to about $80, were in the trunk, and disappeared with the robber, as did a number of articles of clothing and a watch and numerous small articles of jewelry.

"BIG" KING GONE.

No Clue to Policeman Who Skipped With the Cash of Many Trusting Victims.

Patrolman W. A. King, who left town in such a hurry last month to go the bedside of a "dying brother," in Denver, or to escape "earthquakes," as his superiors say, is still missing. King owed large sums of money and yet when he departed those at the head of the police department did all in their power to keep the matter a secret, but it would not keep, it leaked out Thursday at police headquarters.

Mrs. Bartram, King's landlady, tried to be kind to him and he rewarded that kindness by skipping out, owing her for two months' rent. Last night it was learned that King has a cousin living in this city, a music teacher. After King left, his cousin told Mrs. Kartram that King had no sick brother in Denver, and said she would write immediately to the patrolman's father in Cincinnati to pay the amount due to Mrs. Bartram.

It was also learned at his former rooming-house that King had wired to his father in Cincinnati for $250, on the plea that Los Angeles was in ruins, that he was in great danger and needed funds to get to a place of safety. It is thought that he received the money the same day by wire.

The three King brothers roomed in the same house, and Mrs. Bartram is of the opinion that "Big" King was the pet of his mother and father and their pride. Mrs. Bartram said she feared King was going wrong and tried to get him to straighten up, but it had no effect.

King told his superior officers, when he applied for leave, that he was going to Denver to the bedside of his "dying brother," but it is thought that he got what money he could together to go into some mining scheme, just where is not known.

Another theory advanced is that King ran away with a woman. This theory is believed to be the right one by many members of the police force and they say the woman is at the bottom of all the trouble. His brother officers noticed him many times with a handsomely-dressed woman on the streets and they think he had to keep borrowing money on all sides to take care of her.

The other patrolmen on the force feel that the King episode is a disgrace to the department and that no effort should have been made to cover it up, but the man branded as a rascal immediately. Many declare that if the truth were known the total sum he borrowed would be very large.

George Arnold, who probably is the heaviest loser, said he got in deeper than he liked, but discovered what kind of a man King was, too late. He loaned him money to start his brothers in the ice cream business, but so far as can be learned King's brothers never had a thought of going into that business. Mr. Arnold is anxious to join with the other victims in a prosecution of the absconding officer.

"Big" King, the missing policeman, must not be confused with Patrolman E. C. King, known as "Little" King, among members of the force. "Little" King has been on the Los Angeles police force for years and has a record second to none in the department.

LIKES BIG KNIVES.

Bluffer Arrested for Third Time Upon a Charge of Carrying Concealed Weapons.

For the third time in three months J. Galbraith was arrested yesterday for carrying concealed weapons and was locked up in his old cell in the City Jail. Galbraith is said to have attempted to wreck the press of a morning newspaper, where he was employed about nine months ago, since which period he has spent a good portion of his time in jail.

Yesterday afternoon he entered a saloon at No. 429 South Spring street, and made himself so obnoxious that the bartender ordered him to leave. Galbraith refused and the bartender started to put him out, when, like a flash, Galbraith whipped out a murderous looking butcher knife, with a blade a foot long and as sharp as a razor.

Brandishing the knife, Galbraith cursed the bartender and then declared he would kill every man in the place, and without any preliminaries he rushed at one of the men there. Instantly there was a wild stampede for the door and in a few seconds Galbraith was master of all he surveyed.

The bartender with his frightened customers, feared to return and gathered in a little group on the opposite side of the street, while a message was sent to the Central Police Station for help. Detective MacNamara responded and when he entered the saloon found Galbraith still brandishing the knife and cursing. He disarmed the man and took him to the City Jail. Galbraith may have to face a charge of assault with a deadly weapon, but meanwhile will be held for carrying concealed weapons.

HEARD EX-SENATOR HILL.

NEW YORK, May 11.—The subcommittee of the Grievance Committee of the New York State Bar Association today heard ex-Senator David B. Hill as to his relations as counsel to the Equitable Life Assurance Society and took the testimony of prominent attorneys as to the standing of Hill in the legal profession and as to the reasonableness of his $5000-a-year retainer from the Equitable, and adjourned. Hill's counsel, Charles A. Collin, submitted the case without argument. Prof. E. W. Huffcut, dean of Cornell University Law School and chairman of the subcommittee, announced that a report would be submitted to the Grievance Committee at the earliest possible moment.

SCHURZ CRITICALLY ILL.

Noted Pugilist Shows no Tangible Change for the Better—Complication of Diseases.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 11.—Carl Schurz, the noted publicist and former Secretary of the Interior, continues critically ill at his home in this city. He is suffering from a complication of diseases; and, while it was thought early today there had been an improvement in his condition it was felt that the patient had lost some ground.

Late tonight the following bulletin was issued by the attending physicians: "No tangible change for the better. Takes nourishment. Pulse of fair quality. Two moderate attacks of pulmonary oedema during the day. No pain, but rather more restless."

SPIER KEPT THE SECURITIES.

NEW YORK, May 11.—Investigations which followed the mysterious death of Charles L. Spier, confidential agent of H. H. Rogers, disclose the fact that his financial affairs were more involved than was thought yesterday. Spier, it is said, deposited $180,000 in securities owned by Rogers of the brokerage firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. as collateral in a stock-market speculation. These securities, a member of the firm said, were returned to Spier upon his promise to replace them. The promise was not kept. Spier instead returned the bonds to Rogers, who had been demanding them. Rogers then entrusted Spier with $840,000 worth of bonds in a new company.

CASTELLANES BOTH IN COURT.

PARIS, May 11.—The Castellane case was taken up again today for the purpose of learning if it was possible to reconcile the parties. Both Count Boni and the Countess (formerly Anna Gould) appeared in court. The latter was accompanied by her counsel, Edmond Kelley. The hearing disclosed that there was no chance of a reconciliation, the Countess insisting on an absolute divorce. This concluded the formal preliminaries. The Countess' bill asking for absolute divorce will now be filed, the papers will be served and the case will proceed at once.

Newmarket Sausage

It's fresh, first of all--made every day. We make it ourselves, choose the material carefully from the tons of choice meats at our disposal. And we know how to make sausage—been at it for years--we ought to know. The result is a sausage better than you ever ate before. This is not an opinion, but a fact. The proof of the sausage is in the eating.

A PROPHETIC SPEECH.

The conversion of the Tauride Palace, built by Empress Catherine II for her favorite, Prince Grigori Potemkine, in 1783, for parliamentary purposes of the Russian Lower House, which convened there yesterday, has recalled the prophetic speech delivered by the now deceased Privy Councillor, Polovtsof, at a dinner given during the industrial exposition in the palace four years ago. Commenting on the evolution through which Russia was passing, Polovtsof drew a parallel between the pumps of Potemkine and his fellow-courtiers and the boots of the peasants, whose tread was then heard in the chambers of the palace, and added, with unrealized significance: "I assure you, gentlemen, the peasant's boot treads firm, and where it has once set foot, it is not easily driven out."

An uncomfortable pause followed his words, though few of the high functionaries then realized how soon the peasant representatives would be entering into their inheritance.

The idea of locating the Russian Lower House of Parliament in the Tauride Palace was a bold one, so little was the building suited by situation and original design for this purpose. It is located in the remote eastern section of the city, half an hour's drive from the Winter Palace, the Ministries and the building of the Council of the Empire, the other branch of the Legislature, and although alterations have produced a meeting place of fair size and good acoustic properties for the large assembly, the facilities for committee-rooms, archives, chancellory, public and press are largely inadequate.

MONGREL ARCHITECTURE.

Architecturally, the palace which was designed by Staroff, another of the favorites of Catherine II, lacks merit. It is a tasteless cross of Greek, Roman and Pompeiian styles, the dominant idea of the Pantheon at Rome, which was taken as the model for the body of the building, being disfigured at either end by rectangular wings, which stretch forward to the street, inclosing a garden with fountains and statuary. The dome on the main building is too small and set too far back to break up the uncompromisingly square, barrack-like effect of the building, the best feature of which is the Greek facade stretching from wing to wing, with the main entrance under a central portico supported by massive doric columns of granite.

Through this is reached the Parliament hall, occupying the rear half of the body of the building, passing en route through a narrow vestibule, a circular hall whose lofty, flat ceiling, eighty feet high, is, by the clever decorative work, given a domed effect, and the old ballroom, a magnificent hall, about two hundred and fifty feet long, adorned with two double rows of graceful Ionic columns. From this hall, which will be used as the members' lobby and promenade, large golden doors open into the Assembly Hall, formerly the winter garden of the palace, in which Potemkine gave his famous feast. It is rectangular in shape, with a large semicircular alcove almost as broad as the hall and enclosed in glass, projecting into the garden in the rear. The hall is little more than half the size of the hall of the House of Representatives at Washington.

THINKS HE HAS' FOUND FORTUNE.

VENICE MAN UNCOVERS VAST LEDGE OF PYRITIC PUMICE.

Said to Be a Commodity Greatly Demanded by Builders Who Seek Material Impervious to Water—Financiers Investigate, With View of Developing Commercial Industry.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.)

VENICE, May 11.—N. Peano of this beach believes that a fortune is almost in his grasp. While prospecting recently in the foothills of near-by mountains he uncovered an immense ledge of pyritic pumice. His find is convenient to transportation facilities, and is apparently is such quantities as to make the discovery of more than passing importance.

Being of light weight and porous, this pumice affords a surface and interior finish that is greatly to be desired by all builders who seek a material that is impervious to water and the action of the elements. It is practically immune from damage by earthquake shocks, and has nothing to fear from the ravages of fire.

It can be filled and welded with cement into walls that for endurance have no equal. Being of light weight, its transportation for long distances is a small item when compared with the charges of other materials used in construction.

By its use the insurance risk would be lessened, and, taken all together, the pumice has much to commend it to capital. Financiers are looking over the proposition with a view of developing the find as a commercial industry.

How Consumption Is Cured

At the Ballard Institution a special system of pulmonary gymnastics is used for the development of the lungs and the stimulation of the pulmonary circulation. These exercises are most valuable, as they clear up infiltration, build up new tissues, strengthen weak parts and eliminate diseased matter by the promotion of expectoration.

Children's Shoes

Many mothers experience great difficulty in getting the proper shoes for children. The correct fitting of a child's shoe requires more skill than to fit a grown person. An adult's foot is formed, a child's foot is growing. Children's shoes must allow the foot to grow and expand, yet must not be loose or slovenly to cause chafing.

We have the experience to fit children's shoes with skill, and pride ourselves on the large display and handsome variety of our children's stock. CHILDREN'S HIGH AND LOW SHOES IN BLACK, TAN, WHITE and BUCKSKIN. A TOY FOR EVERY CHILD

SAVED FROM THE KNIFE

Mrs. Coulburn, of East Market, Dorchester County, Maryland, had what was supposed to be a large tumor caused by Kidney trouble. After a consultation of several physicians an opperation was decided upon. Meantime she began to take and was cured by

WARNER'S SAFE CURE.

A TRIAL BOTTLE OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST KIDNEY CURE SENT ABSOLUTELY FREE TO EVERY READER OF THE TIMES WHO SUFFERS FROM KIDNEY, LIVER, BLADDER OR BLOOD DISEASE.

MRS. COULBURN.

She writes of this wonderful cure: "I thought that it was my duty to let you know what your wonderful Safe Cure has done for me, as there may be somebody suffering as I was. I had a tumor, and my doctor told me that I would have to go to Cambridge Hospital to be operated on. He gave me a permit to the hospital at Cambridge. The doctor examined me, and he said it was too dangerous a place to tackle in the warm season of the year. He would wait until the last of October, and he would send to Baltimore after the doctors to come down and assist him about cutting the tumor out. It was about 5 inches long, on a very dangerous artery. Returning from Cambridge I stopped at a store and bought a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure and commenced taking it according to directions, and before I had used that bottle the tumor was nearly gone, annd I got another bottle and took half of that, and I was finally cured when the last of August came without being operated on. If you wish to use my name you are perfectly welcome to do so. I am known in Cambridge and in Dorchester and several other counties. I reside near Cabin Creek.—Lillian F. Coulbourn, E. New Market, R. F. D. No. 1, Md."

Does your back ache? Are you obliged to pass your water frequently and with much irritation? Are you nervous? Do you get dizzy easily. If so, your kidneys and bladder are effected, and you should attend to curing them at once and thus prevent most serious complications and fatal results. You should take Warner's Safe Cure. It is pleasant and will set your kidneys and urinary organs right. These once right, health and long life are yours. Myriads have had wonderful cures, and many gladly testify by letters what Warner's Safe Cure has done for them in curing and preventing all forms of kidney and bladder troubles, female weakness, Bright's disease and all diseased conditions of the liver and blood.

Warner's Safe Pills move the bowels gently and aid a speedy cure. WARNER'S SAFE CURE is now put up in two sizes, and is sold by all druggists, or direct, at 50 cents and $1.00 a bottle. Refuse substitutes containing harmful drugs, which injure the system.

TRIAL BOTTLE FREE To convince every sufferer from diseases of the kidneys, liver, bladder and blood that WARNER'S SAFE CURE will cure them, a trial bottle will be sent ABSOLUTELY FREE, postpaid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Rochester, N. Y., and mention having seen this liberal offer in The Times. The genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed. Our doctors will also send medical booklet containing descriptions of symptoms and treatment of each disease, and many convincing testimonials free to every one.

To keep healthy A short story

Germ-Proof Wholesome Refrigerated Nutritious

Everybody needs meat to give the body nutriment; to give the right amount of protein and fats. Shredded oats and chopped hay are well enough in their way, but the human system must have meat—that is, healthy, cleanly refrigerated meat, properly cooked.

Our meats are inspected by government officers and killed and dressed by skilled butchers. The meat never touches the floor after the animal leaves the pen. It is taken up by electric trolley (not dragged or carried) to the chill room; it is scientifically refrigerated in the finest packing-house in the West, hence there is no chance for germs, dirt or foul air to reach it. When you eat the famous Sentous meats you lay the foundation for robust health. Ring us up, either phone, and we can tell you more about our business and where to buy these wholesome meats. Classified Liners.

Times "Liner" Advertisers—Important. Note Change in rate for Sunday classified advertisements. Commencing Sunday, October 1, 1905, the rate for Sunday "Liners" was raised to 1¼ cents per word for each insertion; minimum charge, 25 cents, as at present. This slight advance is amply justified by the present Sunday circulation of The Times, which averages over 70,000 copies. (When the 1-cent-per-word rate was established in 1893, The Times Sunday circulation was only 14,000 copies.) The "Liner" rate for the daily—1 cent per word—will stand as at present.

Telephone your want advertisements. Ring up "The Times" any time of day or night, and secure prompt and careful attention. Rates one cent a word each insertion in the Daily; 1½ cents per word in the Sunday edition; minimum charge, 25c.

"Liner" (classified) advertisements for Sunday insertion received over the counter or by telephone after 11 o'clock Saturday nights will be inserted under heading "Too Late to Classify."

The Times cannot guarantee accuracy or assume responsibility for errors of any kind occurring in telephoned advertisements.

Sunday real estate advertisements, to be classified properly, must be in The Times office before 10 o'clock Saturday nights. Rate 1½ cents per word.

WITH CUPID AS CHAUFFEUR.

Baron and Double-Widow Ride to Their Wedding.

Elopement Is a Surprise to Friends Here.

Mrs. Tullis Now Baroness Von Kittkewitz.

Still young in heart, though widowed twice, Mrs. Mary de las Nieveis Tullis of this city, a sister of Mrs. H. W. Stoll, yesterday took as her third husband the Baron Friedrich Paul Freiherr von Kittkewitz, also of this city.

The ceremony uniting these two well-known Los Angeles people was performed by Judge Noyes in the Courthouse at Riverside.

Like an electric shock the news of the marriage spread among the large circle of friends the newly-married couple have here, for while it was generally known that the dignified German Baron was paying placid court to the bright widow, the possibility of a runaway marriage in which they should be the principals, simply never occurred to a single one of them all.

But where love holds the reins it is easy to drive in double harness, and the Baron and widow obeyed the little coachman who sits up aloft, but in modern style, for they went to the Riverside County Courthouse in an automobile.

WITH A DEBONAIR AIR.

As though it was the most natural thing in the world for an old nobleman and an American widow to elope—if such a quiet slipping away from their home town and friends can be so called—the Baron Von Kittkewitz and Mrs. Nieveis Tullis dismounted from their honeymoon auto and walking into the Riverside Courthouse applied for a marriage license.

The Baron gave his name, age, nativity and occupation, which is that of a "capitalist," in a most matter-of-fact way, stating that his place of business was No. 212 North Broadway, Los Angeles. The widow-that-was and the bride-to-be underwent the cross-examination necessary and a moment later, with the precious license in possession, the two walked in upon Judge Noyes and asked him to marry them.

Now Judge Noyes is a tender-hearted chap and likes to make people happy in a legal way, so he lost no time with frills, but just hitched those two—for better or worse—but did not kiss the bride. The Baron handed the judge a generous fee, which the latter said he would turn over to the Salvation Army to help make some one else happy.

Still with as little flutter—it was her third time—as though she had accepted an invitation to dine with the Baron, the Baroness Von Kittkewitz walked to her automobile, was helped in gallantly by the Baron, and away they sped on their honeymoon. This, it is said, will be spent at Santa Barbara, but later they will make their home in this city.

A SIEGE OF LOVE.

Meanwhile in local society circles this secret marriage of these two old people is the bon bouche of the day. Incidents are related of the courtship, of the dignified ardor with which the Baron laid siege to the heart of the widow. It is told how for three years at least, he conducted his campaign of love, until finally she surrendered, rescue or no rescue, a captive to his fascinations, his title and his supposed wealth.

The new Baroness Von Kittkewitz is a native daughter, is 57 years of age and has a son 37 years old. Her third husband is much younger; his age is 43 years, but the Baroness is so well preserved that the Baron does not appear to be much her junior.

But now that it is all over with, except the slaughter of the society fatted calf, really you must know, the dearest friends of the Baroness are shocked—for she never told them a thing about her contemplated marriage—not one tiny, teeny hint did she give them; they can forgive anything but that.

"Just as though she could not trust us not to say a word!"

But so it is, and tongues are wagging in some quarters, but though many kind things are said of the couple, there are also unkind things said, and it is even hinted that each married the other because each thought the other was rich, while in truth each is only moderately well off. Yet such sayings are not disturbing the love-makings of these two people, who, though past the impulse age, are forgetting the years in the days of their honeymoon.

A POOR LIAR.

Crack-Brained Man in Denver Makes Some Wild Assertions About Los Angeles.

Some kind of a wild-eyed creature, who disgraces Boston by stating that he comes from that city, is inflicting Denver with his personality and his lies about Los Angeles. This fellow gives the name of J. G. Higgins and in a statement published in a Denver paper yesterday asserts that every home in this city is offered for sale.

The only explanation of such a downright lie is that in his crazy attempt to "knock" Los Angeles Higgins buries himself under tons of falsehood.

This Higgins also stated that there is more pneumonia, rheumatism and insanity in Southern California, per capita, than in any other State in the Union.

This is in itself so absurd that Higgins's statement is unbelievable by any fair man. The trouble with Higgins is that he can't even lie like a good liar.

MRS. HUGHES A BRIDE, ROMANCE PATHETIC.

THE culmination of a pathetic and melodramatic romance centering around the Hotel Trenton, No. 427 South Olive street, has been reached by the marriage of Mrs. Genevieve Hughes to A. G. Jones and the departure of the newly-married couple for a wedding trip, which is to include all of the principal cities of the East.

Charles W. Ward, a young lawyer from Boston, lies buried in a local cemetery, the victim of a self-inflicted bullet. It is said his suicide was the result of an unsuccessful suit for the hand of the fair Mrs. Hughes—though he had no right to sue, as developments showed.

Mrs. Hughes arrived in Los Angeles from Denver several months ago and engaged apartments at the Hotel Trenton. Ward, the young Boston man, came here ostensibly for the benefit of his health, and took rooms at the same hostelry. Ward was particularly reticent regarding his past. He rapidly formed an acquaintance with Mrs. Hughes and many times proposed marriage to her, it is said, but was refused as regularly, though the two were very friendly.

Returning to his room one night four weeks ago, Ward secured a revolver and blew out his brains. After several days had passed his infatuation for Mrs. Hughes became known, and Ward's suicide was generally accepted as the result of disappointed love.

It subsequently became known, however, that the young lawyer had left a wife and family in Boston while searching for health in Southern California.

THOUSANDS OF ZULUS THREATEN COLONIALS.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

DURBAN (Natal) May 11.—Thousands of Zulus from Chief Kula's kraal are reported to be on their way to join the rebel chief Bambaata. Colonial troops are being hurried forward to prevent their junction.

Chief Kula, who is suspected of disaffection and was recently arrested, was placed in jail at Pietermaritzburg this morning. It is presumed that it was the arrest of this chief which led to the rising of his followers.

Natives captured by the Colonial forces report that the witch doctors are sacrificing children in order to render the rebels immune from British bullets. Before a battle they kill a girl and concoct "medicine" from her body, with which the witch doctors anoint the warriors, under the pretense that it renders them invulnerable to white men's arms.

OUTBREAK PREMATURE.

LONDON, May 11.—A Blue Book issued last night gives a dispatch from the Governor of Natal, dated February 13, stating that it had been ascertained that the native outbreak in the Colony was premature and that the unrest which has been observable among the natives for two years, was intended to culminate in simultaneous and concerted action, Ethiopianism being the mainspring of the movement, with the cry of "Africa for the blacks." The dispatch says that all information points to Dinizulu and his supporters as the leading spirits of the movement.

VICE-CONSUL IN ENSENADA JAIL.

BRITISH REPRESENTATIVE HELD AT THAT PLACE.

Two Prisoners in the Case in Which the Stealing of Wheat Seems to Have Been Charged—One of Them Is Known Here as a Straightforward Man.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

ENSENADA (Mex.) May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] J. H. Packard and Percy Hodgson are in jail by order of Judge Cadena of the District Court at Ensenada. No accurate information can be obtained as to why the British Vice-Consul is incarcerated, but it is generally believed that Mr. Packard, who holds that office, refused to take any advantage he might have by reason of his official position if Hodgson were jailed.

The case against these persons seems to have been brought by a farmer in the district, who accused them of stealing some wheat. Mr. Packard is no longer with the Lower California Development Company, against which company the case is brought, but was general manager at the time of the alleged offense.

Up to this time the present management has taken no steps as far as can be learned to procure the discharge of Mr. Hodgson.

Evidently Some Mistake.

Mr. Packard, named in the foregoing dispatch, is well known in this part of the State as a straightforward business man. He is known to be not the kind of a man that would do such a thing as is charged. Evidently the circumstances are such that a technical charge has been lodged against him without having merit in fact.

BECHTEL NOT GUILTY.

MINNEAPOLIS, May 11.—Late this afternoon, the jury in the J. W. Bechtel case brought in a verdict of not guilty. Bechtel was charged with using the funds of the Northwestern National Life Insurance to pay his own personal debts and not keeping an account of the money used in such instances. The defendant was formerly president of the company, and the specific charge against him was that he took $3500 from the concern's treasury to pay a certain fee which he owed.

NEW FIRE INSURANCE RATES.

NEW YORK, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Fire Insurance Exchange went on, today, with its plans to put into effect the new schedule adopted May 4. There is, however, ample support for the belief that the new rates will never be charged. Several conservative fire-insurance men, who voted for the increase, said today that things might happen before the rate books were changed.

HAD $83 WHEN HE CAME TO.

LOGANSPORT (Ind.) May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unable to tell how he got there, or why he came, J. L. West, a wealthy miner of Siskiyou county, Cal., left the Panhandle train, from Chicago, on arrival here today. He says he had $3000 the last he remembers. He had $83 when he regained consciousness. Physicians who examined him corroborate his statement that he does not drink and believe he has been in a trance several days. West's last recollection is of being in San Francisco the day of the earthquake.

INDIANA HAS EARTHQUAKE.

INDIANAPOLIS, May 11.—A special to the News from Petersburg, Ind., says: "Two distinct earthquake shocks were felt here at 12:45 a.m. A low rumble was heard in the west and buildings quivered, windows rattled and dishes rocked. Many people jumped from their beds in fright. The shocks were forty-five seconds apart and the first one was preceded by a vivid flash similar to lightning."

ARIZONA COMMERCIAL STOCK.

BOSTON, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Underwriters for 10,000 new shares of Arizona Commercial stock, rights to which expired yesterday, secured less than 500 shares, the stock being underwritten at par. Present advance in stock from 25 to 28 is due to a strike in the Blackhaw vein on the 400-foot level.

CAMBODIA'S ROYAL TOURIST.

PARIS, May 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Governor of French Indio-China telegraphs from Saigon that the King of Cambodia has sailed for France, accompanied by Prince Sutharot, six other Princes, five Princesses, five grand mandarins, fifty-seven danseuses and forty servants.

CRITIC DEVINE CAUSES DENIAL.

RED CROSS MAN FIGURES IN THE CHARITIES CONFERENCE.

Charge That Managers and Officers of New York Juvenile Asylum Are Indifferent and Ignorant Is Controverted—Delegates Discuss Status of the Girl Morally Tainted.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

PHILADELPHIA, May 11.—At the afternoon section meeting of the National Conference and Charities and Corrections, State boards of charities were discussed, the principal speaker being Prof. David E. Sneadon, assistant professor of education in Leland Stanford University. Prof. Sneadon urged that reports of State boards of charities be compiled for the enlightenment of the average citizens rather than for the scientists and students of social phenomena. Mr. Sneadon gave a number of practical suggestions for making reports along these lines.

Minneapolis has been selected as the next place of meeting, the date to be determined later.

The feature of the night session was the emphatic denial made by Mornay Williams, president of the New York Juvenile Asylum and Children's Village, to certain criticisms made in the annual report of Edward T. Devine, president of the national conference, who is now in San Francisco directing the Red Cross work. President Devine's criticisms related principally to alleged indifference and ignorance of managers and officers of institutions for the care of children as to the cause which have led to the neglect of the children in their care.

"The Delinquent Girl" was discussed today at the opening session. The subject was presented by Miss Vida H. Francis of this city, who said, in part: "A girl morally tainted should obviously not be returned to the scene of her infection, and only in cases of trivial misdemeanor or in the exceptional case of a good moral home can a girl be safely so returned. For her misdemeanor has proven that the home is unable to exert proper influence or power. In placing girls uninfected by the social evil, but of criminal tendencies and guilty of trivial misdemeanors, the danger is that they will not receive an adequate special training. The place for the normal child is in the normal home, but every delinquent needs special, additional care."

CAVE-IN ON MINERS.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, May 11.—By the caving in today of the old workings of a copper mine at Cobre, ten miles west of Santiago, supposed to be due to earthquake shocks, the lives of Superintendent Young and six miners were endangered. All the lights in the tunel were extinguished, and it was only through Superintendent Young's intimate knowledge of the workings that he and others in the mine were enabled to make their escape through the distant openings, exits generally used having been closed by falling rocks and earth. The cave-in occurred beneath the famous Cuban shrine of the Virgin Mary, and slightly damaged the church.

FRENCH DUEL WITHOUT RESULT.

PARIS, May 11.—Lucien Millevoye, editor of the Patrie, of this city, and a Nationalist member of the Chamber of Deputies, fought a duel with pistols today with Count Mathieu de Noailles, as a result of the exciting street encounter which took place between them on May 9, when Millevoye broke his cane over the Count's head. Pistols were used and two shots were exchanged at twenty-five paces, but the two shots were without result.

JEROME HAS MISSING BOOKS.

NEW YORK, May 11.—According to today's Herald some of the account books of the purchasing and supply department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company which disappeared during the legislative insurance investigation and which, it is believed will throw much light on the large disbursements made by Andrew C. Fields when he was head of that department, are now in the possession of Dist.-Atty. Jerome and will be used by him in his inquiry before the special jury.

TURKEY SEEKS ARRANGEMENT.

Amicable Settlement With England Likely.

British Naval Preparations Are Maturing.

Violent Issue May Result in a "Holy War."

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, May 12.—Diplomatic activity seems to foreshadow an amicable settlement of the Tabah difficulty. Both at London and Constantinople, Turkey is seeking to make an arrangement.

The Grand Vizier was to have had an interview with Sir Nicholas O'Conor, the British Ambassador at Constantinople, at 11 o'clock last night.

The latest dispatches from Constantinople state that Foreign Minister Tewfik Pasha, the Grand Vizier, and other of the Sultan's advisers counsel yielding to the British demands.

It is understood that the decision now rests with the Sultan, who is said to have ordered all the documents on the subject translated into Arabic to enable him to pass upon them.

Meanwhile, the British naval preparations are maturing.

A dispatch from Athens announces that the Mediterranean fleet, under Vice-Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, is ready for immediate departure. Prince Henry of Battenberg's cruiser squadron left Phalerum Bay last night for an unknown destination.

The great size of the British fleet in Turkish waters is due to the probable necessity of providing landing parties should Turkey continue obdurate.

INSTRUCTIONS SECRET.

The nature of Lord Beresford's instructions is kept secret, but it is practically certain that there will be no attempt to force the Dardanelles or to make a demonstration before Constantinople. Lord Beresford has several light torpedo boats and cruisers.

Wilford Blunt, who has thirty years' intimate knowledge of the Sinai Peninsula, has written to Foreign Minister Grey, protesting against the dispatch of the ultimatum to Turkey, on the ground that the British case is much less strong than has been supposed and that an attempt to press the matter to a violent issue would be at the risk of a religious quarrel of indefinite magnitude with the whole body of Mohammedans.

The term fixed by the British ultimatum to Turkey expires at midnight Sunday. In the event of the Sultan proving obdurate, active coercive measures will commence immediately on the expiration of the period of grace. Full instructions have been sent to Vice-Admiral Lord Beresford.

The Turkish Ambassador today had a lengthy interview with Earl Grey.

FLASHES FROM WIRES.

Gov. Pardee has declared Saturday, May 12, a legal holiday.

Bishop Falleries, a cousin of the President of France, is dead.

At Minneapolis, final arguments were made yesterday in the case of W. F. Bechtel, formerly president of the Northwestern National Life Insurance Company, and the case went to the jury.

The Southern Baptist convention met at Chattanooga yesterday for its fiftieth annual session. There are 5000 delegates and visitors present. E. W. Stephens was unanimously elected president.

"The belief is strengthening in official Cairo circles that a satisfactory settlement will be reached in the Tabah boundary dispute between Egypt and Turkey.

Frederick W. Whitbridge of New York, appointed by President Roosevelt to represent the United States at the wedding of King Alfonso, was presented to King Edward at Buckingham Palace yesterday by Ambassador Reid.

I. B. McMahill, who was convicted several months ago of embezzling funds, as secretary of the San José Chamber of Commerce, and who has since been in jail awaiting action on his appeal, was released yesterday, in bonds of $2000.

The Madrid newspapers yesterday announced that all the powers signatory of the Algeciras convention have accepted the shares in the state bank of Morocco which have been allotted to them, except the United States, which refused to participate.

Judge Brown, in Common Pleas Court, Dayton, O., yesterday overruled the motion for a new trial in the case of Dr. Oliver C. Haugh, convicted of the murder of his parents and brother, and sentenced him to be electrocuted August 29.

Fighting off two nurses and his wife, Lew Wilson, a wealthy business man of Fresno, S. D., threw himself from the second-story window of a Sioux City hospital yesterday and was killed. This was his third attempt at suicide within two weeks. Business troubles are given as the cause.

James B. Felker, Treasurer of Newburyport, Mass., who was arrested Thursday night, charged with embezzlement from the city treasury, admitted yesterday that his accounts are short not less than $85,000. The greater portion of the money, he said, was invested in mining stocks.

The German Ambassador at Constantinople, according to the correspondent there of the London Standard, has demanded damages for the detention of the German sailing ship Odysseus by the Turkish authorities, recently, the punishment of the responsible officials and an apology.

At San José the three departments of the Superior Court met yesterday morning and again adjourned for one week, having decided that it is better not to risk the illegality of proceedings by holding sessions during the time in which holidays are being announced from day to day by the Governor.

A London cable says Mr. Haldane, Secretary of State, has appointed a strong committee under the chairmanship of Viscount Escher to consider how best to organize the auxiliary forces of Great Britain into a territorial army. The committee includes a number of civilians and prominent military officers.

Following the announcement of W. B. Hornblower's resignation as a trustee of the New York Life Insurance Company comes the statement, published yesterday, that Oscar S. Strauss, formerly United States Minister to Turkey, will refuse to stand for re-election to the company's governing board. Mr. Strauss has been a trustee many years.

THE YELLOWSTONE UNCHANGED

ST. PAUL, May 11.—Assistant General Passenger Agent Smith of the Northern Pacific Railroad today gave out an emphatic denial of the reports that the recent earthquake shocks which wrecked San Francisco had materially changed the aspect of Yellowstone Park.

C. W. POMEROY NEAR CENTURY MARK AT HIS DEATH.

"Oldest Odd Fellow in California" Was Title Given to Patriarch Who Had Been Member of the Order for Sixty Years—Was a Veteran of the Black Hawk War.

"The oldest Odd Fellow in California" is the claim made for Charles Watrous Pomeroy, who died yesterday morning at the age of 98 years, one month and three days.

He had been a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows for sixty years, having joined it in 1846, soon after its organization. He had held many positions of honor and importance in the order, being a member of the Encampment, the Rebekahs and the Veteran Odd Fellows. He organized Garden City Lodge at San José and gave it this name, which afterward was adopted for the city.

Charles Watrous Pomeroy was born April 8, 1808, in Meridan, Montgomery county, N. Y. His early youth was spent in that State and in 1833 he went to Michigan, then considered the extreme western border of civilization. He helped organize Michigan into military districts to withstand the ravages of hostile Indians. In the Black Hawk War he was captain of a company of volunteers. From Michigan he went to Mishawaka, Ind., remaining until 1843, when he started for California.

Mr. Pomeroy arrived in San Francisco on January 21, 1850, and soon went into the northern mining regions. On his return to San Francisco he became manager of the famous Lassen ranch in the Sacramento Valley.

Going to Sacramento three years later he joined Theodore P. Judah in building the Sacramento Valley Railway, now a part of the Southern Pacific.

For twenty-seven years after 1854 he made his home at San José, serving respectively as County Treasurer, member of the Board of Education and member of the City Council. On the formation of the Bank of San José he became its treasurer. Twelve years ago he retired from active business and came to Los Angeles to make his home with his son, A. E. Pomeroy.

Mr. Pomeroy was married in 1833 at Albany, N. Y., to Cornelia Valentine. There were born eight children, three of whom are living—A. E. Pomeroy and George Pomeroy of Los Angeles, and Edgar Pomeroy of San José.

Notwithstanding his advanced age, Mr. Pomeroy had the full use of all his faculties until his death, maintaining a keen interest in the events of the day. Recently he had been suffering from a severe cold, and for the past two days prior to his death had kept to his room.

Yesterday morning, however, he was able to dress and move about the house, and the end came unexpectedly while he was resting in a chair.

Funeral services will be held at the Pomeroy residence, No. 217 West Adams street, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. Robert McIntyre will officiate. The body will be taken to San José, where services will be held on Monday, the Odd Fellows having charge. Interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, San José, which the deceased laid out in 1855.

An Overloaded Scapegoat.

LOS ANGELES, May 11.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is rumored about the city that Mr. Lowenthal, manager of the Hearst paper, whom you refer to, somewhat frivolously, as "Uncle Heine," is about to be fired by Willie Randolph in atonement for the pestiferous policy pursued by that journal ever since it was inflicted upon Los Angeles.

Is it possible that Mr. Hearst has but just learned what the Los Angeles end of his continental fake factory has been doing for the last year? Has he been unaware of its editorial course all this time? Has the Los Angeles Examiner been a Hearst paper, booming little Willie and carrying out his journalistic policy, or has it been Uncle Heine's personal organ?

When the Examiner set out to knock the Owens River project and stop the growth of Los Angeles, was Mr. Hearst left in ignorance of what it was up to? When his manager in New York offered to bet ten to one that the Owens River bond issue would be defeated by the voters of Los Angeles, was he expressing the boss's disapproval of the anti-bond campaign carried on by the Los Angeles edition of his syndicated sewer? Is it possible that the owner of the sheet never knew that it sneered at the city and county consolidation idea and tried to queer it by calling it a "Greater Los Angeles" boom?

Has little Willie, who has been here ever since the San Francisco earthquake, just discovered that his paper tried to knock the Fiesta and clamored for its abandonment?

Was it Uncle Heine who daubed the name of Hearst over every movement for the relief of San Francisco and claimed for Hearst the credit of every dollar subscribed, every blanket, bib and diddie sent to the earthquake refugees?

Did Uncle Heine send Billsticker Mills to Oakland to put up fake Hearst signs over public relief camps?

Was it Uncle Heine who printed in Hearst's Chicago paper the story that Los Angeles had been destroyed and thousands of her people killed by an earthquake that never occurred?

In short, is it Uncle Heine or William Randolph Hearst who has made the Hearst newspapers from one end of the country to the other a public nuisance and a pest?

Mr. Lowenthal may seem to Mr. Hearst to be a convenient scapegoat, but I doubt that the old gentleman's back is broad enough to pack the load of putridity, stupidity, fake, fraud and nauseating self-laudation that goes with responsibility for the putrescent policy of the Hearst papers.

It has been all well enough to poke fun at Uncle Heine, but behind him all the time has stood Hearst, responsible for and approving his acts. And now Hearst thinks to curry favor with the outraged and disgusted people of Los Angeles by unloading his hired man and repudiating, like a coward, all that Uncle Heine has done in his service. Perhaps the business men of Los Angeles are such besotted imbeciles as to be caught with that sort of bait, but I should hate to believe it. How about it?

MERCHANT.

Los Angeles, May 10, 1906.

Galveston and San Francisco.

LOS ANGELES, May 10.—It occurs to me that the San Francisco earthquake has been greatly exaggerated. I do not mean to say that there was not a great disaster from fire resulting from the earthquake, but I do say that the damage from the earthquake itself was insignificant compared to that of the Galveston hurricane. The great damage, of course, was by fire, and any large city is liable to have a big fire as all know who remember the Chicago and Baltimore fires.

The Galveston storm became very severe late in the afternoon and by night had assumed the proportions of a hurricane which lasted throughout the night. The city was situated on an island with the Gulf of Mexico on one side and the bay four to eight miles wide on the other. The hurricane came from the Gulf and caused the waves to overflow the whole city from five to twenty feet deep except a small part of it. The wind and waves came with such terrific force as to demolish every dwelling and other building on the Gulf side from one-fourth to one-half mile from the beach, and the débris was piled up in a huge pile, one to two hundred feet wide and thirty to forty feet high entirely across the city, and this débris was full of dead people.

The earth was swept so clean and the streets were so completely obliterated that the oldest inhabitants, on the next morning, could not tell where their dwellings had stood. Slate roofs and timbers were hurled with such force as to kill a great many people. It was one roaring, howling, seething caldron, as it were, during the whole night with not one ray of light except such light as was afforded by the vivid flashes of lightning.

Think of 20,000 or 40,000 people battling with the wind and waves throughout a whole night of impenetrable darkness amid the screams and wails of mothers for their separated and drowning children, and children for their parents. Whole families were completely swept away. The most conservative estimate ever placed upon the number of dead was five thousand, but it was always believed that the number was nearer seven thousand. The ground was so completely saturated with water that it was impossible to dig a grave, and hence the dead were gathered up by the hundreds, placed on boats and carried out with weights about them and dumped into the sea, while hundreds of others were burned. This course was necessary to prevent the stench and an epidemic of disease.

To one who witnessed the terrible destruction of life in the Galveston disaster, soon after it occurred, as the writer did, the San Francisco catastrophe pales into insignificance. There was more property destroyed in San Francisco, it is true, and there are more homeless and helpless people perhaps, but of the awful horror and dreadfulness of the two disasters there is no comparison. It occurs to the writer that there is too much of an attempt on the part of some individuals to portray the dreadfulness of the San Francisco misfortune, and that it is calculated to unduly injure not only San Francisco, but the whole State as well. Let us remember that many other places have had much more horrible disasters and fully recovered from them. Why not San Francisco with all its wealth and wonderful resources? Quite a number of cyclones have been as destructive to life as was the earthquake itself. San Francisco is not the only place that has been unfortunate, and it seems well at this time to remind ourselves of this fact.

IGORROTES SAYING GOOD-BY.

Dog-Eating Brown Men of Bontoc Have Been Seen Here by Ninety Thousand People.

The Igorrotes, that famous band of heathen dog-eaters from the province of Bontoc, P. I., who have delighted over half of the population of Los Angeles at Chutes Park, will fold their tents next week and hie themselves to Chicago.

Sunday night will be the last opportunity of seeing these fat, sleek-looking little brown men. After that the village will be broken up, the stock of edibles consisting principally of "dog," will be packed on sledges, and the departure will begin.

Wednesday night, when the leader of the Santa Fé pack train choo-choos into La Grande station, Mayors Domingo, Anauasal and Molino will assemble their braves and start for the Windy City.

Propitious has been the stay of these brown men in Los Angeles. When Col. Hamner, receiving officer of the government, came to this city a few days ago to examine them, he pronounced them in the best of physical condition. "Los Angeles dog has agreed with these fellows," he said.

The Igorrotes have been in Los Angeles for 149 days, or since December 15. They have "showed" to over 90,000 people, and have been a splendid attraction.

There are eighteen men and seven women in the party. R. Schneiderwind, who has spent a number of years in the Far East insular possessions of the United States, is manager of the company showing the Igorrotes.

A friendly call upon Mayor McAleer was made yesterday by Chiefs Domingo, Anauasal and Molingo, the Mayors of Igorrote towns, but the big white chief was not in his office.

Manager Schneiderwind stole a march upon the S.P.C.A. of Los Angeles a few days ago when he held a real dog feast for the Igorrotes.

Chief Anauasal was sick, and the only "medicine" that would cure that ancient and honorable brownie was a canine feast.

Mr. Schneiderwind says he likes dog meat when well cooked, but the appearance of a large piece of the coat of the Newfoundland used in the feast as a delicacy par excellence taxed his staying qualities to the uttermost.

NEARLY TEN THOUSAND PAIRS OF SHOES

GO AT LESS THAN HALF PRICE AT THE MAMMOTH, 519 SOUTH BROADWAY.

The purchase of the big shoe stock from Al Rosenbush & Co. and the selling of them at about half price has caused thousands of people to flock to the big busy "Mammoth," 519 S. Broadway. There will be some special inducements for the people today. A big lot of ladies' very fine hand made shoes, formerly $3 to $5 values, go on the bargain tables for 98c a pair. Ladies' good styles in $3 shoes on sale for $1.50 a pair. Men's $3.50 to $5 shoes on sale for $1.95. Hundreds upon hundreds of different kinds and styles are on sale at half and sometimes less than half price. This is a great money-saving opportunity. The Mammoth never disappointed anybody. Everybody will get a bargain. Come today. Bring the children. Plenty of special bargains in children's shoes. All shoes will be fitted, exchanged, and money back. Extra salesmen will meet your wants promptly and everything will be ready for a banner shoe day today at the Mammoth, 519 S. Broadway, between Fifth and Sixth streets.

BIG SENTENCE FOR GAMBLING.

TUCSON MAN DEFIES THE LOCAL ORDINANCES.

Endeavors to Start Roulette Game but Is Brought Up With Round Turn and Assessed Heavy Fines and Ordered to Spend Two Hundred and Seventy Days in Jail.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

TUCSON (Ariz.) May 10.—If the sentence of the city court be sustained, Homer K. Dubois, will serve 270 days in jail and pay fines aggregating $1350, all because he chose to defy the local gambling ordinances in his attempt to restore roulette as one of the local sources of diversion.

Dubois appealed to the District Court for a writ of habeas corpus, but it was denied by Judge Campbell. Now it is announced that he will send to Chief Justice Kent at Phoenix for relief along the same line and that he will appeal to the Supreme Court of the Territory if denied relief.

"Billy" Reid, one of the pioneer gamblers of the Territory, arrested for being a player at the Dubois game, is understood to have had enough and to be willing to pay the fine of $300 assessed against him.

ATTACKS BUREAU.

In an argument made before the District Court in Tucson, Attorney W. J. Kirkpatrick referred to the Immigration Bureau of the Treasury Department as "a government horde, hounding Chinamen." He also inducted public interest in his address by averring that Judge Campbell, in whose court the case was being heard, had said, before his assumption of the judicial ermine, that he "would not believe a Chinaman under oath." The judge assured the attorney he was laboring under a misapprehension, but the statements were repeated.

GAMBLERS HELD UP.

Arnulfo Peralta "held up" the players at a poker game in one of the meaner saloons of Tucson, nervously handling a revolver with one hand while with the other he ransacked the pockets of his victims. The robbery was in broad daylight, yet the robber made his escape with his swag, which was little. He was found soon after, however, and now is to be addressed at the county prison.

TUCSON NOTES.

Thomas Carna, while under the influence of the ruddy wine, thought it sport to knock the driver of the Helvetia stage from his seat and to drive the stage on into Vail's station. Then he began to have a different view of his pleasantry, for he was promptly arrested for interfering with the United States mails.

At the Gould mine, Felipe Valcnzuela was killed yesterday in a shaft by the dropping of a drill from a descending bucket.

An unknown tramp was found yesterday in the Southern Pacific Railroad yard, badly bruised and with one arm cut off by car wheels. He died from loss of blood, before the hospital could be reached.

The Tucson Carpenters' Union has issued a ukase fixing wages after June 1 at $4.50 a day of eight hours.

About four miles of track has been laid on the Tucson & Twin Buttes Railroad. The line is to be finished July 4, and dedicated by a grand celebration at the mining camp, to which all of Tucson has been invited by the promoter, former Mayor Rose of Milwaukee.

A brewery is to be started in Tucson very soon by Ennis T. Raddant of Shawano, Wis., who is to be backed by $100,000 of local capital. The primary reason for the building of a brewery here is dissatisfaction at the conditions that have raised the price of the foamy beverage to ten cents a glass.

Ever since the Territorial University was established at Tucson, its "preparatory department" has been, in effect, a high school for the youth of this city. This condition is to be changed. The regents of the institution have resolved formally that hereafter no student shall be admitted to the preparatory department from cities of over 5000 population, who shall not have completed the studies of the ninth grade, which is the first of the High School grades. In consequence, Tucson will have a ninth grade in her schools next year. A year hence it is expected that the university will raise the requirements still another year till, finally, it will have eliminated high school courses from its curriculum.

W. C. Greene has returned from a trip into Sonora, very sick with inflammatory rheumatism, and has gone for recuperation to Hot Springs, Ark.

GOVERNOR EXTENDS THANKS.

ARIZONA'S WORK APPRECIATED.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

PHOENIX (Ariz.) May 10.—In a letter addressed to Acting Gov. Nichols, Gov. Pardee of California has rendered what is locally considered handsome acknowledgment of the spirit shown by Arizona in reference to the San Francisco catastrophe. In his letter the Governor says:

"I must drop you a line to thank you for a copy of the proclamation issued by you calling upon the people of Arizona to stand by the people of California in their hour of misfortune. The magnificent response with which your call met is something which California will not soon forget, and, if ever an emergency should arise making it necessary for Arizona to ask or receive help, you can count on the gratitude of the people of this State. You have our heartfelt thanks for what Arizona has done for San Francisco and our other cities which suffered from the earthquake and fire."

In all parts of Arizona the relief committees are closing up their work. The result shows that the estimated amount of $100,000 will be approximated very closely. From Bisbee has gone an additional contribution of $1200, given by the miners in the Calumet and Arizona property. The sum of the contributions from the miners of Bisbee exceeds $5000.

The contributions of cash from Williams reached about $1200, about $4000 more than the town had been credited with. A small logging camp near Flagstaff added $60 to the fund.

The Knights of Pythias of Arizona raised $800 relief money in the Territorial lodges. The Odd Fellows have sent $1000 to Grand Warden F. B. Ogden, at Oakland, for the relief of their California brethren and expect to send as much more very soon. Of the amount already raised, $250 came from Bisbee, $168 from Douglas, $120 from Kingman and $100 from Clifton.

An entertainment by the Tucson lodge of Rebekahs added $100 to the fund. The Tucson lodge of Workmen gave $300. Tucson Masonic bodies contributed $490, of which $170 was sent to Grand Master M. H. Flint and the balance to the Knights Templar relief fund.

Both the Catholic and Episcopal churches are raising special funds in Arizona for the relief of their denominations in San Francisco.

Even yet contributions of clothing and of baby linen are going from Arizona towns to San Francisco, sent by express.

Surveyor-General Ingalls has sent the Surveyor-General at San Francisco a full outfit of blanks and official stationery, with which to recommence business.

MINES AND MINING.

ALL DIGGING AFTER GOLD.

NEW STRIKES AT MANHATTAN ARE REPORTED.

Rush Work on Many Mines and Veins of Ore Are Reached of Good Values—Electric Plant for New Town—Eastern Capital Seeking Investment in Camp.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

MANHATTAN (Nev.) May 5.—About two weeks ago a contract was let on the property of the Manhattan Nevada Gold Mines, at Central, to run a drift fifty feet from the bottom of the company shaft on the Georgey No. 2. The shaft is down 77 feet, and the drift has been driven eighteen feet toward the big ledge which outcrops boldly on the surface of the property.

Already three veins have been encountered, cross-cutting the formation, and all of them pan free gold. The first vein was struck at a distance of ten feet in, and was found to be about eight inches of brown oxidized sugar quartz, running high in gold.

The second vein was encountered at eleven feet, and is three feet in width. It is a conglomerate of quartzite and quartz, and pans free gold in good quantity.

The third vein has just been encountered in the face of the drift, is about three feet wide, and consists of a white quartz, heavily mineralized, containing splendid values in gold.

The Root lease on Georgey No. 2 is promising. A two and a half foot vein of honeycomb quartz has been uncovered, which yields good values in gold, and pans very well.

On the Nemo claim, northwest of the Georgey group of the Manhattan Nevada Gold Mines, and adjoining, a strong ledge has been encountered, and is no doubt an extension of the Georgey vein. Values as high as $270 per ton have been found on this property.

An electric lighting plant, to supply electricity to the town of Manhattan, is being erected within a few feet from the Georgey ground, and electricity for mining purposes will be close at hand at all times.

The tunnel on the property of the Consolidated Manhattan, at East Manhattan, is now in the hill nearly forty feet, and the face of the tunnel is all in ore. The tunnel is cross-cutting the 300-foot ledge which traverses the company's holdings, and will open up all the rich pay shoots in this gigantic, high-mineralized ore body.

A wagon road has just been completed to the property, and when ore is struck, it will be an easy matter to load teams at the mouth of the tunnel, and transport it to the mills.

Development work is being actively prosecuted on the property of the Manhattan Buffalo Mining Company, adjoining the Consolidated Manhattan. Twenty-seven men, working three shifts, are at present engaged in removing ore from two shafts that have been driven on the same big ledge that crosses the Consolidated Manhattan.

A contract has just been awarded to George E. Austin to drive the tunnel on the property of the Manhattan Mother Lode Mining Company one hundred feet. When this contract is fulfilled, the tunnel will be in the mountain 166 feet, and before that depth has been reached it will pierce two of the ledges which have been uncovered on the surface above the mouth of the tunnel.

The face of the tunnel is at present in the hill sixty-six feet, and two veins have already been encountered, both yielding good gold values. It is the intention of the company to start a shaft on one of the ledges near the crest of the hill, and follow this ledge down until the pay shoot is struck.

The property of the Manhattan Cowboy has been the scene of many important strikes, and has become widely known. Eastern people have been trying to secure a large block of the stock of this company, but this was not verified until Isaac Baum, an engineer of New York and Pittsburgh, came to the camp in the interests of Glass & Myer, Pittsburgh brokers, to inspect the Manhattan Cowboy property. He also represents other eastern capital ready to invest in the Cowboy property upon receiving a favorable report.

Prospecting work that has been carried on by the Manhattan Express Mining Company has been successful during the past week. By diligent work in trenching, five ledges have been uncovered, and gold values have been obtained from some of them. One of the ledges uncovered contains a mixture of porphyritic quartz and quartzite, and much energy is being devoted to the opening up of this ledge, seeking for a pay shoot on which to sink a shaft.

Trenching is also being done along the line of contact between the porphyry and schist, with very good results. Values have been found in this contact, but the company will thoroughly prospect until a likely spot is found to concentrate their efforts.

OUT OF POISE.

American Trade With Brazil Too One-Sided.

LOS ANGELES May 10.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Though American trade with Brazil is worth $110,000,000 a year, and is only exceeded by our trade with Great Britain, Germany, France, Canada and Cuba, yet it is a one-sided trade, the wrong way for us. We buy from Brazil each year about ten times as much as we sell to that country. For instance, in 1906, we bought $99,343,094 worth of Brizilian products, while Brazil bought only $10,985,096 worth of American goods. True, the products we buy from Brazil are of a character not produced in continental United States, but still other countries, and our own dependencies, which produce some or all of the same products as does Brazil, are giving us a comparatively better deal. Argentina for instance, sold us in 1905, $15,534,901, but bought from us $23,564,066. From Brazil's standpoint is the fact that of her $130,000,000 total imports, all but less than $11,000,000 of the business is given to countries other than the United States, while of her exports of $192,000,000 to $195,000,000 yearly, she succeeds in selling nearly $100,000,000 a year to the United States. If that is not a one-sided deal in favor of Brazil, nothing is. The figures quoted are those of the Department of Commerce and Labor, just issued through the Bureau of Statistics.

Here is what we bought of Brazil last year:

Coffee	$64,000,000
India rubber	28,500,000
Hides and skins	2,750,000
Sugar	1,250,000
Cocoa	1,250,000

See how our coffee imports from Brazil have grown:

Year.	Pounds.
1890	310,000,000
1895	425,000,000
1900	556,000,000
1905	820,000,000

For twenty years our purchases from Brazil have seldom fallen below $50,000,000 a year (and not as low as that for several recent years,) while Brazil's purchases from us have materially decreased. For instance, $15,165,079 sales to Brazil in 1895, and only $10,985,096 in 1905, a decrease of one-third in ten years. The decrease is chiefly in provisions, such as bacon, flour and lard. In manufactures, too, Brazil is giving us the "go-by." Locomotives, $1,648,000 in 1895, and only $117,000 in 1905. A heavy drop from $1,594,000 to $745,000 in cotton cloth.

Here is what we chiefly sold Brazil in 1905:

Mineral oil	$2,456,645
Flour	1,225,565
Lumber	621,423
Locomotives	117,096
Other steam engines	105,783
Sewing machines	142,165
Other machinery	663,540
Agricultural implements	151,715
Cotton cloths, colored	562,572
Cotton cloths, uncolored	183,090

Now note the money Brazil has made out of us, for excess balances of trade in thirty-eight years, 1867 to 1905:

Bought of Brazil, 1867 to 1905	$2,158,095,230
Sold to Brazil, 1867 to 1905	972,707,684
American money paid Brazil	$1,785,387,546

It is true that Brazil is a country of large and largely undeveloped natural resources, and of considerable energy, but the fact remains that American money to the tune of $47,000,000 a year for thirty-eight years, has been a main, if not the main, factor in keeping that country going.

Why should we not insist on some kind of a trade arrangement with Brazil by which our manufactures and products should have a preference in her markets to an extent greater than 11 per cent. of her imports, while we are buying more than half of her exports? The point is worthy of consideration.

also paid his respects to the unsympathetic woman.

"A hard, unfeeling man is bad enough," he said, "but a stony-hearted woman is a monster; an unpatriotic woman is an abomination. Sham is contemptible, but the real is glorious, and the existence of sham is the best proof in the world that somewhere is the real thing. A mother who is not tender and true, no matter how much she cries under the preaching, is not a real woman."

At the night session an address was delivered by Rev. F. G. H. Stevens of Santa Monica, under the title: "Mary hath chosen that good part," and the final adjournment was taken after a most impressive consecration service.

RELIGIOUS BRIEFS.

CONGREGATIONAL CONGRESS.

The Pacific Coast Congregational Congress will open in the First Congregational Church on Wednesday evening and will continue in session eight days. Tomorrow morning Rev. William Horace Day will make the congress the subject of his sermon, and answer the question: "What is it for?" In the evening Dr. Warren F. Day will preach from the topic: "If I Were a Boy Again."

Rev. F. G. H. Stevens will address the veterans in Memorial Hall at the Soldiers' Home this afternoon at 1:30. His subject will be: "One Hundred per cent. Pure."

"More Wonderful than Fiction," will be the subject of an address by Miss Glenn Will, before the Young Woman's Christian Association at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The closing exercises of the educational department will commence on Monday evening.

Prof. Aylmer Harding of Chicago will deliver a lecture before the men's meeting at the Y.M.C.A. on Sunday afternoon at 3:30. He is a noted lecturer and his topic will be: "Steps to Spiritual Power." The meeting is free to men.

The seventeenth anniversary of the Epworth League will be celebrated in the First Methodist Church on Sunday evening, when addresses will be made by Oscar Schirmer, president of the local league; Oliver Clark and Jay Tinney. The subject of the latter will be: "What Christ Can Do for Young People," and that of Mr. Clark, "A Christian's Good Times." There will be a vocal duet by Prof. Harry Barnhart and Mrs. Plummer, and a song by the Chinese Epworth League.

Rev. Charles A. King of Chicago, who was in San Francisco during the great calamity, will deliver a thrilling stereopticon lecture in Olivet Congregational Church on Washington street this evening.

YACHT RACING.

South Coast Club Will Entertain With Smoker Tonight and Boat Race Sunday Week.

The present season of yacht racing in the waters adjacent to this city will be formally opened this evening with a smoker at the house of the South Coast Yacht Club, Terminal, and during the evening the members will discuss the business of the year and particularly the building of the new clubhouse along the bluff of the outer harbor.

The first race of the season will be sailed off Terminal on the afternoon of Sunday, May 20, and will be open to A, B and C class cabin sloops and will be for the championship of the club. It will be over a triangular twelve-mile course from the landing place of the club, four miles to windward to a point off the breakwater; thence four miles before the wind to a point off Long Beach and thence over a four-mile reach back to the starting point, leaving all stake boats on the port side.

The race has special interest for local yachtsmen, owing to the fact that three new boats will enter, it in Hanson's Mischief II, Wedgewood's Skidoo and Pugh's Monsoon. These boats are designed on different lines and there is naturally considerable curiosity among the sports as to which model will prove superior for the general work cut out by the race.

MEN

We Are Specialists for Varicocele, Hydrocele, Stricture, Piles, Fistula, Blood Diseases, Contracted Diseases, Private Diseases, Loss of Vital Power, Kidney and Bladder Troubles.

Our Position

We have no department store prices to advertise in our work. Our charges are the lowest possible for thorough, expert treatment. We have never known of an able physician who advertised a certain price for curing any disease. When a patient comes to us we cheerfully give him a FREE consultation and give him our prices for an absolute cure, which will be as reasonable as an honest, able doctor can do. We furnish all medicine free. We have been here 13 years, and we feel that any man needing work in our specialty should see us.

All ailing men should consult none but the best. Men of mediocre ability and little experience are many and easily found—but should not be consulted. DR. HARRISON'S qualifications are ability, experience and reliability.

Stricture

Pain is entirely eliminated under our treatment we have solely developed and perfected for the cure of stricture, thus doing away with the use of a knife, and leaves the urinary passage in a healthy condition, doing away with all irritation and congestion of the kidneys and bladder.

Chronic Troubles

Of men are treated by thorough, scientific and skillful methods that result happily in curable cases. There is no guess-work, no experimenting; our work is based on a thorough knowledge of our business.

Contracted Disorders

Every curable case is given thorough and reliable treatment; when we pronounce a patient cured he may be assured that there is not a particle of infection or inflammation remaining and there is not the slightest danger that the disease will return in its original form or affect the general system.

Varicocele

Varicocele cannot be cured by absorption, electric belts, external application or internal remedy; but Varicocele can be cured by Dr. Harrison's method, which is absolutely guaranteed by a written contract to cure the Varicocele or he pay. Do not pay a dollar for a cure of Varicocele unless you have that kind of a contract. Call and interview Dr. Harrison; he will gladly explain his method and refer you to many prominent men he has cured.

Our Medical Folder Free

Downstairs at our entrance, 202½ South Broadway, you can help yourself to our medical folder; an extensive description of our special work is given. It contains full information. If you live out of the city, write for one.

"Weakness"

This trouble—the bane of men of all ages—we treat successfully in curable cases. Our treatment is direct, effective and relief sure to follow. We take pleasure in making clear to every man who calls for consultation the cause, the course and the outcome of this particular case. There is no charge for consultation.

Chronic Diseases of the Heart, Stomach, Liver and Kidneys

Pains in the back, shortness of breath, constipation, bloating, belching, or sour eructations, yellow skin, wasting of flesh, lack of ambition, nausea or sick stomach, blind or dizzy spells, tongue coated, bad taste in the mouth, no relish for food, fluttering of the heart, highly colored urine—these are the symptoms that indicate a diseased condition of the heart, stomach, liver and kidneys. The treatment as administered by these physicians corrects the functions of these four organs of the body.

MEN

I AM NOT AFRAID to exert myself in your behalf. This is why I am SUCCESSFUL.

Weakness

Decline of functional activity, strength and vitality is nearly always traceable to a disturbance of the functions of the reproductive system. Under my treatment functional equilibrium is restored, the nerve irritation reduced, the circulation is increased and strength renewed. My cures are absolute and permanent.

Varicocele Cured in 4 to 6 Days

Many men have treated for varicocele by the common methods used and have hoped that nature would assist in re-establishing a natural physiological condition, but not one to my knowledge have had their hopes realized. Failure is sure to follow such methods as have been employed for the past many years. Varicocele deprives many of strength which they can ill afford to lose.

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

NEWS AND BUSINESS.

Miss Yaw at Covina.

Miss Ellen Beach Yaw, the talented young soprano, who for the past two years has been singing in opera in the principal cities of Europe, will pass her summer vacation at the orange ranch of her brother-in-law, Ben F. Thorpe, at Covina.

Murphy Meeting.

Francis Murphy will talk in Blanchard Hall tomorrow night at 7:45 o'clock, taking as his subject, "The New Power." Charles Lamb has general charge of the music, and solos will be given by Mrs. Fred H. Dorn and I. M. Pierson.

Osteopaths to Entertain.

Freshmen and juniors of the Pacific College of Osteopathy will entertain their friends tonight in the social halls of the college building, Mission road and Daly street. Mrs. Ella Ballard Hanna will sing and several selections will be given by the Occidental College quartette. An orchestra will play.

A Negative Steal.

C. Brandenberg, alias J. C. Hamilton, alias C. Goudy, was arrested yesterday charged with stealing a camera from J. T. Tubb, No. 2912 South Flower street. The police have information which leads them to believe he is wanted in Deming, N. M., and also in Texas.

Will Fill Vacancies.

The Republican County Central Committee will meet at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Republican League rooms on South Spring street, for the purpose of filling vacancies in the organization, caused by the creation of new precincts and by the removal of certain members from their original precincts.

Committees Appointed.

W. J. Washburn, president of the Chamber of Commerce, has appointed a committee to assume charge of the entertainment of the Utah Press Association, which will arrive in this city on Monday, April 16. A. W. Skinner is the chairman. The Los Angeles Press Club also has its committee, Paul Kelty being chairman.

Car Bumps Mail Wagon.

Emert Hubbard, while driving a United States mail wagon last night near the Postoffice, collided with a Tropico car and was thrown with great force to the pavement. At the Receiving Hospital it was found that he had sustained a severe laceration of the scalp, and a dislocated shoulder. Hubbard lives at Pasadena. His wagon was partially demolished.

Caught in the Wheels.

Nicholas Kuglis, a lad employed as a helper in a printing office, was injured yesterday afternoon by being caught in the wheels of a printing press about which he was working. The boy's left leg was severely lacerated. He was taken to the Receiving Hospital, where his injuries were dressed, and afterward removed to his home, No. 129 East Fourth street.

Breaks His Leg.

Simon Graf, No. 205 Geary street, employed as a teamster by the C. Ganahl Lumber Company, sustained a fracture of the left leg in a runaway accident yesterday afternoon. At Boyle avenue and St. Louis street his team became frightened at a passing car and ran away. He was thrown from his seat and landed on his feet, but in such a way as to break the bones just above the ankle.

Appeal Delayed.

The appeal of the case involving the validity of the "initiative" provision of the city charter is not yet before the Supreme Court, as was supposed, the delay being due to extensions of time granted by the attorneys to each other on both sides in the preparation of their briefs. This delay has nothing to do with the proclamation of legal holidays by the Governor, as this highest State court can render decisions any day, and has been doing so right along.

Bernhardt Arrangements.

Arrangements are being rapidly perfected for the coming of Sarah Bernhardt to Venice, next week. Last evening her mechanical force visited the Venice Auditorium, and pronounced its fittings and size well adapted for the purposes of the Bernhardt company. Next Thursday night Mme. Bernhardt's private car, which was loaned her as a testimonial of appreciation by the Vanderbilt family, will be switched to the far end of the Venice pier, there to remain during her local engagement.

COLD FACTS.

1. Los Angeles is more than 400 miles away from the scene of the disturbance which has laid San Francisco in ruins, partly by earthquake shock, but chiefly by fire. Only a slight tremor was felt in Los Angeles.

2. In all the history of Southern California, extending back to the days of the Franciscan Fathers, about a century and a half, there has not been a serious earthquake in this region.

3. Los Angeles and the country around about, within a radius of one hundred miles, while it has experienced some slight "temblors," has never had, within the knowledge of man, an earthquake shock strong enough to do any damage worth mentioning; hardly enough, in point of fact, "to move a brick" (unless, indeed, the brick were just ready to be toppled over.)

4. In the entire history of California, (and that of the whole Pacific Coast,) down to the day of the San Francisco catastrophe, less injury to property and less loss of life has been inflicted by earthquake than has often been caused by a single tornado in one of the Eastern States. And most of the damage in San Francisco was caused by fire, as noted above.

5. A disaster similar to that of San Francisco may never occur again in any part of the United States. It is as liable to occur in Boston, or New York, or Philadelphia, as on the Pacific Coast.

6. Far from being shaken or damaged by the San Francisco earthquake, Los Angeles was the first to send relief to the smitten city, sending carload after carload of supplies and thousands of dollars in money on the very day of the disaster.

[Readers of The Times wishing copies of the above statement to send East may obtain slips in any number at The Times office.]

A SEA OF SHARKS.

Progress of Vessel Delayed by Myriads of the Monsters in the Pacific Ocean.

[Philadelphia Inquirer:] When a ship is brought to a standstill for twenty-four hours by a school of sharks that extends in all directions to the horizon, and when the vessel sails for the next twenty days amid nothing but sharks, it is said by old salts that it promises to be a good season for fishing.

This is the story brought to Philadelphia by the captain of the American ship Babcock, from San Francisco, with a cargo of scrap iron. In fact, the captain hints at a tragedy, for, according to his story, the myriad of sharks left him in pursuit of another vessel.

The Babcock sailed from San Francisco November 24. When in latitude 5.25 north, longitude 29 west, on December 10, the crew became worried at the scores of sharks which began following the vessel. During the night the crew heard an awful splashing about the ship, and with the morning light came the revelation that the ocean, as far as the eye could see, was covered with sharks.

The breeze fell off, and what remained was not sufficient to send the vessel through the mass of fish. A strong wind came after the vessel had been stranded amid the sharks for twenty-four hours, and slow headway was possible. The captain denies that the sharks tried to reach the deck by climbing upon the backs of one another.

For twenty days the sailors could see nothing but sharks. They were hundreds of miles from any land, and were getting thoroughly frightened, when along comes another vessel. The sharks saw that the newcomer had the most men aboard, and all went off in her trail, so that when New Year's Day dawned the crew of the Babcock again saw a clear ocean.

LAYING IN OF CACKLE CROP.

Eggs by Carload Rushing on to Local Market.

Lively Handling of "Aprils" by Produce Men.

Shell-Food Industry Grows at Swift Pace.

While every Southern California hen may be doing her duty these spring days, she continues to display her inability to carry the task that has been placed upon her by this great and growing community.

So short is the local supply that one dealer alone received ten carloads of eggs yesterday from the farms of Kansas and Nebraska. Some of the shipments that are coming in will be used to fill the greater shortage that will develop in later months, when Biddy will be taking a siesta.

The excellent market here has resulted in the establishment of big industries in the egg and poultry line. They supply a large territory.

"Aprils" are now receiving the undivided attention of the egg men. "Aprils" are coming to Los Angeles carload after carload from the farms and ranches of Kansas, Nebraska and Iowa. "The greatest ever" is the business being done in "Aprils" at the present time in Los Angeles.

What are "Aprils?" To the lay mind they appear to be all sorts of eggs packed away in cold storage until there is a market demand for this surplus. To the informed produce man this term represents the selected eggs shipped into Los Angeles from the Middle West States, and which, after careful sorting here, are packed and placed in storage during the months of April and May, to supply the consumers during the summer months.

BIG STORAGE CONCERN.

More than 100 carloads of eggs will be placed in storage here this season, ending with May, by the Beatrice Creamery Company, of which Chester W. Thompson, a well-known local produce dealer, is in charge. Others also are storing eggs.

A corps of thirty-two girls is employed in the grading and packing of eggs by the Beatrice Company. There is a force of nine men for the boxing and handling of cases. This force is able to handle four carloads a day, which means 1600 cases, 48,000 dozen, or 576,000 eggs.

In a commodious packing-house adjoining the plant of the Ice and Cold Storage Company on Central avenue, the work of grading and packing is done.

Every egg is inspected. Those that appear sound and of good color are placed in one set of cases. Those which do not come up to grade requirements are placed in the boxes for "seconds;" and those cracked or which have been broken in shipment or handling go into large tin cans.

WHAT ABOUT THESE.

Where then? Hush, hush, don't get too inquisitive; eat what is set before you, asking no questions for conscience's sake.

Jacob Greenberg, who has the contract for all these tin-can eggs, says he sends many of them to the tanneries for use in dressing russet leather. At a stall in the Los Angeles public market Greenberg has people at work straining out the shells from these broken eggs. The ones in good condition are separated, often the whites and yolks being placed in different receptacles. Some of these go to the bakeries; others go to confectioners. Still others—well, let's drop the subject.

Into the very midst of this egg-packing business has crept the soft halo of romance. Often some tender-hearted maiden or loud-sighing swain whose duty on some eastern farm has been to "pick in" and market the eggs, has taken their smooth surfaces as the material on which to indite sentiments which call for reciprocal expression. Frequently names and addresses are found, and some very interesting correspondences have been interchanged between the large corps of egg packers in Los Angeles and the egg gatherers in the States of the Middle West.

SOME OF THE FREAKS.

Then, too, there is the touch of comedy. The packers find in the assortment of hen fruit some of the most unique collections. Often they run across hard-boiled eggs; sometimes they have even found china nest eggs. There are duck eggs, guinea eggs, goose eggs, and an occasional turkey egg. All these are thrown out into the "freak" pile. Each girl in the packing establishment can tell interesting experiences in this connection.

One of the most disagreeable, of course, is the discovery of overripe shipments. One beginner, yesterday morning, fainted dead away in the most ladylike manner when she happened to tap too vigorously an egg of ancient vintage.

Grading and packing "Aprils" in local plant—largest egg storage place on Pacific Coast.

Third culling—the "canned" eggs. There are chicks in some of them.

SHRINERS STILL COME.

Thirty from Grand Rapids in Yesterday—Mount Lowe and Catalina on the Programme Today.

Thirty members of Osman Temple, Grand Rapids, arrived last evening, and will participate in the sightseeing that is accorded the visiting Shriners.

Mount Lowe and Catalina trips, to be taken today, will conclude the programme of entertainment arranged by Al Malaikah Temple.

It looks from all accounts as though the Chicago meeting of the Imperial Council would be a landslide for California.

Motley H. Flint, Potentate, has issued a circular letter reminding all Shriners of their duties in the approaching Fiesta. Each marching noble will be provided at night with an electric lamp, with pocket batery, and a unique Japanese umbrella.

STATUS OF FUND.

The building fund for the Y.M.C.A., at the close of business yesterday stood as follows: Previously reported, $240,704; J. S. Torrance, $1000; C. Q. Stanton, $250; W. M. Garland, $250; A. P. Fleming, $200; Charles E. Richards, $200; L. C. Torrance, $200; T. J. Douglas, $150; H. B. Adams, $100; A. S. Bent, $100; James W. Baldwin, 100; W. S. Brent, $100; M. Welsh, $100; C. W. Nicklin, $100; Hawley, King & Co., $100; W. F. Cronemiller, $100; J. O. Downing, $50; R. P. Hillman, $50; Blenkiron Bros., $50; total, $243,904. Minimum amount still to be raised, $106,096.

DEATH OF J. C. JOHNSTON.

Report comes from Marion, O., of the death, at his home there, of John C. Johnston, father of Mme. Genevra Johnston-Bishop. He passed away April 30. Mr. Johnston was one of Central Ohio's oldest attorneys, and was mayor of Marion for nine successive years. His daughter, the noted singer, writes that she will return to Los Angeles in the autumn to make her future home.

GIRL 'BUS DRIVER HEROINE OF FIRE.

COUNTED among the heroines of the San Francisco disaster is Miss Lily Young of that city, now visiting her uncle, Gen. O. H. LaGrange and family, at the Soldiers' Home. For several days while the fire raged, she held the reins and drove one of the 'busses belonging to the hotel, of which her father was proprietor. She carried many helpless people to places of safety, and without a full night's rest, worked until the fire had exhausted itself and the crisis had passed.

Miss Young is little more than out of her 'teens, delicately nurtured, and accustomed to the niceties of a refined home and associates; but her thoughtfulness and prompt action when suffering appealed, has demonstrated what pluck and endurance one girl is capable of amid scenes of danger.

Col. J. S. Young, a former proprietor of the Russ House in San Francisco, was, at the time of the earthquake, owner of the Netherlands Hotel, situated on Turk street near Market. The family, which included his daughter, Lily Young, resided at No. 2244 Grove street, near the entrance to Golden Gate Park.

"On the morning of the earthquake," says Miss Young, "I was aroused by the falling of bricks from the chimney which crashed through the roof to my bed chamber on the second story. They never touched the bed, but piled up all around it, so that in jumping out as I did, I landed on the fallen bricks.

RESCUES INVALID SISTER.

"Seizing a skirt as I passed, I flew into the hallway and, rushing to the room of an invalid sister, helped her down the stairs, and to safety. In a few seconds the entire family was assembled on the lawn, and all unharmed."

The residence on the slope of Golden Gate Park was two miles from the hotel. After returning to the house several times and securing trunks of clothing, mattresses and other necessaries for camping out, Miss Young with the family and near neighbors established housekeeping in open-air quarters on a vacant lot on the opposite side of the street.

The instant she could be spared from these duties, Miss Young, who had not forgotten that one of the family, a brother, was occupying a room on the seventh story of the hotel downtown, started for that place. On her arrival she learned that though the hotel (Netherlands) was badly shaken, all the occupants had gotten safely out of the building and were hustling in and out in an effort to secure their belongings. At that time the fire was not within a half mile of the hotel.

The next morning, after viewing the fire at longe range, she again made a trip to the hotel. On reaching Golden Gate avenue, a few blocks distant, she secured passage with a number of others for the trip down in a wagon at a cost of $2 each. Human hogs were making capital out of others' misfortunes.

The wagon was stopped at quite a distance from the hotel. On her arrival there all was confusion, as, owing to the advancing fire, the authorities were warning people to leave. Her brother, Perl Young, was hastily getting things in shape to move, but all the employés of the hotel were gone, and the horses and 'busses were housed in a livery stable two blocks away.

It fortunately happened that Miss Young was accustomed to the management of horses—her special and favorite exercise being in the saddle. This fact stood the plucky girl in good stead on this occasion.

SHE DRIVES THE 'BUS.

"On going to the stable," she says, "everything there, as elsewhere, was in confusion, and every one was looking out for himself. So I just hunted up the harness and put the horses in the 'bus, and drove toward the hotel. While that was only a few blocks away, I was, owing to obstructions, obliged to go a great distance around to reach it. When within two blocks I was halted by the military, because of the danger of proceeding further. The fire was then within a block of the hotel. I managed to get word of my location to my brother, and with help he soon had the 'bus loaded with the contents of the hotel safe and books of the office, and what linen we could pack in the 'bus. With this I drove rapidly out of danger's reach, and proceeded home."

The next day, as nothing further could be done in the way of salvage—for by this time fire had finished what was begun by the earthquake—the undaunted girl sought to aid the feeble and aged who would need assistance in transportation. Taking the 'bus she proceeded to the Red Cross quarters, and, volunteering for the cause, was furnished with badges. For several days she made many trips daily, as the fire-hunted populace was forced to take shelter further and further away. At last the flames were conquered and the brave girl, her heroic work completed, almost collapsed. She was threatened with nervous prostration, to save her from which she was, on the advice of physicians, sent away from the scene of so much suffering. She is now taking a rest with her relatives in the governor's home.

ROUGH TREATMENT FOR THIEF.

In the course of her experience, Miss Young witnessed many incidents that marked the lawlessness of the villainous class. On one of her trips downtown, the way was blocked by an unusual crowd. The soldiers had just captured a thief who had been for some time purloining from refugees in camp near the corner of Ellis and Broderick streets.

"Just as I drew up my horses," she said, "they picked the fellow off like a sack of merchandise, and threw him on his back in an open wagon. He was resisting, and every time he raised his head a soldier would smash him down again. They took him to a station near-by, and I noted, as they lifted him out of the wagon, that his nose was mashed, and his face was one mass of blood. No, I did not learn if they shot him to death."

This is the third loss by fire sustained by Col. Young. One was in Arizona, again it was Virginia City. This last loss, Miss Young says, is far from being covered by insurance.

Miss Lily Young, who was the most conspicuous Red Cross ambulance driver during San Francisco's days of direst distress.

WILMINGTON MAY COME IN.

PEOPLE SAID TO FAVOR UNION WITH LOS ANGELES.

Consolidation Commission Advised That Citizens of Harbor Town Simply Desire Protection from San Pedro and Long Beach Annexation. Tour Under Consideration.

Wilmington is ready to disincorporate and to come into Los Angeles by annexation, according to a letter read at the meeting of the Consolidation Commission last evening at the Chamber of Commerce. The letter was from F. S. Cary, cashier of the Bank of Wilmington, who said sentiment there is in favor of joining with Los Angeles, provided the people there can be assured that Long Beach or San Pedro will not be allowed to seize the water, and provided also that Los Angeles will undertake the task of dredging the harbor.

In the course of a discussion by members of the commission, it was practically decided that visits should be made to Wilmington, Watts, Compton, San Pedro, Long Beach and other towns, to learn the sentiments of the people of those places on the question of annexation, and to ask for suggestions and advice.

The chairman of each of the various committees of the commission was instructed, upon motion, to formulate ideas on the different branches of the general work and to submit them to the Laws Committee to be drafted in proper form.

It was pointed out by Commissioner Dillon that it would be necessary to make the proposed charter applicable to conditions here; that a charter adapted for New York, Chicago or St. Louis would not meet local needs; that as much power as possible should be given to the constituent parts of the consolidated city and county.

President Butler reported on the result of his conference recently with Gov. Pardee in the north, with reference to the request of the Consolidation Commission that, in the event he calls a special session of the Legislature, he make the call broad enough to cover the submission to the people of a proposition for constitutional amendments deemed necessary in connection with the consolidation movement.

PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Hostilities have broken out afresh over the opening of Jackson street; the Southern Pacific hasn't built on its spur-track franchise, and the Eighth Ward Comanches are off the reservation.

The San Francisco Board of Public works has sent to the Mayor for pointers regarding the things for which our [illegible] board exacts a permit fee; the revenue feature is not to be overlooked in the new building ordinance of the northern metropolis.

A slant-eyed laundry trust is defying the Fire Commission by establishing suds emporiums in residence districts without securing permits.

A curious dispute has arisen over the payment of an insurance policy by the Fraternal Brotherhood, and the fight between the mother and wife of Albert Grimes has been taken to court.

Owing to an irregularity it is possible that Morris Buck will be hanged June 1, despite a pending appeal to the Supreme Court.

A neighborhood row in Prospect Park has resulted in a warrant being issued for an alleged ax wielder.

AT THE CITY HALL.

RUBBING SALT IN OLD SORES.

JACKSON STREET COMANCHES ON THE WARPATH.

Southern Pacific Fails to Build Spur Tracks—Apparently Waiting for Property Owners to Open Street at Their Own Expense—Board Gets Taste of Real Trouble.

For two months the Board of Public Works has journeyed by quiet stages along the shady side of easy street; yesterday it butted into real trouble. Jackson street came up to the board room with its coat off to know about that Southern Pacific spur track. Banquo's ghost brooded over the session in the form of the original petition that started the row away last August.

Attorney Todd had pulled the petition out of the files and slipped it to the board with a request that action be taken at once, as the people wanted to use the street.

Half a dozen Councilmen gathered in the rear of the committee room and chuckled with glee while the two hostile bunches from Jackson street swatted each other and the board with adjectives unfit for publication.

The memory of the Jackson-street imbroglio is like that dark brown taste to every Councilman. Yesterday was their opportunity to stand by and watch the board suffer and be strong.

"You weren't content with flailing our hides, you are trying to rub it in," howled big Mike Collins. "We were all shot to pieces by the Council last August when we tried to get the Santa Fé on the street. Now you come and rub salt in our sores.

"We didn't want the S. P. down there. The S. P. spur tracks are on the bum. Nobody will live alongside one if he has the wherewith to hire a van to move him away. The Santa Fé people are gentlemen. When they put in a spur track property goes up 100 per cent. The people go out and greet them with brass bands and give festivals in their honor. They meet the S. P. with shotguns."

While Mike was doing the high-wire oratory his brother brought to the attention of the board the following resolution, which came before the commissioners in the form of a petition:

Whereas, on or about the thirty-first day of August, 1905, a petition in writing in behalf of the undersigned, among others, was filed with your honorable body praying for the opening of Jackson street between Lafayette street and Amelia street, and said petition is still pending, and

Whereas, owing to a change of circumstances since procuring the opening of said portion of said street would be contrary to public interest and operate great injury on the undersigned.

Now, therefore, the undersigned owners of property as below shown abutting upon Jackson street, between Alameda street and the Los Angeles River, petition your honorable body to discontinue and abandon all proceedings under said petition, and to permit the undersigned to withdraw said petition.

This petition is signed by R. J. and M. T. Collins, together with other property owners representing in the aggregate 1140 feet of frontage.

Opposed to this is the following petition:

"The undersigned owners of property on Jackson street pray that you take such action on petition No. 1207, favorable to the opening of Jackson street between Lafayette and Amelia streets."

Signed to this petition are the names of property owners representing 850 feet of frontage on Jackson street. The petition to which it refers is signed by property owners representing about 1800 feet of frontage.

An independent petition asking for the opening of Jackson street is signed by J. P. Goytino. He owns 110 feet of frontage on the street.

Attorney Todd represented the Eighth Warders who want the street opened and are willing to pay for their share of the cost. His reply to Collins et al. was a clever argument to the effect that the street is closed for two blocks of its length and is likely to remain so until the property owners take hold and open it.

Mr. Todd said the people have had enough of the Collins brand of street opening; that it goes off like the cork out of a champagne bottle and accomplishes about as much.

The gist of the two arguments appears to be that the Southern Pacific holds a franchise for a spur over the street, but it has not built the tracks. The property owners thought last summer that the S. P. was going to open the street and pay all assessments. Now it appears that the railroad has no intention of doing anything of the kind. Todd explained this in his argument. He said that all the railroad could do would be to condemn a sixteen-foot strip across the two closed blocks. The railroad has no authority to condemn more than it needs for its tracks. If the people want a street through there they must initiate the condemnation proceedings themselves, and pay the cost. Todd appeared primarily in behalf of his father, who owns 100 feet of frontage on the street.

Collins and his followers wanted to get the original petition back. It asks for the opening of the street. When they signed it they expected the Santa Fé to get the spur track, but there was nothing to this effect in the petition. Now they are confronted by their own signatures and they want to call them back. But they learned yesterday to their sorrow that so written it stands, that the frontage petition is sufficient to cause the street to be opened and that their signatures on a protest would not be valid.

All this was developed with the customary garnishment of a picturesque Eighth Ward feud. Between the opposing forces the board was practically helpless. During a lull in the storm the commissioners managed to get through a motion of their own referring the jangling controversy to the City Attorney. And the seat of war was transferred from the board to the legal department.

Despite their momentary glee the legislators are paling before the flashes that betoken a coming storm. After the other departments are all through, the petition will come before the Council for final action—and Jackson street will be there, too.

NEW REVENUE LAW.

BUILDING ORDINANCE.

The San Francisco Board of Public Works lost its records, books and ordinances in the recent conflagration. Mayor McAleer received the following communication from the president of the board asking for immediate information about the number and kinds of things for which our board charges inspection fees:

The recent conflagration which visited our city destroyed all the records of this board and also the ordinances of the city and county.

The Board of Public Works is now engaged in the work of preparing for submission to the Board of Supervisors such ordinances as pertain to the Board of Public Works. In order to facilitate the work this board would thank you to forward without delay such ordinances of your city as provide for the payment of a fee for the issuance of permits or certificates unler any of the following classes, namely:

The construction and inspection of buildings.
The use of street and sidewalk space for the placing thereon of building material.
The use of sub-sidewalk space.
The use and inspection of sidewalk and interior elevators.
The issuance of official house numbers; and also any and all other ordinances not hereinbefore mentioned which require the payment of a fee to your city.

Yours very respectfully,
BOARD OF PUBLIC WORKS.
[Signed:] F. A. MAESTRETTI, president.

Plainly the board doesn't intend to overlook the revenue feature of its proposed new ordinance.

SLANT-EYED TRUST.

CHINKS DEFY FIRE BOARD.

Hong Yuen, a Chinese refugee with a bank account, has lost caste with his local brethren by violating the ethics of the laundry profession. Yuen hasn't been here long enough to get the run of civic procedure, but he has bought a controlling interest in a laundry outfit.

Yesterday his petition for permission to locate a suds emporium at No. 2304 South Main street came before the Fire Commission. The commissioners jumped upon it with a unanimity that almost gave Yuen heart failure. It is the first hand-laundry application that has been before the board for months. When they were through the clerk had stamped "denied" all over the face of it.

A dapper little Jap who had come before the board to get a blacksmith shop permit, took Yuen to one side and revealed to him a few secrets of the game, as it is played here. When the Chink left the hall, it was in company with the Jap's lawyer.

What Yuen didn't know is that a recent court decision denied the right of the Fire Commission to regulate the location and operation of hand laundries. The court held that the commission has no jurisdiction; if the laundry is unsanitary, the Health Department conducts the prosecution.

But Yuen is outside the slant-eyed trust, and his countrymen had offered him neither assistance nor advice. The local Chinamen now hold the Fire Board in high disdain; they open laundries whither they will, with no preliminary but a lease on the property.

PERMIT SANS LOCATION.

FIRE BOARD MUDDLE.

C. F. Capell apparently has a permit for a gasoline engine without a location. When his application came before the Board of Fire Commissioners yesterday it was confronted by the following communication from the irate owner of the building named:

"In re the application of one Capell for a permit to operate gasoline engine at 214 North Broadway, will state that I am the owner of the premises and that I do not know this Capell and would not allow under any circumstances a gasoline engine to operate on this property.

[Signed] "C. A. COLE."

But the commission complacently granted Capell the permit, leaving him and the owner to settle minor differences about a lease and such.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

MOTHER AND WIFE CONTEND.

ALBERT GRIMES TOOK OUT TOO MANY POLICIES.

The Fraternal Brotherhood Doesn't Know to Whom to Pay the Money, and Meantime Mrs. Grimes and Mrs. Rockwell Each Hug Their Respective Policies.

It would require the wisdom of a Solomon to decide a dispute that has arisen in the Fraternal Brotherhood, and as no one of the officers makes any such pretensions, the matter has been switched into court to let a judge—and, if necessary, a jury—have a guess at it.

On its face the case is simple as shelling peas.

In April, 1902, Albert Grimes became a member of the order, and by virtue of his membership received a certificate of insurance for $2000. The name of Mrs. Carrie A. Rockwell, his mother, was inserted in the certificate as beneficiary in the event of his death. Two years later, in May, 1904, Grimes requested that his certificate be cancelled and a new one issued, with the name of his wife, Elsie Grimes, inserted as beneficiary instead of his mother. This was done, and so far everything was plain and straightforward.

In October, 1905, this certificate business began to get kinks in it. Grimes again made his appearance before the Brotherhood, and by affidavit showed that his insurance certificate had been lost, and he requested that a duplicate be issued to him. Incidentally, too, he asked that the name of his mother, Mrs. Carrie Rockwell, be again inserted as beneficiary, instead of the name of his wife. That was done, and things went along all right until April 4, of this year, when Grimes died.

Mrs. Rockwell has presented her certificate of claim against the Fraternal Brotherhood for $2000 insurance upon her son's life, and her certificate was undisputably made out to meet the latest wishes of the deceased, so far, at least, as they appeared in the open. But certificate No. 2, which the deceased had made out to replace No. 1, and in which his wife's name took the place of his mother's as beneficiary, has emerged from its "lostness," and has been presented for payment by Mrs. Grimes.

It is mother versus wife, and there is a good deal to be said on both sides. The Supreme Lodge of the Fraternal Brotherhood has passed it along. Who is entitled to the money is too knotty a problem for it to settle, and so the lodge began a suit against both the claimants, has paid the money into court, and now tells both women to fight it out between them with the court as umpire.

NEIGHBORHOOD ROW.

PROSPECT PARK DISTURBED.

Things out at Prospect Park have taken on a rather lurid tinge since one of the residents went on the warpath with an ax, and in order to restore peace and quiet, R. M. Scriven yesterday swore to a complaint in Justice Young's court and had a warrant issued for the arrest of D. S. McDonnell.

A short time ago, McDonnell purchased a house and lot adjoining that owned by Scriven, the latter being the selling party. Only a small payment was made and McDonnell took possession. All kinds of petty annoyances have stirred the families of both men since then, and when McDonnell's little girl overstepped the boundary and trod upon some of the flowers in the Scriven garden there was trouble.

A crisis was reached two days ago when McDonnell is alleged to have danced a war dance on the boundary between his own and the Scriven property, flourishing an ax and vowing death and destruction to any one that came around his place again. Scriven called the bluff by swearing out the warrant on the charge of disturbing the peace.

MARRIAGE DECLINED.

ALFRED GRAY UNDER ARREST.

A young man named Alfred Gray is under arrest charged with having wronged a 15-year-old girl named Florence B. Martin, while the latter was visiting friends at Downey several months ago.

When the girl's dilemma was discovered an invitation was extended him through the medium of the District Attorney's office, that he rectify the wrong he had committed, so far as lay within his power. Gray appeared overjoyed at the prospect of marrying such a pretty girl and replied that all hands might count upon him. And they did.

But while the girl was waiting, Gray seized the opportunity to skip and in that way reject the matrimonial noose. He was arrested, however, at Oxnard by the Sheriff of Ventura county, at the request of Sheriff White, and will now have to answer a serious charge.

HANGING OF BUCK.

APPEAL MAY NOT PREVENT.

The date for the hanging of Morris Buck, the degenerate slayer of Mrs. C. A. Canfield, is set for June 1, though an appeal is pending that in itself will not act as a stay of the execution. This is in consequence of a lapse on the part of Buck's attorney, A. D. Warner.

Ordinarily, the writ of probable cause serves as a stay of execution. But Mr. Warner failed to put in the writ of probable cause, and consequently the warden of the State's prison has no official knowledge that there has been an interposition of law in behalf of the condemned man.

Attorney Warner asked Judge Smith yesterday to withdraw the death warrant. Judge Smith was very sorry, but said that was more than he had the authority to do. It was outside of his jurisdiction altogether.

At any other time but the present Attorney Warner might sit up nights and get his appeal perfected, and the filing of the appeal in the Supreme Court would suffice to stay the execution, even at this late hour, upon proper representation of the fact being made known. But these are legal holidays and the appeal cannot be perfected. But it will need a judicial day to legally pass along the appeal into the Supreme Court.

The Superior Court on the one hand can afford no relief nor can the Supreme Court on the other. The latter court ought to have jurisdiction, but it has not, nor is the case properly in the trial court.

As one way out of the difficulty, Mr. Warner obtained from the clerk of the criminal department yesterday a certified copy of the minute order in which it is set out that notice of appeal has been filed. This date will show that the initial step to taking an appeal was taken, and one of these certified copies will be sent to the warden and the other filed with the Supreme Court.

Just what the legal effect will be is somewhat uncertain, and some attorneys maintain that Morris Buck ought to hang, even if he does not, on June 1, for the reason that no proper legal step has been taken to suspend the operation of the death warrant—which is the warden's authority. The Governor may grant a respite, and that is the legal way out of the difficulty.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

BREVITIES MISCELLANEOUS.

WANTS DAMAGES. Matilda Walbert has begun suit against the Santa Fé Railway Company to recover $15,000 as damages. The plaintiff was coming from The Needles to this city on January 23, when there was a collision near Glendora, and she claims to have been seriously injured. A twin suit has been brought by Mrs. Emily Pieher against the same corporation to recover $3000 damages for injuries sustained in the same collision.

SENT TO PATTON. Samuel Bascovitch, the Montenegrin, who is alleged to have shot himself twice in the arm in order to enlist sympathy so that he might escape work, was yesterday committed to the insane asylum by Judge Gibbs.

PROPERTY TITLES. The Southern California Title and Abstract Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $250,000, of which $151,000 has been subscribed. The directors are C. D. Warden, D. L. Allen, C. P. Warden, J. F. Cunningham and J. O. Prentice, all of this city.

DENTAL CORPORATION. The West Coast Dental Company has incorporated with a capital stock of $25,000, of which $5000 has been subscribed. The directors are: Stephan Croft, J. P. Mertes and J. Irving McKenna, all of Los Angeles.

MARKET GOODS. The United Marketing Company of Los Angeles has incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000, of which $7 has been subscribed. The directors are J. C. Finch, W. A. Harris, J. C. Wilson, M. M. Armstrong, L. A. Harris, R. Ross and C. M. Armstrong, all of this city.

HAD DELUSION. Miss Jane E. Hogbur was yesterday committed to the hospital at Patton. She has been failing mentally for ten years, though only 27 years of age now. She imagines that she is dead and insists upon lying stretched out upon the floor.

GONE TO YUMA. The Sheriff's office has learned that the colored man, Wilcox, who shot the brakeman, Erickson, on a freight train near Saugus, was trying to make his way out of the State by the southern route, and officers along the line were told to watch the trains closely. At Yuma a man was arrested answering the description and yesterday Sheriff White went down to identify the man. Inasmuch as this colored individual has refused to talk, or even to tell who he is, there is a strong suspicion that the right man has been captured.

HEARS TESTIMONY. Judge Monroe yesterday sat to hear the testimony in the two suits of Schumacher against Waddingham, et al. One action is for damages and the other for an injunction.

IN POLICE COURT.

TAYLOR PAYS A FINE.

M. D. Taylor, charged with disturbing the peace of C. E. Parcells, pleaded guilty yesterday morning in Justice Rose's court and was fined $10, which he promptly paid. He failed to "show up" Parcells, as he had threatened, and this fact has made Parcells bolder. He is now seeking a second complaint against Taylor.

Yesterday afternoon in the office of the City Prosecutor Parcells spoke of his reputation as a "gun fighter" and declared that he would "get" Taylor yet. He wanted another complaint against his brother-in-law, and said he has still a third charge to make, but complaints were refused.

"Cussed" the Cashier.

G. F. Wademan, a waiter, was indiscreet enough to "cuss" the lady cashier in a North Main-street café, where he was employed as a waiter and yesterday his action cost him $10 in the Police Court. Wademan asked the cashier, who happens to be the wife of the proprietor of the place, for money in the middle of the week and he was told he would have to wait until Saturday.

The waiter declared he would not wait and cursed the woman. She started away and he threatened to rob the cash register. Just at this moment her husband appeared, and he had words with Wademan and the latter became infuriated and grabbing a heavy bowl from a near-by table attempted to strike his employer. Patrolman Humphreys was off duty and in citizen's clothes at the time and happened in just at the critical moment and arrested Wademan. He had to plead guilty, as the prosecution had a clear case.

DESMOND REPORTS.

Tells Chamber of Commerce About Feeding the Hungry Thousands of San Francisco.

D. J. Desmond, in a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, from San Francisco, speaks interestingly of the work the Los Angeles relief committee is doing there, and with great emphasis of the unselfishness of the Los Angeles workers. He feelingly remarks that "John Llewellyn has removed all the blues from San Francisco."

Mr. Desmond says that from April 24 to May 2 the Los Angeles camps supplied 40,000 hot meals a day. On May 4 only women and children were fed, and on the evening of May 4 the work was discontinued by order of the government, as the serving of hot meals was believed in many instances to encourage idleness. Five camps were established, in various portions of the city.

So gratified were the government officials with Mr. Desmond's work that they wished him to assume charge of the feeding of the entire city.

Especially commended in Mr. Desmond's letter are Frank T. Mattimore, G. M. Boyd, Sherman Pease, W. Maben, P. S. Baker, R. C. Moore, C. H. Page, G. W. Saurett, R. E. Barry and B. Nesa.

WILL CLOSE UP COMPANY.

BOSTON, May 11.—Proceedings were brought in the Supreme Court yesterday by Atty.-Gen. Dana Malone at the instance of the insurance department against the American Birth Insurance Company, seeking the appointment of a receiver to close up the affairs of the concern. At the present time there is said to be outstanding between $50,000 and $60,000 of insurance. No statement is made of the company's assets, but it is stated that the concern is solvent.

Quarter Grand
Chickering

Its exquisite tone, its superb action, its dainty form, wins immediate admiration. There is no grand piano made that is so loved on sight, so much admired and praised as this exquisite instrument. For the cottage or the drawing-room it is equally adapted, and is a most beautiful setting. It takes up less room, has a superior tone, and costs only a trifle more than the finest uprights. It carries the full ten-year guarantee the same as the larger grands.

Pen Points

Isn't it about time for that Lawson person to erupt again? Why this unearthly calm?

Russia has at last taken the first sure step toward freedom. God grant she may take many another.

"Marry in haste, repent at leisure," runs the old saw. But suppose she doesn't give you any leisure?

Everything is being done to help San Francisco, including the effort which San Francisco is making to help herself.

The president of the coal trust insists that the cost of living has decreased since 1904. We hadn't noticed it.

Dope-lover claims that it is not a habit. Perhaps not. It may be nothing more than an ordinary dope fiend.

The plans to help San Francisco are becoming very voluminous. Too many cooks spoil the broth. This is no time for hot air experts.

The Burnham idea of beautifying San Francisco should be put into effect, without a doubt. If the scheme is not now carried out it is likely never to be.

If there are any States in the Union which have not been visited by earthquake shocks during the past thirty days, they will please report at headquarters.

Grover Cleveland announces positively that he will never again lead the Democratic party. The Democratic party made the same announcement some time ago.

The Chinese of San Francisco complain bitterly of the manner in which they were robbed and looted during the fire. And still we wonder why the Chinaman prefers to remain a heathen.

Dunne, the foozle Mayor of Chicago, might do pretty well at persuading mules on a towpath, but he fell down when he essayed to show the people that he knew how to run street cars by wind.

With Bob La Follette roaring through the Senate like a lumber-jack, and Jeff Davis spitting tobacco juice on the carpets and silk hangings, this thing called Senatorial courtesy stands a mighty good chance of getting swamped.

The world no longer depends on rumor for a true picture of the Czar of all the Russias. In the full glare of the limelight as he stood before the members of the new Parliament, it was seen that his health is good, his nerve steady as a clock, and his courage undismayed.

New York is talking of sinking artesian wells to augment the municipal water supply. Some day the top of the list is going to read this way from east to west: "One, New York; two, Chicago; three, Los Angeles." Shall we have the Owens River now—or dig artesian wells hereafter?

Whatever may be the public grievances of the people of Pennsylvania, they have, at least, one benefit the like of which not every commonwealth affords—a real Governor at Harrisburg. John Mitchell and his black crew won't be able to scuttle the barge of state while Pennypacker's on deck.

Not in the least to disparage the domestic supply or cast up invidious comparisons. But a lot of these shell-pink cheeks and lustrous eyes that are floating about our streets just now belong to San Francisco refugees. You can spot a San Francisco girl's complexion a block away. It's a peach.

The Empress of all the Russias also sat upon the great white throne in view of the people and their new-born power. She showed ill at ease, betraying the lingering fear that has haunted her life ever since the day she was forced to share Russia's fate, against her will and inclination, poor thing!

The courtiers did the cheering. The representatives of the common people remained ominously silent. The parapherna[illegible], the fanfare of the trumpets, the gewgaws did not appeal [illegible]. With the courtiers it was a show; for the common people it was a serious, solemn and most desperate business.

Don't brag. Little Santa Monica erected, furnished, warmed and stocked with food fifty tents—and then vainly waited days and nights for 200 refugees to come and be her guests. Through some stupid fumble somewhere, not one appeared, nor ever has. Yet you haven't heard a cheep out of game little Santa Monica-by-the-Sea.

No informed person doubts that there has been, and is, and will be "treason in the Senate." But why hear tongue-wags details from a literary ragamuffin in the paid hire of an outcast publisher? The situation in the Senate, however bad it may be, is deserving of more competent and veracious chroniclers than Phillips, Hearst and the Cosmopolitan.

OUR NATIONAL JESTER.

In the "good old days"—those apocryphal days that always vanish further into the background as we investigate the conditions then prevailing—all princes, and barons, and other potentates of the realm, including even dignified cardinals, had, as a regular salaried member of their court, a merry fellow known as the "court jester," whose principal duty consisted in driving away from the spirit of his lord and master the dull care that inhuman stuffing often called up from an engorged liver, in spite of the active open air life of those days. Doubtless many of the witticisms that the wearer of the cap and bells produced would have been greeted with catcalls in the average American variety show, and some of his jokes were probably as heavy as those of Punch—and much coarser. Yet he served the purpose well enough, for in those days the idea of humor was almost as crude as that of the colored supplement of a Hearst paper, where the climax is always the falling of a ton of bricks, or the kicking of a mule. The court jester of olden times was permitted a great familiarity with his master, but he must have always felt as if he was walking on thin ice, because, once in a while, when a larger dose than usual of heavy red meat and heavy red wine had caused a more than usually violent insurrection in the liver, and consequent shortness of temper, the jester was likely, without a moment's notice, to be ordered shorn of his head.

These desultory remarks are made merely for the purpose of calling attention to the fact that My Lord Samuel, as befits the head of the greatest government the sun ever shone upon, also has a national jester, only he is as much more of a joke than any of his predecessors as the United States is greater than the Kingdom of Lilliput. Only recently have the people of this country come to thoroughly realize the jocular capabilities of this prince of humor. While it is true that in olden days almost all special occasions were graced—or disgraced—by the cavortings of the court jester, history does not record that he cracked his jokes at any sad affair, such as a funeral, or a disastrous accident. Here is where our national jester rises superior to all precedent—"What's precedent to him, or he to precedent?" Did not he almost run for President? But let us refrain from such unseemly levity in presence of the high Past Grand Master of the Art of Josh—a man who can even utilize a great disaster as a means of promoting the gayety of nations. Surely it was a happy thought to choose the occasion of the greatest calamity that has ever befallen an American city as an opportunity to jingle the cap and bells before an astonished nation, that had not yet fully realized the height—or depth—to which the Hearst humor could reach. So it happened, in presence of a disaster that laid in ruins one of the greatest of American cities, and destroyed hundreds of lives, that we find Hearst, the Humorist, merrily shinning up the tallest pole in sight, and so displaying to the gaping crowds even more of his abnormal anatomy than they had yet been privileged to gaze upon. Thus we read in a special to the Los Angeles Examine Her:

"Day was breaking over the beautiful bay of San Francisco—known to many by its pet name of 'Hearstville'—on the morning of Wednesday, April 18. Thousands of Examiner subscribers were sleeping the sleep of the just, and hundreds were preparing to circulate the paper for which all California would willingly sacrifice its Grape Nuts, if necessary. Suddenly, there was a short, severe shock. The earth trembled. It was an earthquake. Hundreds of voices were immediately heard, shouting: 'Where's Hearst?' A few words of explanation are due these anxious inquirers. The earthquake would not have happened—at least not just then—had it not been that Mr. Hearst's attention was occupied with other weighty matters. He was, in fact, making arrangements to dispatch a fleet of airships with supplies to thousands of unfortunate inhabitants of the planet Mars who had been flooded out by an overflow of one of the principal canals. Hence his attention was temporarily diverted from subluinary affairs. Otherwise he would certainly have brought his influence to bear on God, and have had the earthquake either omitted altogether from the programme, or postponed until such time as the foundations of the buildings could have been strengthened, and a few streets widened, so that they might be used as fire breaks.

"However, as soon as the news of the catastrophe was received, Mr. Hearst lost not a minute in setting about to repair the damage that was indirectly due to his oversight. Within an amazingly short time Hearst's long trains, loaded down to the ties with Hearst's supplies, were speeding over Hearst's continent, from all points of the compass, at the rate of a mile a minute. At the same time, Hearst's ships, also loaded to the gunwales with Hearst supplies, were plowing the raging main. From the south, from the north, and eke from the distant isles of the sea came Hearst's ships, loaded—overloaded in fact—with superfluous underwear contributed by the sympathetic natives of these isles. From Yuma came a train-load of double blankets, while Dawson, in the distant Klondike, telegraphed that a carload of ice cream freezers was at the disposal of Mr. Hearst. At the same time, Hearst's telegrams poured in, at intervals of three or four minutes, cheering the hearts of those who might be inclined to be despondent, by assuring them that Hearst was behind them, in front of them, and indeed all around them. Hearst hospitals, thoroughly provided with Hearst physicians and Hearst nurses, appeared on every prominent corner, and Hearst hearses were added, wherever necessary. A Hearst Congress enthusiastically voted a million dollars of Hearst money for the benefit of the distressed. Hearst restaurants were opened in every block, and thousands of grateful people were ecstatically rolling their tongues around slices of Hearst's hams. The result of this speedy and drastic action on part of Mr. Hearst was marvelous. Where there had been despondency, dread and doubt, hope and confidence now reigned supreme. On every side is heard warm praise of William Randolph Hearst, Esq. Even little children who are scarcely able to prattle sometimes reply to 'Who's your daddy?' 'Urtht.' A cantata has been composed by Prof. Prittipippi, entitled, 'Praise Hearst from Whom All Blessings Flow.' It is to be sung with a chorus of 300 virgins, robed in white, each bearing in one hand blue silk banners, on which, in golden letters, are inscribed the words 'Hearst, Our Savior' and in the other hand holding aloft a copy of the San Francisco Examiner. A proposition has been advanced to change the wording of the national anthem 'My Country, 'Tis of Thee,' to read 'My Willie, 'Tis of Thee.' Several statues to Mr. Hearst have already been planned, and the money for their construction is in sight. Among these are statues depicting 'Hearst Succoring the Needy,' 'Hearst Defying the Earthquake,' and 'God Conferring with Hearst.' There is little doubt that the name of 'Hearstville,' already popular, will be decided upon as the permanent name for the new city that is to rise Phoenix-like—that is to say Hearstlike—from the ashes. Several local Dowieites have transferred their allegiance from Dowie to Hearst, and it is understood that this Benefactor of the Race will shortly be called upon to declare himself the reincarnated Elijah"—and so forth, and so forth, ad libitum, ad nauseam, ad desperandum.

As a writer in The Times recently observed, the words humbug and Hearst have become synonymous. Therefore, in these strenuous days, when every effort is made to eliminate superfluous letters and syllables, there is little doubt that, henceforth, the shorter word will generally be substituted for the longer. Great is Humbug, and Hearst is its prophet. Also, as oblivious of propriety or proportion as the peddlers of Constantinople, Hearst's kidlets go around, vending their yellow wares, and shouting "In the name of the Prophet—Figs!"

HERE IS ANOTHER.

The Times has heretofore called attention to the fact that large numbers of earthquake liars are abroad in the land, and that they are perniciously active in spreading broadcast the most outrageous falsehoods and exaggerations concerning the great calamity which has befallen San Francisco and the region round about it. The simple truth about this disaster is bad enough, and there is not the slightest excuse for exaggerating it. But the purpose of these conscienceless wretches appears to be to picture the situation a great deal worse than it is; to pile horror upon horror and lie upon lie; to distort the facts in the wildest and most sensational manner; to make the reader's eyes bulge, while they rob his pockets; in short, to turn this sorrowful calamity into a money-making affair, and to rob the public as quickly as possible, knowing well that their falsehoods and misrepresentations will soon be unmasked, and that they will stand exposed as fakers and falsifiers.

Chicago appears to be the lair of the worst gang of swindlers engaged in this disreputable business. Only yesterday The Times exposed a bunch of fakers passing under the title of the "Silverton Publishing Company" (with headquarters somewhere in the Windy City,) which had sent out postal card prospectuses of a book just published, containing gross misstatements as to the loss of life and the damage to property in San Francisco. Today, through the courtesy of a friend of The Times, we are enabled to expose another fake publication of the same sort. A postal card announcement is being sent through the mails, purporting to be from "J. S. Goodman & Co., publishers, No. 159 La Salle St., Chicago, Ill.," telling of the hair-raising features of a book about to be issued, entitled "The San Francisco Disaster," by Charles Eugene Banks, "and a corps of special correspondents." The flaring headlines read—"Death! Ruin! Destruction! 10,000 Dead! 20,000 Injured! 200,000 Homeless! $500,000,000 of Property in Ruins! Scenes of Horror! Story Wired Hourly by Survivors! Greatest Calamity of the Age! The World Appalled! Mankind Paralyzed!" and so forth.

The publishers of this book, which they call "the only official history," are making a frantic call for agents. Of course it is not an official history. No authentic history of the calamity has been written, nor can such a history be written for some time to come. The "story wired hourly by survivors" was necessarily fragmentary, distorted, and wholly worthless as a basis for sane, authentic history. One-half of the proceeds from the sale of the book are offered to agents who will start out on the warpath. Also "a part of the proceeds to go to the surviving needy." Presumably, if anything remains after the agents and the surviving needy are taken care of, the publishers will donate it to some worthy charity. The prospective agent is lured on by the statement that "Millions will be sold. Six million Johnstown Flood books, five million Charleston Earthquake books, four million Galveston Flood books sold. Get in the field first," the recipient of the announcement is admonished, "and make $500 the next thirty days."

The publishers of these fake books will do well to confine their spheres of action to the East and the Middle West, where the facts of the disaster have not yet become fully known. Agents who attempt to sell them anywhere on the Pacific Coast will very likely be shown the door, sans ceremonie, as soon as they make known their business. And it will serve them right.

MITCHELL'S ROUT COMPLETE.

A young summer sun is shining brightly this morning over the beautiful hills of Pennsylvania and the adjoining States beneath whose surface lie the great coal deposits of the American continent, and at the mouth of the pits and down in all the levels there is once more the busy hum of industrious operations. The miners are all at work again. John Mitchell's ukase has been forcibly lifted and the men are permitted to earn an honest living again.

The rout of John Mitchell is as complete as the general of an army ever suffered. He has ignominiously failed in every inch of his undertaking. His defeat was a foregone conclusion from the moment he undertook by forcible means to bring about a condition of things unjustified and indeed impossible under existing economic conditions. He turned the coal mining world topsy-turvy three years ago to such a degree that the President of the United States, not in his official capacity of course, but as the leading American citizen of the time, felt compelled to intervene, and by a commission of distinguished men of high purpose and the very highest reputation to study the whole question in dispute between Mitchell and the mine owners. By the services of this commission an agreement was reached to last three years. As soon as that term began to draw to a close, immediately Mitchell reappeared on the scene with his inconsiderate, illogical, mischief-making interference. A man in his position ought certainly to have been possessed of sufficient knowledge of the situation and of sufficient wisdom as a leader to comprehend that the industrial conditions of today were in no respect better than they were three years ago, or if perhaps they were a little ameliorated, the difference was not by any means enough to justify the claims set up by this insufferable demagogue.

His first programme was for 12 1-2 per cent. advance in wages and the reduction of the hours of labor. He then backed down to a demand for a 5 per cent. increase in wages. His dupes, for the most part well meaning and industrious men, but foolish enough to put themselves under the thumb and dictation of any man, have been out of work for a period of about six weeks. The loss of their total daily wages during this period of time has amounted to more in dollars than they would have gained in a year and a half if Mitchell's first demand had been complied with. They have lost more in this period of idleness than they could have gained had his 5 per cent. increase of wages been granted for the whole term of three years. In dealing with John Mitchell the best that can possibly be hoped is that he will keep quiet and advise his men to abide by their contract during the period covered by it. That he will appear again at the end of the next period of three years with some other absurd, impossible, unjust and imprudent demand, no person who has followed his career will doubt for a moment. Should any other circumstances arise during the three years for which the contract ought to be enforced to give him a fair show of hope that he could enforce new demands, who doubts that he would hesitate to counsel his followers to violate the terms of their contract? Surely no person who has followed Mitchell's course will think that he would hesitate to take such a step.

At every point the mine owners met him in the most reasonable and conciliatory manner possible under the circumstances. They pleaded that the conditions were in no wise sufficiently better at this time than they were three years ago to justify granting his demands. They reminded him that it was largely of his own doing that the commission of three years ago had been organized; that he had submitted, perhaps of necessity, to the judgment of that commission. The weight of public opinion behind the President's commission was such that no man and no body of men in America would have dared to question the justice of its decision. The mine owners went so far as to offer to have the commission reassemble and to make a show-down of the conditions of coal mining at the present time and leave it to this commission whether there was any improvement to justify the boss walking delegate's demand. At every point John Mitchell stood like a mule in his obstinacy, would listen to no reason, was obtuse to all argument, until step by step he was forced from one position to another and finally pushed completely off of the boards.

The whole affair is the most ridiculous fiasco in all the annals of labor-union foolishness. John Mitchell has shown he is an incompetent and thoroughly unskillful leader of his fellowmen. Every person who has followed his orders or allowed himself to be misled by his unwisdom has lost six weeks of his wages. Most of them are in debt for the support of their families during these six weeks. The families of many of them have suffered untold hardships. Hunger and nakedness have been the lot of multitudes of John Mitchell's dupes. The treasury of the order has been depleted in furnishing starvation allowances to the men out on strike. Those who were employed during these six weeks have been giving up a large part of their wages week by week to keep soul and body together in the men under enforced idleness. The enforced idleness and all the misery and suffering resulting from it was the direct work of John Mitchell's foolish intermeddling in other people's affairs. The natural result of it, as ought to be the case with all such unreasonable proceedings, is just a cipher.

If John Mitchell were present to reply to these criticisms, his answer probably would be, "What are you going to do about it?" Three years from now he will be on deck with just as little reason, disturbing peaceful conditions that ought to exist between the employer and the employd, setting capital and labor like two bulldogs growling one at the other and uneasy to chew each other's jugular veins. Wait three years and we will see Mitchell engaged again in just such unwarranted mischief-making.

HEARST—HIS PLANT AND HIS PLANETS.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN.

Maj. Clarence Deems, Artillery Corps, who has been on duty at Fort Flagler, Wash., has been assigned to duty in command of Fort Schuyler, N. Y.

Capt. E. H. Cooke, Fifteenth U.S. Infantry, left New York this week for Seattle, from where he sailed May 8 to join his regiment in the Philippines.

Col. Martin B. Hughes, First Cavalry, U.S.A., who has been at San Antonio in temporary command of the Department of Texas, has returned to Fort Clark., Tex., his regular station.

Chaplain John H. Macomber, U.S.A., retired, and family, of San José, Cal., were not injured during the recent earthquake, and are busy working with the relief committee for the sufferers from San Francisco.

Lieut. J. K. Taussig, U.S.N., has been detached from the Naval Station, Guantanamo, Cuba, and from duty on the Amphitrite, and ordered to the auxiliary steamer Celtic as executive and navigating officer.

Capt. William S. Scott, Quartermaster Department, U.S.A., now en route to Manila on the Empress of China, which sailed on April 30, was given an elaborate farewell in Cheyenne Wyo., April 23, by some 200 representative Masons in Masonic Temple.

Capt. William Elliott, Sub. Department, has been relieved from duty as chief commissary, Department of the Gulf, by Capt. Charles C. Clark, and will proceed to Vancouver Barracks, Washington, for duty as assistant to the chief commissary of Department of Columbia. Capt. Clark has been on duty in Chicago.

Gen. William W. Belknap went to the War of the Rebellion as the major of the Fifteenth Iowa Infantry. In one of the companies of that regiment was a young fellow named Darby Greely. When the regiment was marching over the gang planks on to the steamer Sucker State the major sat on his horse near by. As Darby Greely stepped on the plank his mother grabbed him and pulled him to her bosom. With intense emotion she cried and crooned over him and then, seeing the major, she cried: "Darby, me b'y, stick close to the major an' ye'll niver get hurted."

Secretary of the Navy Charles J. Bonaparte has been exceedingly ill at his home in Baltimore this week from a severe cold which he contracted during a recent visit to Atlantic City. It was feared at one time that Secretary Bonaparte had pneumonia, but it is understood that this did not prove to be the case and that he is now convalescent.

Rear-Admiral Rockwell contends that officers of the navy are not sufficiently paid. While admirals receive $13,500 a year, the scale drops rapidly to commanders at $3000, lieutenant commanders at $2500 and lieutenants at $1800 and $1500, according to grade. Admiral Rockwell admits that he does not know how to secure the desired increase.

Lieut. Gordon Johnston, U.S.A., who was seriously wounded in the action early in March between the United States troops and Moros on Mount Dajo, will return to the United States on the transport Thomas, to sail from Manila May 5. Lieut. Johnston says he was wounded as the result of a simultaneous attack by three women in the action.

President Roosevelt has named the following to be the American delegates to the Red Cross Congress, which is to be held in Switzerland this summer: William Cary Sanger, former Assistant Secretary of War; Capt. C. S. Sperry, U.S.N., now on duty at the Naval War College; Brig.-Gen. R. M. O'Reilly, surgeon-general of the army, and Brig.-Gen. George B. Davis, judge advocate general of the army.

APRIL CIRCULATION OF THE TIMES.

The following are the sworn statements of the circulation of The Times for April, 1906:

STATE OF CALIFORNIA, COUNTY OF LOS ANGELES, ss.:

Harry Chandler, Assistant General Manager of the Los Angeles Times, being duly sworn, declares upon his oath that the following is a true and correct office record of the circulation of said newspaper for each day in the month of April, 1906:

APRIL, 1906.

HAVE TO PAY UP.

Police Arrest Twenty-nine Alien Fruit Peddlers Without Licenses and They Have to Pay Up.

The police descended upon the various wholesale markets in the city yesterday morning and arrested twenty-nine Slavonian and Chinese fruit peddlers who had not paid their license of $5 for May. The officers did not see the men selling any goods, however, and Assistant City Prosecutor Eddie ruled that no evidence had been secured against the men, as the police had only seen them buying goods.

The prisoners admitted that they were peddlers, however, and then they were required to put up $5 each and were taken to the office of the City Tax Collector in the custody of Sergt. Craig and their licenses paid. The police claim the deputies in the License Collector's office are not making any effort to collect from the peddlers who call every day at the big markets.

Bags of every shape and size, in the most elegant leathers, light or dark, walrus, morocco (the new grain,) seal (both plain and pin,) steer, velvet finished and plain alligator—the season's newest, none have been in the house over two or three weeks, some fitted with purse and card case, others with vinaigrette, mirror, powder puff, card case and purse, leather lined.

The majority of these bags bear price marks of $7.50 and $8.00, some were $6.00, and not a few have been until today $10.00.

Particular women who appreciate value will become enthusiastic over this attractively priced gathering, at $4.50 for any one you fancy.

Smart Silk Suits

The four items mentioned in silk suits would be four times as impressive if they could be shown here in comparison with garments offered elsewhere at like prices. Women who know that it is not price but quality that counts will find it to their interest to use these offerings as a basis for measuring values. Whether you want to pay $16.50 or $45, you will find the purchasing power of your money greatest here.

AT $20: Black and white small plaid suit; with yoke effect with straws and button trimming over guimp of white embroidery; short sleeves; pleated gored skirt with two bias folds around bottom.

AT $25: Rose colored taffeta suit, made with tucked waist over round yoke of Val. lace; long sleeves with deep cuffs; gored skirt with wide and narrow tucks at top. Same style in porcelain blue, also.

REAL ESTATE RECORD.

ORANGE GROVES IN DEMAND.

TWENTY-ACRE ORCHARD NEAR COVINA SOLD.

Los Angeles Realty Continues to Command Much Attention, Particularly Lots and Houses for Use of Purchasers—Many Deals Made and Reported in City Yesterday.

Real estate commands much attention. Anything that promises a fair income is in demand. Lots and houses of moderate cost are being bought for use by the purchasers. There is quite an inquiry for good orange groves.

Karl Clark has sold to Cora E. Freeze, through the Hill Street Company, a lot 100x125 feet on the southeast corner of Sixth and Clarence streets, improved with three cottages. Income $540 a year; consideration $5000.

Orange Grove Sold.

L. M. Pratt reports the sale of a twenty-acre orange grove between Covina and Glendora, R. J. Laidlaw selling to J. G. Ambrose, who recently came from Missouri. The grove has nine acres in Valencias and eleven acres in navels, the trees being about half in full bearing, balance younger. With the property go sixty shares of stock in the Covina Irrigating Company. There are a good house and barn on the place. Consideration $12,500, the owner reserving the crop of Valencias, estimated to be worth about $2000. Mr. Laidlaw recently bought another grove in the same neighborhood and he will live on the other place as soon as Ambrose takes possession of the property just acquired. Ambrose has gone East to wind up his affairs there, and will then make his home on the property he has just bought.

Half Score Good Sales.

Althouse Bros.' sales:

A. Weckesser to O. W. Strong, an unimproved lot on the south side of West Sixth street, 300 feet north of Figueroa street, lot 50x150 feet, consideration $13,000.

Althouse Bros. and Arnold & Dodge to Peter Muck an unimproved lot on the west side of Western avenue, 200 feet south of Fourth street, lot 50x150 feet. New owner will improve in the near future with a modern two-story residence; consideration $1900.

M. A. Cummings to Frank Shoemack, an unimproved lot on the east side of Western avenue, 300 fet south of Twenty-ninth street, lot 50x133 feet. New owner will improve with a modern residence to cost about $5000; $1150

"The Times" Scholarship Contest FOR 1906.

The sixth annual scholarship contest of the Los Angeles Times will be conducted this year on the usual lines and the date of opening will soon be announced.

This is not a catch-penny coupon device, such as giving a gold-plated bracelet to the most popular nurse girl, but an educational contest of proven merit, through which twenty-five or thirty young people have been educated annually for the past five years and a large number of others have received substantial rewards. Many of the graduates are now occupying lucrative positions. The contests have stimulated scores of young people to bring out the best there is in them.

The contest of 1906 will be greater in every respect than any preceding. More inducements will be offered and the scope of the benefits will be broadened. Young people should keep their eyes open for the full announcement.

Los Angeles is the great educational center of the Southwest, and these scholarship events instituted by The Times are making it greater, attracting the eyes of the whole Southland to the city's educational advantages.

WHO'S TO BUILD OUR FEDERAL PILE?

So many specifications are included in the bids on the construction of the Los Angeles Federal building that the Treasury Department officials at Washington must make a thorough examination of all of them before they can determine to whom the contract shall be awarded.

At first blush, the $923,530 bid of Hastic & Dougan of Seattle appears to be the lowest, but they, together with the other bidders, have submitted so many suggestions changing the complexion of the bids that it will take much figuring to arrive at a decision as to who really is the lowest bidder, all things considered.

Under the proposals, the building is to be completed by July 1, 1909. The proposals include all construction, except elevators, plumbing, heating apparatus, electric wiring and conduits.

A special dispatch to The Times last night, from Washington, gives the bids as follows:

Hastic & Dougan, Seattle, $923,530, Arizona sandstone; add $8610 for Temno sandstone; add $12,000 for Tinisso Hercules; add $20,000 for Chuckamut sandstone; add $105,500 for granite; specified time.

F. O. Engstrom Company, Los Angeles, $1,260,899; add $80,000 alternate Riverside granite; to be completed in three years.

Tom Lovel & Sons, Denton, Tex., $1,236,901; add $87,500 alternate granite; to be completed in forty-two months.

J. H. Wise, South Omaha, Neb., $1,154,000; add $145,000 for alternate granite; specified time.

George J. Grant, St. Paul, Minn., $1,140,000; add $30,000 for alternate granite; add $77,900 white marble; three and one-half years.

William Weber, Huntington, W. Va., $1,120,000; add $75,500 granite; add $190,000 marble; specified time.

B. M. Zacheb Company, Chicago, $1,197,000; add $85,000 granite; specified time.

CONSCIENCE VIOLATED.

LONDON, May 11.—On the resumption of the debate on the Educational Bill in the House of Commons yesterday, John Redmond, on behalf of the Irish Nationalists, protested against the system of education which was being forced on the Catholic minority and which violated their conscientious convictions. The bill was passed on its second reading by a vote of 210 to 212.

MEN'S SUITS MADE TO ORDER

YOU can't judge a suit by the price you pay for it. You must consider the tailoring, the quality of fabric—the style and the fit. These features are as paramount in Scotch $15.00 suits as in the $25 and $30 suits other tailors make. We make you an imported worsted suit at $20.00 that can't be duplicated elsewhere for less than $35.00 or $40.00.

1. On the people.

The two striking occurrences were the curing of the man and the destruction of the swine. Those two occurrences were vitally connected with each other and the superstitious Gentile population was full of fear. It must have been the fear that they might lose more hogs, or something else as valuable. They might have known that he who had sympathy for the demoniac would have only kindness for all. It was evidently an uncanny sort of fear and it led them to request Him to leave them. Perhaps they feared He would visit on them some punishment for their sins. This is the only instance in which His miracles ever made Him unpopular with the masses.

2. On the demoniac himself.

The immediate effect would be gratitude to his benefactor and love for one who, in face and words and tones and manner, was both loving and lovable. His desire to go with Jesus was natural and right. And the refusal of Jesus to allow him to go was also right. Perhaps he was a Gentile, and, if so, it was not best for Jesus to have him in his company. Even if he was a Jew it might not have been best. But it was best that he work among his friends and kindred for their salvation. No doubt he came to see that his first duty was not to himself, but to them. When he accepted his mission, he found his greatest joy in telling what Christ had done for him. He made an industrious and tireless evangelist, for he traveled his whole country to tell the story and he won encouraging success.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

Amid all the boasted civilization of antiquity there existed no hospitals, no penitentiaries, no asylums; and unfortunates of this class, being too dangerous and desperate for human intercourse, could only be driven forth from among their fellow men, and restrained from mischief by measures at once inadequate and cruel. They could only take refuge in those holes among the rocky hillsides which were used by the Jews as tombs.—[Farrar.

As a bootblack and newsboy in New York, I began picking locks, entering houses and stealing the silver from the tables. Then as an office boy, I stole from my employer. I became a companion of thieves, committed crimes in five States, was in jail six times. No one could do anything with me. One day an invitation to a mission was put in my hands. I crumpled it up, and got drunk. Next morning I found the invitation in my pocket, and went to the mission. I heard a man who had been in prison tell what Jesus had done for him. That interested me. Was there hope for me? I cried out: "I want to get in touch with Jesus." After that I found him. . . It is nine years since he saved me. Thank God that what handcuffs could not do, what the prison-cell couldn't do—for no man could tame me—Jesus Christ did, and I am free.—[John Callahan.

POINTS TO IMPRESS.

1. That Jesus seeks the worst.
2. That chords of love are stronger than chains of iron.
3. That Satan is really a shrewd fool.
4. That all evil is moral uncleanness.
5. That Christ's salvation means peace.
6. That we must plead with Christ to stay with us.
7. That when one is saved, he must tell it.
8. That experience of salvation always makes a fascinating story.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

WHEN MEN CRY FOR HELP.

Terse Comments Upon the Uniform Prayer-meeting Topic of the Young People's Societies, Christian Endeavor, Baptist Young People's Union, Epworth League, etc., for May 13. "Christ's Life. Lessons from His miracles of healing." Matt. ix. 27-34; xxv, 31-46.

By William T. Ellis.

Jesus cared for people. Individuals were dear to him, as well as mankind in the mass. Whoever hurt them touched Him. The story of His three years' ministry is crowded with details of acts of compassion and succor to suffering men and women. His miracles of mercy attested His divine heart. He bore our infirmities, because he was the heaven-sent Shepherd of souls.

Every human need is in itself a sufficient claim upon the compassion of Christ.

The only gate to the soul is the body. Despite no end of sentimentalizing, the simple fact remains that it is through the avenues of sense alone that the spirit can be reached. However hard he may persuade himself otherwise, man is a mortal body as well as an immortal soul, and his spiritual self is bound by all the limitations of his physical frame. The most esoteric of speculations have to be sustained by bread and butter.

The chivalry and sacrifice of Christian manhood is attested by the number of physicians of high ability who have turned their backs upon shining careers in the homeland for the privilege of ministering to the suffering of unenlightened peoples. Among the medical missionaries of our own times are a number who have not only been considered worthy to minister to kings, but who would themselves rank as kings in their profession at home. Despite overwhelming demands upon their services, and a lot as arduous as any on earth, these men have still found time for original research and experiment, and they have made valuable contribution to the medical knowledge of the time. In addition to their personal nobility, the professional ability of the medical missionaries is one of the glories of mission work.

Any man who is indifferent to human suffering thereby declares himself fallen to the spirit of Jesus. The tender-heartedness of Christendom is evidence that there resides within it the spirit of Him who "went about doing good."

San Francisco's calamity quickly moved the nation to deeds of bounty. The heart of Christian America was touched, and it proved its religion by its instant philanthropy. The inwrought teaching of Jesus, and his unforgettable example, bore fruit in a lavishness of giving and of sympathy that makes us love our race.

The Bible has no sweeter truth to proclaim than the sympathy of the Son of Man. When we are troubled and cast down, we find Him by our side saying "I know," for He, too, was troubled and cast down. Every new experience of trial only brings us nearer to our Savior, who was tried to the uttermost. And for the sake of this sweet communion with the Man of Sorrows it is worth while to go down into the darkest of life's valleys. Many of us have to be shut up in the dark before we can find Christ.

The healer is accorded first rank in our order of universal knighthood. Be it Riley's "Doc Sifert" or Ian Maclaren's "Doctor of the Old School" or the New Testament's "Luke, the Beloved Physician," the popular heart warms to the ministering man of medicine. To the office of physician attaches not only dignity, but sacredness as well. It is holy work to grapple at the gates of eternity for the life of a human soul. That is why the doctor and the clergyman come closest to the innermost chambers of man's heart.

In the work of the missionary the twofold offices of preacher and physician are commonly conjoined. To some degree the missionary has to be both of these, if he would fulfill his life purpose to serve the needy.

In the background of the ministering miracles of the Master lies the grim, gray fact of human suffering. The world is full of woe. There are sickbeds in every neighborhood. The crippled and the pain-smitten are always with us. Sanitoria and hospitals prosper everywhere. Poor mankind sorely needs a physician and the gentleness of his fellows. All who confess the Christ name should be careful to display the Christ spirit of consideration for these who walk ever in the shadow.

NEWS AND NOTES.

Since the introduction of missions into Japan, three hundred benevolent institutions have been established. There were none prior to that time.

Some of the horse jockeys of a New Jersey town have formed themselves into a Young Men's Christian Association, and six of their number have become Christians.

The son and successor of Rev. Charles Spurgeon, the famous London preacher, Rev. Thomas Spurgeon, will exchange pulpits with Rev. Dr. P. S. Henson of Tremont Temple, Boston, during the months of July and August.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Phillip has made less stringent its "rule of service," eliminating the time factor which required members to make an effort each week to bring men and boys within hearing of the gospel.

Ten bowling alleys, five billiard tables, one hundred apartments for young men, a large restaurant and a swimming pool and gymnasium, are features of the $300,000 Y.M.C.A. building which is being put up for the Bedford Branch, Brooklyn, "to beat the saloon."

The Sunday-school leaders who have issued a call for the world's fifth Sunday-school convention, to be held in the city of Rome, May 20-23, 1907, are systematically undertaking to bring the strongest religious leaders from all foreign lands to this convention, which they purpose to make an ecumenical gathering of Protestantism.

An echo of the famous Briggs heresy trial in the Presbyterian Church, and also an indication of the increasing spirit of tolerance in all religious circles, was the recent action of the New York presbytery, favoring the admission of students under its care to the Union Theological Seminary. New York City, from which institution the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church withdrew its approval at the time of the Briggs trial.

Polygamy will be up for discussion before the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly this month. Dr. S. H. Laws of Virginia, having charged that some of the missionaries of the church at Leubo, Africa, have received into the church membership certain converts who have abandoned their plural wives. Dr. Laws has appealed to the assembly for positive orders forbidding any missionaries to admit a polygamist convert into the church until he has discarded every wife except the one first married. Dr. Laws recommends, however, that converts who so renounce plural wives shall have church aid in providing suitably for the wives and children put away.

One of the features likely to be incorporated in the amendment to the Education Bill—the measure which is so greatly stirring British churchmen of all names—is the provision for feeding the necessitous children out of the public fund. The teachers in the elementary school declare that it is not only cruel, but almost useless to teach hungry children, since it takes three times as long to get anything into their heads when there is nothing in their stomachs. Such a measure would be a radical manifestation of the increasing socialistic spirit of the times.

NINTH WARD WANTS LIGHTS ON BRIDGES.

CITIZENS of Boyle Heights have taken the initiative in a plan which may soon result in the placing of handsome ornamental lights on the bridges over the Los Angeles River. The first step was taken last night at an enthusiastic meeting of the Ninth Ward Improvement Association in A. O.U.W. Hall, No. 2114 East First street.

There was a large attendance, and many voiced the desire of residents beyond the river for better lights for the bridges. A petition was started asking for the placing of the lights, and the association pledged itself to secure 2000 names and at least $500 in order to launch the scheme successfully. The petition, when enough signatures are secured, will be presented to the Council.

So confident are the improvement association members of achieving their cherished plan that a design, resembling the lamps now in use on Spring street, has been chosen. The plan is to place the lights as close as advisable along the bridges, making them bright as day. The need of such lights on each of the bridges was dwelt upon by several of the speakers and the association will begin work today to get them.

Lights will be asked for the bridges on Aliso, Mesa, First, Fourth, Seventh and Ninth streets. These bridges, which the committee declares are now in almost total darkness, should be lighted at once, says M. Collins of the association, who has the matter in hand.

Through the efforts of the improvement association Euclid Heights will have a handsome school building. The structure will be placed at Euclid and Stephenson avenues. It will be two stories, with eleven rooms. The contract will call for the erection of the structure by the beginning of the September term of school.

Mail boxes have been ordered installed at Fourth street and Boyle avenue, at Lord and Judson streets, and also at Fourth and Gertrude streets, the association having asked for them.

Postmaster Flint will be asked to investigate the need of an extra mail delivery for sections of Boyle Heights which now have only one a day. Districts without a delivery will petition, through the association, for at least one service each day.

The widening and grading of Fourth street, between Boyle avenue and Pecan street, has been ordered, and the committee appointed to push the plan for grading at once has secured the services of the chain gang, which will be put to work on the job. This will make a handsome thoroughfare of East Fourth street.

The meeting of the Ninth Ward citizens last night was one of the most enthusiastic ever held. Dr. L. D. Swartwout was in the chair, and W. J. Bryant was secretary. Speeches were made by members touching on the importance of the work which has been undertaken.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE IS OLD.

English Commoners the First to Ship Household Goods at Public Expense.

[London Chronicle:] Franking had its birth, honestly enough, in 1660 in the desire to relieve members of Parliament of the expense incurred in the discharge of their national duties, but the practice rapidly widened until it became possible for members to transmit their household goods at the public charge, as the following extract from old postoffice records testifies: "Fifteen couple of hounds going to the King of Romans with a free pass, two maid servants going as laundresses to my Lord Ambassador Metheu; Dr. Crichton, carrying with him a cow and divers necessaries; three suits of clothes for some nobleman's lady at the court of Portugal; two bales of stockings for the use of the ambassador to the crown of Portugal; a deal case, with four flitches of bacon, for Mr. Pennington of Rotterdam."

This form of abuse died when the postoffice stable underwent a purification, but it speedily gave place to another variety. Members signed packets of letters wholesale, gave them away to their friends and sometimes paid their servants' wages in franked envelopes; in fact, they became a valuable form of currency subject to the art of the forger, who did a roaring trade. In 1715 $120,000 worth of free correspondence passed through the postoffice.

Fifty years later the nation was staggered to discover that the amount had increased to $264,000, and stringent laws were passed to mitigate the immoral tendencies of the houses of Parliament. But all was in vain until Sir Rowland Hill managed in 1839 to abrogate the privileges altogether.

CHANCE FOR A DOLL PUPIL.

Best Results Obtained from Experiment Tried by a Teacher at Batavia, N. Y.

The superintendent of the schools of Batavia, N. Y., has apparently solved one of the most vexing questions which have to do with modern education. It is a realisation of the Pestalozzian theory that each pupil has a right to be educated personally for what he can best achieve. For many years, says the Chicago Chronicle, it has been charged against the public school system that the standards were set for the clever pupils to the detriment of the backward and dull ones. If the "Batavia experiment," as it is called, proves after long trial to do what it is hoped it will, then primary education will be infinitely bettered.

Mr. Kennedy, the originator of the scheme, proposed to the governing board of Batavia to procure the services of an extra teacher for each room whose duty it should be not to listen to recitations, but to help and encourage shy pupils who were falling behind the class. It was to be entirely a work of sympathy and demanded great tact and discernment. The plan was tried in a single room and the result was so marked in both pupils and teachers that the experiment has spread rapidly and is being introduced in all the better schools of the United States.

LOCAL PRODUCE MARKET.

Business conditions were rather quiet yesterday morning, receipts of most commodities being moderate and the demand below the average.

There was a small attendance at the meeting of the Produce Exchange, and little business was transacted. Dealers evinced a tendency to hold off until the situation was better in hand. The price of 20 cents for fresh local eggs, as quoted in the "prices current" of The Times yesterday morning was a misprint, and should have been 18 cents; for the Exchange Committee of the exchange lowered the prices as follows on last Wednesday: Candled, fresh California ranch, 18 cents; northern, case count, 16 cents. The egg market is a trifle unsettled. Some of the dealers say the market is weak, and lower prices should rule, while others state that the prices have reached the bottom and think that the quotation of fresh local offerings should be higher than they are at present.

Fancy Petaluma eggs are arriving almost daily, and egg jobbers report that they can be bought for less than the eastern storage stocks, quantities of Petaluma eggs have been put in storage here the last few days. Storing is lively on both coast and local offerings. The egg storing season will end in about three weeks. One egg broker that stored heavily of April stocks each year reported the receipt of ten carloads yesterday. The purchasing of eggs in the East for this season will soon be over.

Cheese is about steady here. The cheese situation in the North has not regained its normal condition yet.

There was no change in the price of butter, and conditions remain practically the same. One prominent butter dealer said yesterday that the produce jobbers of butter are still of the opinion that the present butter quotations are absurd, when northern creamery can be bought at such prices as it now sells for. The rumors are that butter and egg prices will be lower this year than ever before on account of the northern disaster. The greater portion of the butter and eggs that formerly went to that market are now being diverted this way. Some think that there will be enough California butter to supply the demand this year, without having to buy butter from the East and store it for local consumption. Plenty of fresh creamery butter is coming in for storage, but not at butter board prices. Receipts of butter yesterday were 21,429 pounds.

Local trading on fruits was quiet, but shipping account was active.

The citrus fruit season is about over now that fresh fruits are getting to be more plentiful. Strawberries were in good demand at 5@6; gooseberries, 8@9.

Potatoes and onions showed little change, otherwise than the market is gradually growing weaker on both commodities.

Steady prices prevailed for the miscellaneous kinds of vegetables and the general market was in good shape for sellers. First quality peas, beans, asparagus sold well at full prices, but much low quality stock went begging at inside rates. Peas, 3@4; wax, 2; asparagus, 7; cabbage, 2@2½ per sack; lettuce, 75 per crate; rhubarb was in oversupply and very weak at 1@1½ per box.

Fruit was plentiful.

The receipts of produce as reported at yesterday's exchange were as follows: Eggs, 228 cases; butter, 31,429 lbs.; new potatoes, 1,000 lbs.; potatoes, 412 sacks; onions, 222 sacks; beans, none; sweet potatoes, none.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, May 11.—The stock market made a further demonstration of its recuperative vitality today in the further striking advances affected in prices of a large number of important stocks. The current relief in the financial continues to be that of the operations which cause these advances are largely in the hands of professionals or habitual speculators, formed into combinations and made up of men of great wealth. Boardroom traders expressed their distrust of the movement at times, and tested its force by opposing sales and by attempts to offer prices down. These efforts to turn the market were uniformly unsuccessful, and the traders were forced to shift their position to buy back stocks, thus helping on the movement. Their distrust of the rise was based upon the extent to which it has reached. They proposed their opposition to the capacity of the market to afford profits at the higher level of prices on the speculative accumulations which have been made owing to the light general demand now shown itself to be unable to thus far. The broad underlying basis for the movement is the effective decline in interest rates. This was further evident today in the rates for call and time loans. The former gained apparently several million dollars on the express movement, this week, with the interior. It is asserted by the acculative party in Wall street that practically the whole volume of fire losses by the British companies yet remains to be remitted, and it is believed these sums will remain on deposit in New York for some time before being ultimately distributed to the San Francisco claimants. Attention was given to reports of the probable fixing of an early date for the resumption of business by the San Francisco banks as the flow of currency from New York is expected to follow such action when the resumption occurs and the demands on deposits are defined. The occasional irregularity caused by the continual profit-taking was in evidence again as the market closed, but the strong undertone was not materially altered, and, in fact, seemed to gather force throughout the day. Bonds were irregular; total sales, par value $2,750,000. United States old 4s declined 1-8 per cent. on call.

SQUATTERS SHOW HAND AGAIN.

BUT UNCLE SAM'S BROOM MAY SOON SWEEP THEM.

Village Grows on Precarious Title at East San Pedro—Woman Fences In Her Alleged Claim—Party of Men, Headed by Deputy Sheriff, Tears up the Fence.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SAN PEDRO, May 11.—Pansy Bay, the home of the squatters at East San Pedro, is once more the scene of strife and turmoil, and the hosts are again marshaled in battle array to defend their questionable titles to the tide lands surrounding the pretty little cove.

The latest controversy is between Mrs. Louise M. Hamilton, a wealthy widow of Los Angeles, and the San Pedro, Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad. For several months Mrs. Hamilton has been acquiring squatters' rights on the east side, and lately filed on twenty-six acres under Valentine script, which, she claims, entitles the holder to any government lands, surveyed or unsurveyed, which have not been previously entered. She filed on the land in February, had a survey made, and erected monuments. She then filed an application for the land, accompanied by maps, in the United States land office in Los Angeles. Yesterday she employed a force of men who fenced the property.

This morning fifteen men, headed by Deputy Sheriff G. W. Heagg, who is also a night watchman for the Salt Lake Railroad, swooped down upon the newly-constructed fence and not only tore it down and pulled up the posts, but carried it away bodily.

Today Mrs. Hamilton says that she will bring an injunction suit against the Salt Lake and another suit against all other persons to quiet possession.

Considerable controversy and discussion have existed for several years as to property rights possessed by squatters at East San Pedro. Many improvements have been made on the tide lands east of the shingle-row work of the inner breakwater and ocean front. Five and six-room cottages have been built, provided with modern conveniences, stores have been erected, and the settlement has taken on quite a cosmopolitan appearance. Even within the past ten days the establishment of a postoffice to be known as East San Pedro has been authorized. A natural cove forming an excellent beach for bathing, is close at hand, and the location as a place to live is unexcelled, were the persons who preempted this desirable land within their rights; but they are not, as has been disclosed by careful investigation.

Considerable money has been spent for improvements, and the buildings are substantial. From the south end of Rattlesnake Island, commonly called Terminal, down toward Dead Man's Island, a little city is in embryo, and all against the peace and dignity and the law, as made and provided by Uncle Sam, and to the violation of which a penalty of fine or imprisonment, or both, attaches. There is no question but that in time all the houses and improvements will have to be moved.

There is no doubt that every structure that has been or is being erected east of the inner-row jetty work between the south end of Terminal Island on the ocean side is in direct violation of the United States statutes. The usual custom has been for the squatter to stake out a plat of sand beach and defend it against all comers with a shotgun. The proper course to have pursued would have been to have obtained permission from the Secretary of War to build on the beach. Not an instance has been found where the persons holding the claims and owning the houses have obtained this permission.

Over a year ago an eccentric character named John Webb filed a squatter's notice on all the land at East San Pedro, modestly claiming 160 acres, and it was thought that Webb had reached the acme of nerve in this regard. At that time the remaining squatters organized for the destruction of Webb, who had squatted even over all the squatters. However, since that time several acres of the discharge material from dredging operations in the inner harbor have been deposited in the bay beyond the Salt Lake tracks, and several times this accretion has been staked out by the enterprising professional squatters of the East Side. These stakes have several times been removed under orders from United States Assistant Engineer R. A. Crawford, who is in charge of the dredging operations in the inner harbor.

So much contention arose among the squatters over the tide land property at East San Pedro that about a year ago Capt. C. H. McKinstry, Corps of Engineers, U.S.A., then in charge of harbor operations here, caused a notice to be posted, stating the law in the matter and the position of the government relative to those persons illegally occupying the lands in question. The notice declared that "The building of any structure, of whatever kind, beyond (seaward of) high-water line, without first obtaining permission of the Secretary of War, is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both." The maximum punishment is one year's imprisonment and $2500 fine. The notice, which was over Capt. McKinstry's official signature, further said:

"Persons desiring to build into navigable waters of the United States are informed that application for authority to build should be submitted to the Secretary of War. Time will be saved by submitting such applications through the local United States Engineer's office."

In speaking of the contentions today between Mrs. Louise M. Hamilton and the Salt Lake, United States Assistant Engineer Robert A. Crawford said: "As I understand the situation part of the land staked by Mrs. Hamilton comes under that prohibited by law. I have given notice to all squatters who have staked out any part of the accretion from the dredging operation to remove their obstructions within a reasonable time. I don't know whether the government owns or claims to own this accretion, but the government certainly made it, and the presence of stakes and fences interfere with the improvement of this harbor. Since I recently compelled the removal of such obstruction a new subterfuge has been adopted by the squatters. Instead of using stakes the place is covered with chicken coops. Apparently every squatter on the East Side has gone into the chicken business. One woman whom I told to move her coops the other day tearfully inquired where she could keep her chickens. The only place I could suggest was on the roof. The government has been lenient, but wherever the squatters interfere with government operations on the harbor they will have to go."

It is stated that it will only be a matter of time until the government will demand the removal of all cottages, stores and other buildings erected around Pansy Bay, home of the squatter, located between the government bulkheads and the ocean front.

"OLD GLORY" NOT THERE.

Treason Rampant in the Labor-Union May Day Procession at Globe, Ariz.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

GLOBE (Ariz.) May 3.—"Queen of the May" in Globe last Tuesday was Anarchy, locally misnamed Socialism. There was a Labor Day procession, with about 1500 men in line. Not an American flag was carried, through design and intention, though in the column were the banners of the dozen or more labor unions the camp now supports, together with many banners and signs that announced that the marchers were in a frame of mind far from loyal to the nation and its system of government. Among the announcements borne aloft were some that threatened bloody reprisals if the labor-unionists now on trial in Idaho shall be convicted, and the speeches were equally wild and lawless. Indeed, some of the addresses were simply treasonable. Even the band was forbidden to play a single air that breathed patriotism.

The day was a full holiday, the unions directing that all business establishments be closed, so the entire population was out in the parade or as spectators. But it should be explained that by no means did the majority of the people approve of the incendiary mottoes or speeches. It is very doubtful if even a majority of the union members approved. But most of them kept their mouths closed, for just at present a set of newly-imported Colorado unionists seem to be in control of the local situation.

The arbitrary and incendiary attitude that is being assumed by the leaders of the local Miners' Union is viewed with deep alarm by the business men of the camp and by the conservative union miners who have made this district their home for many years. The camp is supposed be an "open" one, but hard is the lot of a non-union man who secures a position in one of the main mines. In self-protection he joins the union or "something drops." It is now expected that the Miners' Union next will demand that the camp be made a "closed" one. Something of this sort was demanded a few years ago. A delegation of several hundred miners, nearly every man a foreigner, marched to the office of Superintendent Parnell of the Old Dominion Company and threatened to hang him if he did not accede to the terms of a number of arbitrary demands that practically took the management of the property out of his hands. He acceded, rather than lose his life, but a few days later the mines closed down and the agitators were compelled to walk out of town. For a couple of years mining was paralyzed in this district, for capital hesitated to invest where property seemed liable to confiscation at the behest of wild-eyed anarchists.

Latterly Globe has been picking up. The Old Dominion and United Globe properties have been consolidated under the control of Phelps, Dodge & Co., the greatest copper mining firm on earth. A magnificent new smelter has been erected, more than a million dollars spent in improving the mining property and work given to a thousand more men. The camp has trebled in size and quadrupled in degree of prosperity. But new men have been called in to fill the demand for labor and a number of these men are not satisfied to let well enough alone. They have little to lose save their jobs, and a number of them are not even miners—they are professional agitators.

The Phelps-Dodge Company is recognized as the most liberal employer of labor in the Southwest. In camps such as Bisbee and Globe, where Mexican labor is not employed in the mines, the wages are the highest, the time only eight hours a day and there are no restrictions concerning company stores and boarding-houses, as in the ordinary camps. But the company absolutely will refuse to "recognize" the Miners' Union or to discriminate against men who do not choose to belong to the union. The net result of the present agitation, if persisted in, will be the closing down of the smelter and mines and the paralysis of the camp for an indefinite period. But the influence of the better-balanced workmen is being exerted against the precipitation of such a calamity and it is possible they will succeed.

APPLY FOR AID.

Professional Men and Women Forced by Circumstances to Seek Assistance from Relief Committee.

Pathetic scenes were enacted yesterday at the headquarters of the Citizens' Relief Committee in the Baker Block when a number of professional men and women refugees who had not heretofore applied were compelled to ask for aid.

These men and women lost their all in the San Francisco disaster, and during the intervening weeks have been subsisting upon what little funds they had saved. Driven into a corner by want, they applied yesterday to the relief bureau and asked for work.

Two attorneys, one school teacher, two women doctors and others of a professional following asked for anything in the way of work. They were immediately given relief and chided for remaining away from the headquarters for so long a time.

"The gratitude which these people show when given assistance of even the most trivial character, is pathetic," said Rev. Mr. Bartlett, who is in charge of the bureau. "They have remained away from here as long as possible, but are compelled to apply for aid now."

Yesterday was a busy day at the bureau. Supplies arrived in large quantities during the day, but not nearly enough to meet the demands.

The sending of individual packages to friends or relatives in San Francisco is discouraged by both the railroad companies and the Relief Committee. Many people have taken advantage of the "frank" on these packages offered by the express and railroad companies. As a result, the packages have never reached their destination but have been opened in Oakland by the Relief Committee there, and turned into the general store of supplies.

CASH DONATIONS.

SUBSCRIPTIONS RECEIVED.

Contributions received at the Chamber of Commerce for the Citizens' Relief Fund for San Francisco yesterday were:

Thomas J. Cox, $1; employees Kern River Company on Borel, $131.20; O. Easett, $5; Cash, $20; a total of $146.20; previously acknowledged, $330,523.07; making a grand total of $330,621.27.

At the last meeting of the Corona San Francisco Relief Committee, appointed by the Corona Board of Trade, there was adopted a resolution appropriating $1000 for the use of the Citizens' Relief Committee of Los Angeles.

The Citizens' Relief Committee is preparing a statement for Mr. Phelan, chairman of the Relief Committee at San Francisco, showing receipts and disbursements of the committee to date and giving a partial account of material forwarded to San Francisco and Oakland. This report will be forwarded today.
